FACTOR GIVES UP AND 2 NATIONS DICKER ON FATE

Denies Charges of $5,000,000 Swindle.

John [Jake the Barber] Factor, who doesn't know whether he is an American [illegible] or a British subject, was [illegible] of both countries yesterday. [illegible] is in federal custody, but is [illegible] to live at a hotel and go to [illegible] and cafés. A deputy United States marshal is responsible for his [illegible], and he is under the [illegible] of a warrant procured by the British government.

Factor's status was fixed yesterday [illegible] by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker after the ex-[illegible] had surrendered in the morning [illegible] first move in facing charges [illegible] is a master swindler who has [illegible] $5,000,000 from gullible Englishmen. He was neither admitted to bail nor denied bail, pending a hearing on extradition proceedings, but is being "[illegible]" until Monday.

[illegible] Income Tax Failure.

The [illegible] well dressed promoter [illegible] from Commissioner Walker's [illegible] in the federal building to the office of A. P. Madden, chief of the intelligence unit of the department of internal revenue, whose job [illegible] with those who fail to pay [illegible] the income taxes they [illegible]. And Factor admitted he hadn't paid any income taxes here, although [illegible] speculation with a Chicago brokerage house he profited to the extent of at least $200,000.

For a week Factor's operations have been the talk of two continents, but [illegible] newspaper reporters yesterday that the published statements had been all wrong. It is true, he said, he had a pleasant evening with the Prince of Wales playing chemin de fer at Le Touquet, a French seaside resort, but he did not win the prince's money.

He also denied that he had even a speaking acquaintance with such other [illegible] as Scarface Alphonse Capone of Chicago, Miami, and other points, "Bugs" Moran, or Jack (Legs) Diamond, New York gang leader. Factor said Diamond had never loaned him money, tried to kill him, or sought to have him kidnaped for ransom. He asserted further that the private detectives who were his constant attendants when he occupied a handsome suite at a Chicago hotel were not his bodyguards.

Protecting Wife, He Says.

"They were protecting my wife, who received a lot of undesirable notoriety when this government tried to [illegible] my $150,000 on the claim that she was smuggling in jewels," Factor explained.

"That story about my wife breaking the bank at Monte Carlo is all wrong, too. She only won $250,000 from the South American syndicate. That's how we came to meet his royal highness.

"I had won $650,000 on chemin de fer on Aug. 16 of last year and a few days later the prince was playing and I watched him. He is not a good card player and he lost $500. He had heard about my winnings so he asked me how I won. He took me to the bar and bought me a drink while I explained my method.

Denies Florida Land Charges.

"Those accounts of my Florida land transactions were equally inaccurate. As a matter of fact, I lost a half million in the collapse of the Florida boom, but I only sold $90,000 worth of land."

The accused promoter wasn't a bit talkative about his stock selling business in London, which was assisted by a newspaper of his own creation and publication through which the public was advised to buy Factor's offerings and grow richer and richer. What happened, according to the British government's evidence, was that they became poorer and poorer.

Factor blamed his present plight on "a lot of disgruntled London brokers who crashed when the stock market crashed and now hold me responsible."

Story of His Surrender.

The surrender after eluding arrest [illegible] a week was accomplished in [illegible] fashion. Instead of going to the United States marshal's office or inviting the marshal to send for him, Factor was introduced to the [illegible] by his attorney, Arthur [illegible], a law partner of United States Senator Otis F. Glenn.

Mr. Schwartz telephoned Chief Deputy Marshal Edward A. King, who lives at 7122 North Paulina street, at breakfast time. He invited King to ride downtown with him in the [illegible] automobile and King did so. At Schiller and Ashland avenues [illegible] stopped the automobile and

Caricaturist Mourns Love of Ex-Wife.

His farewell note revealed what appears to have been his strongest motive for suicide—his lost love for his third wife, Carlotta Monterey, now the wife of Eugene O'Neill, the playwright.

Propped up in bed, clad in his pajamas, Barton sent a bullet through his head. His body was found by a maid this morning. Nearby was a book on anatomy, opened at a page showing the region of the heart. Of two notes that he left, one inclosed $35 for his maid and the other was captioned "My Obituary" and contained his reasons for taking his own life. Fear of insanity and temporary financial shortage were mentioned along with "my beautiful lost angel, the only woman I ever loved—Carlotta Monterey."

Married Four Times.

Barton had been married four times. His suicide came just one month from the day of his divorce in Paris from his fourth wife, Germaine Tailleferre, French composer.

Dramatic in its detail, the note penned by Barton just before he shot himself read in its entirety:

"Every one who has known me and who hears of it will have a different hypothesis to offer to explain why I did it. Practically all these hypotheses will be dramatic and completely wrong. Any sane doctor knows that the reasons for suicide are invariably psychopathological and the true suicide type manufactures his own difficulties.

"I have had few real difficulties. I have had, on the contrary, an exceptionally glamorous life, as life goes, and I have had more than my share of affection and appreciation.

Suffered from Melancholia.

"The most charming, intelligent and important people I have known have liked me and the list of my enemies is very flattering to me. I have always had excellent health, but since my early childhood I have suffered from a melancholia which in the last five years has begun to show definite symptoms of manic-depressive insanity.

"It has prevented me getting anything like the full value out of my talent and for the last three years has made work a torture to do at all.

"It has made it impossible for me to enjoy the simple pleasures of life that seemed to get other people through.

"I have run from wife to wife, from house to house, and from country to country in a ridiculous effort to escape from myself. In doing so I am very much afraid that I have brought a great deal of unhappiness to those who have loved me.

"In particular my remorse is bitter over my failure to appreciate my beautiful lost angel, Carlotta [Carlotta Monterey], the only woman I ever loved and whom I respect and admire above all the rest of the human race. She is the one person who could have saved me, had I been savable.

"She did her best. No one ever had a more devoted or more understanding wife. I do hope that she will understand what my malady was and forgive me a little.

Unable to Enjoy Life.

"No one thing is responsible for this and no one person except myself. If the gossips insist on something more definite and thrilling as a reason, let them choose my pending appointment with my dentist or the fact that I happened to be painfully short of cash at the moment.

"No other single reason is more important or less temporary. After all, one has to choose a moment and the air is always full of reasons at any given moment. I did it because I am fed up with inventing devices for getting through 24 hours every day and with bridging over a few months periodically with some beautiful, artificial interest, such as a new gal who annoyed me to the point where I forgot my own troubles.

"I present the remains, with my compliments, to any medical school that fancies them. I have not the slightest interest in them except that I want them to cause as little bother as possible.

"I kiss my dear children—and Carlotta."

Former Wife in City.

An effort was made to interview Mrs. O'Neill. She was registered at a midtown hotel with Mr. O'Neill,

U. S. General Gives Life to Save Woman

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOURS, France, May 20.—Crouched protectingly over a fear maddened woman, whose life he had saved at the cost of his own, the mangled body of Brig. Gen. Robert H. Dunlap of the United States Marine corps was recovered from beneath 20 feet of boulders and débris today. Death must have been instantaneous, surgeons said.

The woman, Mrs. Denis Briant, had both of her legs crushed by the landslide which crashed down from the hills yesterday, but she may live to justify the heroic efforts of the man who successfully shielded her body with his own. One of Mrs. Briant's legs was amputated. The body of her husband, who followed the general in his vain attempt to rescue the trapped woman, was found hours later, horribly mangled.

Rescuers Hear Woman's Cries.

The woman's fear crazed wail was first heard at 9 o'clock this morning. It intensified the heart breaking all night labor of the French engineering troops, who at all times went on under conditions of the greatest danger, with an ominous fissure looming above and a new landslide threatening momentarily to crash down. As the army of sappers and miners worked, two army sergeants stared fixedly at the trembling mass up above with whistles at their mouths ready to blow a signal blast at the first sign of its moving. But every one knew that the signal must necessarily be too late.

Not least of all, Gen. Loiseau, who was directing the excavation, calmly stood well within the danger area. It was a tribute of French heroes to the dead of a foreign hero on their home soil.

Rescuers Salute Dead Yankee.

Their tribute got an even more dramatic expression when the broken body of the American general was gently removed from the rocks. The French officers and hundreds of toiling privates snapped to attention. The waiting peasants and villagers instinctively remembered their military training and swung their hands to their bared heads.

At 1 o'clock the woman's voice was heard more clearly begging for help. Sergt. Brisset, the [illegible] hero of the rescue party, [illegible] at the boulders with his bare and bleeding hands. A medical captain bathed them repeatedly with antiseptics, but they were quickly covered with blood and mud again.

Woman Nearly Loses Mind.

As a part of the general's body and the top of the woman's head appeared at 11 o'clock, Sergt. Brisset was compelled slowly and painfully to build a support against the boulders to protect the woman and his laboring comrades. At 11:30 the broken body of the general was placed on a stretcher and covered with a canvas. It was a full hour later before the woman could be extricated from the horrible prison. She was brought out with her eyes staring wildly, dilated and unseeing after 24 hours of black agony and stained by the blood of the man who had saved her.

The body of Gen. Dunlap will be brought to Paris tomorrow. It will be placed in the temporary mortuary chapel of the American cathedral, pending shipment to America.

Eric Young, 17 years old, and Buster Olson, 16 years old, both of 3135 North Marmora avenue, yesterday saved two boys from drowning in the lake at Hawthorne place.

The rescued were Walter Hoffman, 15 years old, 1511 Belmont avenue, and Harry Rosengren, 12 years old, 3813 Southport avenue. They were riding bicycles along the lake shore when Hoffman swerved and plunged into the water. Rosengren leaped in after him, but neither could swim and they were sinking when the other youths came up.

Young, a good swimmer, went to the rescue. He dived for the two boys and pulled them to the surface, pushing them in until Olson could drag them ashore.

Senate Passes Bill to License Auto Drivers

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The senate today reconsidered and passed the driver's license bill which it defeated a few weeks ago. The vote was 29 to 15. Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Chicago] was sponsor for the measure.

JAS. J. BARBOUR.
[Moffett Photo.]

As the bill now goes to the house, all drivers in Illinois with experience of one year or more behind a steering wheel will receive a license without examination on application to the secretary of state. The fee is 75 cents every three years.

Must Show His Skill.

New drivers, under the measure, must submit to a physical, mental and educational examination and a test of driving. The physical examination consists mainly of a determination that the applicant has normal arms, legs, hands and feet, good hearing and vision and is not subject to fits. The mental examination consists mainly of determining whether the applicant rates above idiocy. Psychiatrists say they are unable to classify those temperamentally unfit for driving.

The educational examination is to determine whether the applicant can read and understand traffic signs and whether he knows the ordinances, statutes and rules of the road. In the driving test an applicant is required to maneuver an automobile around corners, between obstacles, and to back into a curb parking space.

Barbour Defends It.

The secretary of state is required to revoke a license when notified of a conviction for drunken driving, fleeing from the scene of an accident, or repeated reckless driving. If it passes the house it will become effective Oct. 1.

The vote was preceded by a lively debate. Senator Victor Michel [Rep., Peoria] declared that the drivers' license will operate as a weapon for bribes in the hands of corrupt constabulary.

Senator Barbour, defending the bill, declared that the records in other states prove that a drivers' license law will reduce motor fatalities 29 per cent.

$500,000 Art Discovered in Old Mansion

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Alfred J. Mendelssohn, art appraiser, received a telephone call a few days ago from an official of the Continental Illinois bank.

"We are in charge of the estate of the late Julius Starrett, retired lawyer," he was told. "Under the terms of his will, some art objects in his home at 3658 Prairie avenue are to be sold and the proceeds given to charity. We have an offer of $8,000 for the collection. Will you visit the premises and ascertain whether this is a fair offer?"

Mr. Mendelssohn picked up his hat and traveled south. Vague memories stirred by the name of Starrett buzzed about his head, but failed to bring an identification. He stopped before one of those mausoleums of past glories, a three story, brownstone front of the type so numerous on that avenue of an older aristocracy. He rang the bell and was admitted by the housekeeper, who had been with the owner for the last forty years.

Finds Noted Collection.

Half an hour later, breathless with excitement, Mr. Mendelssohn telephoned the bank official.

"Sa-y-y-y! Eight thousand dollars!" he stuttered. "Who had the nerve to offer that for this stuff? It's a bonanza. Do you know that this Starrett was one of the greatest collectors in this country—had been for fifty years? The first thing I clapped eyes on was an Innes painting worth $15,000.

"He's got one teeny little Chinese vase here that's worth $1,000, and there's a big lot of 'em. And old English silver and stacks of antique oriental rugs. The best thing you can do with this house is to consign everything in it to some dealer and let him put it on auction."

Verification of Mendelssohn's enthusiastic appraisal was forthcoming yesterday from Robert and Gerald Grant, art dealers, who have received the goods for auction next week. The principal beneficiary under the will, it was found, will be the Chicago Home for the Frienc[illegible]

"Worth Nearly Half Million."

"After a good look through these treasures," said Robert Grant, "I wouldn't be afraid to say they ought to bring nearly half a million if the market were normal—but they won't. One piece after another here should be in a museum, and it's going to be a crying shame if easterners come in and carry them away from us.

"For instance, there are o Hepplewhite chairs, once the property of Francis Scott Key, bought from the Crim collection in Baltimore. There is a chair made by Chippendale himself, which won't bring more than $1,000 at the present time. There's a Windsor chair that is probably one of the most valuable in the world, absolutely genuine and made from yew wood.

"There's a priceless fragment of an Ispahan rug of the 16th century, which is worth $10,000 if it's worth a dollar, and will go for a song. Starrett had nearly 300 of the most amazing antique oriental rugs, one of the finest collections anywhere in the world. Kirmans, Samarkands, Kulas, Serebands, and such, many of them worth thousands apiece.

Rare Volumes in Library.

"Perhaps the most interesting thing in the entire lot is the library. Starrett was a profound scholar and a shrewd purchaser, known to almost every art dealer in the country and many abroad. He had picked up these rare volumes everywhere and he read them in the original Greek and Latin.

"Several of the paintings here we sold to Mr. Starrett. A strange old fellow he was, standing about six feet six in height, and with a long gray beard. He had lived in that Prairie avenue house for many years. His wife died about forty years ago and I understand he had no near relatives, if any at all."

Dealers rank the Starrett collection of Chinese ceramics about the third best in this country. The furniture includes a number of Chippendale and Hepplewhite chairs and sofas, one Chinese Chippendale cabinet of rare beauty, several tables and taborets, and huge pieces of old English silver. The oil paintings include the work of Innes, Ziem, Wyant, Meissonier, and Rousseau.

Mr. Starrett, who retired from active law practice many years ago, died in January at the age of 76.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, May 20.—The Committee for Peace, a French organization, in a gesture of good will towards the millions of German unemployed has invited some of their children to France. Tomorrow morning 200 children from Hamburg, Berlin, and Leipzig will arrive and in the evening will entrain for the Isle d'Oleron. There they will be received for a month at the vacation colony called "Happy Childhood."

THRONGS TO SEE 659 U. S. PLANES IN LAKE PARADE

Combat in Sky Will Follow Review.

Today's Program

9:05 A. M.—All planes will leave their bases. Groups will circle West Chicago, Spaulding, Barrington, Leithton, Rondout, and Waukegan, over which points the parade will be formed. The formation will move south from Waukegan along the lake front.

10 A. M.—The Provisional First Division of the United States army air corps will pass the Navy pier in formal review.

10:30 A. M.—Combat maneuvers of three units of the air division will be held over the water opposite Navy pier.

SCHOOLS—Authorities promise that pupils in the city and lake shore suburban schools will have opportunity to see parade. Details on Page 2.

WEATHER—Mostly fair.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Chicago this morning will become a battle area for the United States army air corps. For two hours the greatest peace time air force ever assembled—an armada of 659 planes—will swarm over the city, climaxing its maneuvers in a gigantic parade along the lake front.

It will be a show for all to see. The planes will hold their rendezvous over western and northwestern suburbs, swing north as far as Waukegan and roar back down the lake shore as far as Gary, breaking formation over the Indiana industrial region for the flight back to their concentration base at Dayton, O.

A Spectacle Easy to See.

While Grant park will be the best vantage point for spectators, the performance can be viewed as well from any point along the lake shore from Waukegan to Gary and at least a mile west of the lake.

Standing room on skyscraper roofs will be in demand. Special details of police have been ordered out to handle the crowds downtown and at the Navy pier, where after the parade passes three crack units will engage in aerial combat maneuvers.

But despite the crowds at these points "the man on the street" will get a break, for the air is the theater wherein this show will be held and any place on the ground near the lake will give a front row view.

All Types of Army Planes.

In the great parade of 659 planes there will be twin motored bombers, swift single seater pursuit planes, attack ships with batteries of machine guns mounted in the after cockpit, National Guard observation planes and a miscellaneous fleet of transports, ambulance and rescue ships.

Leading the formation will be Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, commanding officer of the Provisional First Air division, and his staff. By radio messages from his leading plane Gen. Foulois will direct the movements of the fleet of planes bearing 753 officers and 640 enlisted men.

Orders For the Takeoff.

Officers and men have been ordered to report at their bases—Ford-Lansing, Chicago, Palwaukee, Curtiss and Sky Harbor airports—at 7:15 a. m. and be ready to take the air by 8 o'clock, although the takeoff is not scheduled until an hour later—at 9:05 a. m.

Then all will rise simultaneously and head for their points of rendezvous, at West Chicago and Spaulding in DuPage county, at Barrington in Cook county, and at Leithton, Rondout and Waukegan in Lake county. Over these towns the flyers will soar about in circles waiting for the giant bombers to swing by. Each group will fall in line as the head of the column passes, so that when Waukegan is reached the review formation will have been achieved.

Then Down the Lake Shore.

Then down the lake shore they will come, led by the slower bombers, going only 100 miles an hour, and setting the pace for the smaller, faster ships. The division will not form a compact group until it reaches the Navy pier, for the other planes, some of which cruise at 192 miles an hour, will be unable to loaf for long behind the lumbering bombers.

The Navy pier is designated as the focal point of the grand review, although the official reviewing stand will be atop the Stevens hotel. As the [illegible] by their line of march and parade formation will be as follows:

36 Heavy Bombardment Planes.
51 Attack Planes.
249 Observation Planes.
194 Pursuit Planes.

Bringing up the rear will be a mixed group of transports and auxiliary craft, the number to be decided this morning. The entire review will be executed over the lake in the interest of public safety, for the parade will pass at an altitude less than 300 feet.

Boats Ready for Accidents.

In case of motor failure or other mishap during the maneuvers the flyers are ordered to glide directly for open water, where they will be picked up by a fleet of 32 fast motor boats, augmented by the coast guard and army amphibian planes, enlisted for first aid purposes.

The yacht Zenith, owned by Charles Weber, a county commissioner, will be anchored off Grant park as a hospital ship and will be in charge of Health Commissioner Bundesen. From this boat Mayor Cermak will view the air parade.

As the last plane passes in the parade the three crack units of flyers will swing into action off the Navy pier to stage the combat demonstration. In this group will be 18 planes of the 94th Pursuit group from Rockwell Field, Cal., commanded by Capt. F. O. D. Hunter, one of the few remaining war aces in the air service; 9 planes of the 11th Bombardment group from Rockwell field, and 12 planes of the 13th Attack group, from Galveston, Tex.

The Combat Maneuvers.

The great bombers, heavily armed and heavily manned, will launch a ground attack. Then, swooping down from high altitudes, the pursuit ships, single seaters with two machine guns mounted forward of the cockpit, will attack the bombers.

The attack planes, will demonstrate their ground strafing maneuvers, in which the area of attack is swept by bullets from the circling planes. In the midst of this maneuver the pursuit ships will launch another onslaught, this time upon the attack planes.

Climaxing this demonstration, a big bomber will break formation and spread a smoke screen, followed by two companion ships pouring out more smoke. Behind this great white curtain the 39 planes will disappear from Chicago's view, and start back to Dayton.

Arrival of the Air Fleet.

The air fleet began drifting into Chicago from Dayton early yesterday afternoon. Planes appeared over the downtown district in scattered groups, flying high against a cloudy sky and heading off toward the northwest in the direction of the three north side bases, Curtiss, Sky Harbor and Palwaukee airports. Some groups passed unnoticed, for at 4,000 feet up and with a blustery west wind blowing, the thunder of their motors was not carried down into the canyons of the skyscrapers to herald their arrival.

There was little of the spectacular about their arrival, for the division was engaged in the serious task of moving 1,400 men and 650 planes 300 miles and landing them safely. In that aim the commanders were successful. Not one serious mishap was marked up against the fleet.

"A record which is simply remarkable," commented F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation, last night. Mr. Davison arrived in Chicago earlier in the day to witness the maneuvers.

Two Escapes from Accidents.

There were only two narrow escapes from serious accidents during the arrival of the fleet. Both mishaps were unavoidable. One was narrowly averted by the quick wit and daring of an army pilot. They occurred at Ford-Lansing field in the southeast corner of Cook county and at the Chicago airport, 63d street and Cicero avenue.

As 219 ships swarmed about Ford-Lansing field, landing in groups like waves upon the beach, the pilot of a big army bomber with four men aboard discovered a glass fuel gauge had broken on his wing and was spraying gasoline upon a hot motor.

While the plane was quickly descending to the field Co-Pilot J. J. Ladd crept out on the wing and stuffed a cloth into the dripping pipe. He was still clinging to a wing strut when the ship bumped to a landing and the fire apparatus which came screaming across the field was waved away.

Earlier Lieut. F. H. Willard, flying in from Scott Field, Ill., turned his ship up on its nose while landing at the Chicago airport. A brake had become water soaked and locked. A bent propeller was the only damage.

Foulois Leads Staff In.

In the vanguard of the 54 staff planes that landed at Chicago airport was Gen. Foulois in the flagship of the fleet with gold stars upon its tail and the commander's emblem upon its khaki-colored sides. Gen. Foulois was greeted by Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the army air corps; Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the 6th corps army area; and Col. F. M. Andrews, chief of staff of the air division, who throughout the day kept in touch with the progress of the fleet by radio.

Gen. Foulois was smiling broadly and was in high spirits. The sun was out. The rain that had held up the Chicago review for 24 hours and had led to the advancement of the whole two-weeks program had subsided and the forecast for today indicated mostly fair weather.

254 Planes at Curtiss Field.

When noses were counted 254 planes were found to be "on the line" at Curtiss field. Four transports and an advance hospital ship scurried in at 1:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon and were followed shortly by the 1st pursuit wing under the command of Maj. George Brett. This unit accounted for most of the planes based at Curtiss field, the remainder comprising the 3d attack group and the 31st transport group.

Capt. J. G. Cannon led his 50 flying cadets of the 101st pursuit group from Kelly Field, Tex., into a perfect unit landing and as he climbed out of his cockpit he exhibited all the earmarks of a proud father.

For the first time in history of the air corps, the cadets, advance students at the air corps "West Point," were allowed to take part in a major maneuver and so far the youngsters have come through with flying colors. They will all be graduated when they get back to Kelly field, the air corps maneuvers representing their final tests.

A crowd of 2,000 welcomers witnessed the arrivals at Curtiss field and cheered as the flyers trudged through the mud to a fleet of buses waiting to carry them to the Edgewater Beach hotel. Other officers were quartered at the Stevens hotel.

95 Guard Planes Here.

The last group of the fleet to arrive consisted of 95 observation planes, comprising the National Guard units—five planes from each of 19 states. The year around these flyers put in "time" in the air during spare hours, and the present maneuvers provide the first opportunity for them to perform together.

Held up by rain at Cleveland the group got off to a late start, arriving here at 5 o'clock last evening. The pilots split into two groups and landed slowly and one at a time at Sky Harbor and Palwaukee airports.

GROUND NOTES OF THE FLYERS

One of the hundreds who yesterday tried to obtain permission to ride with the army air fleet in the review today was a Catholic priest, the Rev. J. J. Organisciak, pastor of St. Bruno's church at 49th street and Harding avenue. It appeared last night that Father Organisciak would be one of the few civilians who would ride with the ships and he wasn't at all disappointed that he would have to fly all the way back to Dayton before landing. Father Organisciak has flown on practically all the maiden flights of American air lines except the inaugural trip over the first coast-to-coast air line. He missed this flight because it fell during Holy week.

Among other things, the army air fleet brought in an odd assortment of mascots yesterday. Among them was the Tennessee National Guard unit's monkey dressed in flying togs, complete with goggles and helmet. Another mascot was a small white pup belonging to a pursuit pilot who carried it about in a pilot's helmet. The animal has twelve hours' fling to its credit.

Two interested spectators of yesterday's activities at the airports were Lieuts. Eric Nelson and Leigh Wade, army 'round the world flyers. Since leaving the army Nelson has become engineer of the Boeing Airplane company, builder of the Boeing P-12, the latest and fastest of the army pursuit equipment. This biplane cruises at 192 miles an hour, is maneuverable at 30,000 feet, and can climb five miles in 20 minutes.

Two of the three remaining war aces in the army air service were among the officers who came in with the air fleet. Capt. Victor Strahm of the 1st pursuit group, from Selfridge field, Michigan, was credited with bringing down six enemy planes during the war, and Capt. F. O. D. Hunter, commander of the 94th pursuit squadron, from Rockwell field, California, brought down nine.

Lieut. James W. Hammond of the 2d bombardment group came in yesterday to report that he was entertained on his flight across Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois by a program broadcast over W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station on the Drake hotel.

The 672 planes comprising the provisional First Air division do not represent the fighting strength of the force, for 250 of that number are observation planes and, while they carry armament, are used mainly for defensive purposes. In wartime the combat family of an air division would consist of 51 attack planes, 36 heavy bombardment planes, and about 200 pursuit planes.

The general staff of the provisional First Air division is headed by Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois and comprises the following assistants: Lieut. Col. F. M. Andrews, chief of staff; Capt. Harold M. McClelland, chief of personnel; Lieut. Col. Ira Longanecker, chief of intelligence; Maj. Willis Hale, chief of operations, and Lieut. Col. H. H. Arnold, chief of supply.

The air review today will be followed by a reception and luncheon in compliment to Maj. Gen. James. E. Fechet, chief of the army air corps, at the Stevens hotel. Among the distinguished guests at this luncheon will be Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding officer of the 6th corps army area, and the governors of Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

A back seat rider with the army's attack group which arrived yesterday was Congressman Marvin Mass [Rep., Minn.], known as the flying congressman. He is an ex-service man and holds a pilot's license.

Officers and enlisted men of the army air corps were entertained last night at a dinner dance in the Stevens hotel, given by Ernest J. Stevens, owner of the hotel.

'WAR' PROBLEM THAT FACES SKY FIGHTERS IS TOLD

Ordered to Defend East Coast Against Invasion.

The theoretical situation which the United States army air corps is endeavoring to solve in the two weeks of national maneuvers which started in Chicago yesterday was announced for the first time last night by Lieut. Col. Ira Longanecker, chief of intelligence of the provisional first air division.

The war plans were drawn by Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the United States army. The air corps, on trial for the first time as a defense unit, is working to solve the tactical problem set up by its superiors.

The Problem Is Outlined.

The outline of the problem, as announced last night, follows:

"The assumption is made that war has suddenly been declared on the United States by a coalition of foreign powers on May 20. It is assumed that the enemy immediately has destroyed the Panama canal by an aerial raid.

"Information has been received that an expedition consisting of strong enemy allied naval forces convoying a large number of airplane carriers, troop transports and commercial vessels with an accompanying air force carrying supplies and ammunition for major operations is en route to the North American continent. Canada is neutral.

"Atlantic Fleet Dispersed."

"It is assumed that the ground forces are mobilizing as rapidly as their skeleton condition will permit. It is also assumed that the United States Atlantic fleet has been dispersed and the battle fleet is in the Pacific with the destruction of the Panama canal.

"At the time mentioned above when war was declared all of the United States air force in the continental limits of the country is concentrated in the vicinity of Dayton, O., engaged in annual exercises."

Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, commanding the provisional First Air division, last night made the following announcement in regard to the war plan:

"In accordance with the emergency assumed in the situation, orders have been issued for the First division to proceed from its present airports in the Chicago area to Dayton, O., and from there to the New York area to continue intensive training in anticipation of combat operations off the Atlantic coast. Information of the enemy is meager, but the air corps will remain on the alert, maintaining constant observation and ready to take the air at a moment's notice."

The plot of war, developed along modern theories established since the world war, is expected to be definitely decided later when the fleet reaches the Atlantic coast and the staff is joined there by Gen. MacArthur.

CONGRESS COMMITTEE WITH AIR DIVISION DURING MANEUVERS

Among the civilians riding with the air division who landed here yesterday was a delegation from Washington representing the congress military affairs committee. They are following the fleet in a transport ship in charge of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, world war ace, and piloted by Maj. Victor Bretandias, who was Rickenbacker's sergeant during the war.

In the party are Congressman Edward W. Goss [Rep., Conn.], Thomas Cochrane [Rep., Pa.], and Frank James [Rep., Mich.]. The latter is chairman of the house military affairs committee.

"The maneuvers are the greatest in history," said Congressman Goss. "They will be of inestimable value to the flyers, the war department, the military affairs committee, and to the public and will help solve the problem of a strong national defense policy."

DROWNS IN AUTO.

Charleston, Ill., May 20.—(AP)—Homer Hughes, 23, of Charleston, was killed last night when his automobile skidded at Walker ford, six miles south of Charleston, and overturned into the Embarrass river. Hughes was pinned in eight feet of water.

DAYTON-CHICAGO HOP SHOWS WHAT AIR CORPS CAN DO

Division of Planes Moved 300 Miles in 5 Hours.

BY TOM PETTEY.

Moving 650 fighting airplanes out of Ohio cloudbanks, across Indiana and into the clear flying weather of the Chicago area yesterday, the army air corps demonstrated the mobility of its aerial men of war.

The Dayton, O., airports where the entire air force was quartered were cleared of planes in less than two hours and in three hours more the yellow-winged destroyers were parked row on row in five of Chicago's air stations.

Heavy black rain clouds hung low over Fairfield air depot near Dayton yesterday morning when orders were issued to prepare for the Chicago trip. Puddles of water stood in the flying field, the motors of the planes were hidden beneath canvas jackets and there was not an engine running at 8 o'clock.

First Planes Take Off.

Fifteen minutes later a covey of light bombers awakened like startled geese and scurried through the mud to the grass runways. A minute later they climbed into the air three at a time in squadrons of sixteen, sailed over the field, wheeled and were off for the Chicago show.

Their brother bombardment planes roared away to join them, the observation groups took wing, then the smaller but faster attack ships sped along for a few feet, flirted their red, white, and blue tails and took off in tight formation, wing under wing.

Soon the skies about Dayton were alive with aircraft and the field below was just somebody's grass patch. Grouping tighter and tighter as they gained a few hundred feet altitude, the ships of the air fleet resembled a great flock of ducks heading out of thick weather toward fairer skies.

Dodge In and Out of Mists.

More than 300 of the air fighters were in view at one time from staff headquarters as they streaked under the low clouds. At intervals the ships, three at a time, would be hidden in the mists and then would flash through to join their comrades.

The transports were the last to quit the field and the correspondents' plane, a giant Fokker, did not pull away until the last of the army's wasps were well on their way.

Flying across Ohio the army planes kept fairly close formations in groups of eighteen and thirty-six. As the air fleet sped into fairer weather in Indiana the flyers drew even closer together, affording towns and countryside below an unusual spectacle. The planes scattered into smaller units as they neared the Chicago airports.

Five Hours Does It.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the army's greatest air fleet of 672 ships was resting at Dayton, O. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the same great air show, with the exception of national guard observation ships, which were flown to Cleveland Tuesday night, and a bare dozen stay at home transports, was staked down for the night in the Chicago area.

Row on row, like soldiers on parade, the yellow winged fighting craft were spread across the fields awaiting the call to arms for an "attack" on the Chicago lake front.

DIVISION CHIEF PLEASED

Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, commander of the provisional division of airplanes that arrived in Chicago yesterday for maneuvers and testing, walked into the headquarters room reserved for him at the Stevens hotel, lit a cigar, and settled behind his desk for a conference with his staff officers.

"All in but 22 wing," reported one officer. "They will be here soon."

"Any accidents?"

"One plane down somewhere and an axle broken at Curtiss field," was the report.

"That's fine," said the general, commenting to a reporter.

"There are 650 planes in the air and landing in soft fields. I call that a good movement record."

Gen. Foulois congratulated his officers on the billeting arrangements. When they arrived at the hotel they had merely given their names and everything was ready for them. He was pleased at the way the supplies and emergency equipment were handled.

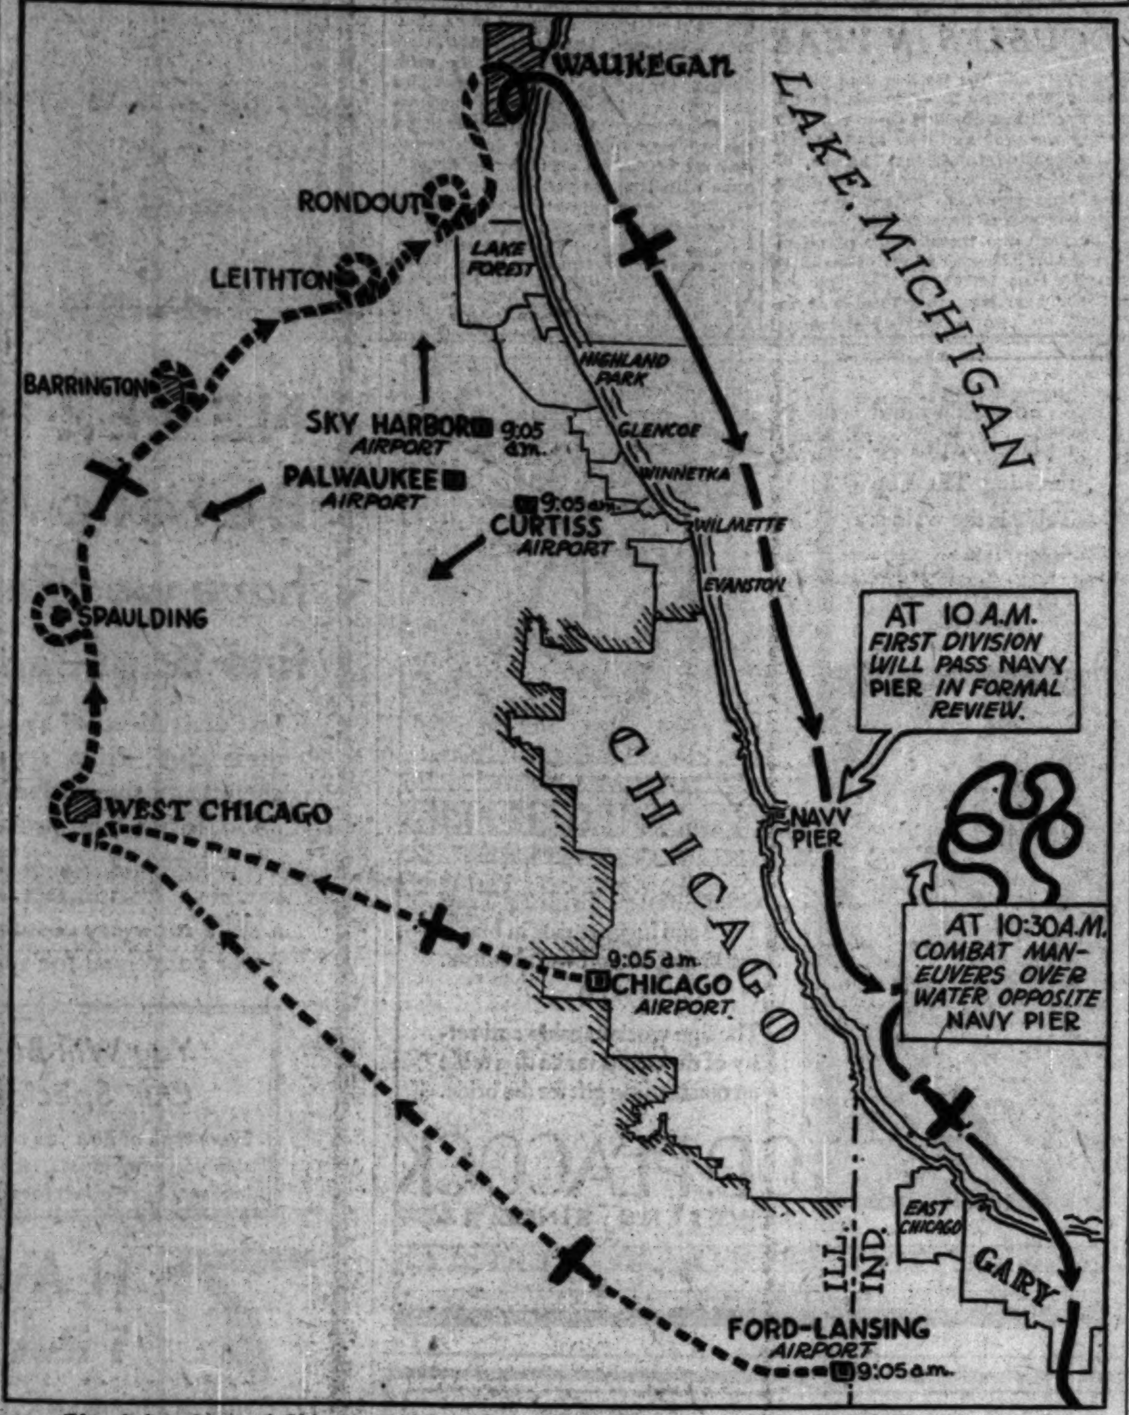
"Everything clicks," he said, after a few more inquiries among his officers. "That is what the movement is for. We could have come yesterday within 20 miles of Chicago. In war time we would have done that, and had the supplies waiting here trucked over to the landing fields.

"There were plenty of places to land outside the 20 mile area, but it was too soupy and heavy in here to risk the men and ships in a peace time maneuver.

"We have only so much money to spend. The purpose of the flight is to give the officers experience in handling large bodies of ships and in testing the communications and the handling of supplies as well as the landing fields.

"This has been highly satisfactory. We will take off from here tomorrow and do the same thing in New York."

Where and When Army Planes May Be Seen Today



The skeleton map of Chicago and its environs shows the airports where the army's 659 planes are in readiness for today's review and maneuvers. Orders fix 9:05 a. m. as the hour for them to leave the airports for West Chicago and other points along the indicated line to Waukegan. By the time the bombers, which lead the parade, have reached Waukegan the rest of the planes will be in position and the parade of the entire air corps will sweep southward as indicated by the solid line and arrows. It is expected it will be off the Navy pier at 10 a. m., pass the reviewing stand on the roof of the Stevens hotel, and move on down the lake shore to Gary, where formation will be broken and most of the planes will head back to the temporary base at Dayton, O. When opposite the Navy pier 39 selected planes will leave the formation and engage in an aerial combat demonstration.

Schools Arrange for Pupils to See Air Armada Today

Thousands of school children in Chicago and the suburban towns along the lake from Waukegan to South Chicago will be released from their classrooms this morning to watch the great sky parade to be staged by the United States Army Air corps.

Supt. William J. Bogan announced last night that he will broadcast a special order to principals and teachers before school time today directing them to hold fire drills at the time the air armada comes within view of their schools. The drills will permit the pupils to remain outdoors for forty-five minutes and longer if necessary. Mr. Bogan explained that this is the simplest method of affording them an opportunity to see the planes.

Wants Children to Watch.

"This demonstration, I am told, will be the most impressive exhibition ever seen in this part of the nation," said Mr. Bogan. "It would be a shame to coop children up behind their desks while all of the adults have a chance to see it. It may be a long time before such a sight is witnessed here again."

Mr. Bogan said he would let the principal of each school in Chicago decide the proper time to stage the fire drill, but it was suggested that the drills be started within a few minutes after 9 o'clock so that every pupil will be outside when the planes approach.

Order to Be City-Wide.

Although the pupils of the schools nearest the lake front will have the best view of the parade, Mr. Bogan said that the permission to hold fire drills will be city-wide. He pointed out that at the schools a distance from the lake arrangements can be made to let the pupils go on the roofs of school buildings or into the streets where the visibility will be good.

Towns other than Chicago in which superintendents said last night that the schools would be recessed or dismissed for the air show included Waukegan, North Chicago, Lake Forest, Lake Bluff, Highwood, Highland Park, Glencoe, Wilmette, Kenilworth, and Winnetka, on the north shore and Gary, East Chicago, and Whiting on the south shore. Most of the schools in other towns along the route of the planes are expected to make similar arrangements this morning.

Newspaper Advertising Exhibit to Open Today

The first annual Chicago newspaper advertising exhibit will open today on the second floor of the Merchandise Mart under the auspices of the Advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The exhibit will extend to May 23. It includes more than 600 locally created and produced advertisements, representing 125 advertisers.

CERMAK SPEECH FORECASTS NEW POLICE SHAKEUP

A shakeup in the detective bureau was foreseen last night when Mayor Cermak, addressing the annual meeting of the Chicago Association of Credit Men at the Palmer house, said he had instructed Acting Commissioner Alcock to oust the 100 men with the poorest records and replace them with young men drawn from the stations.

The mayor's speech was a repetition of his previous declarations that he will divorce the police and the school system from politics.

In the association's annual election E. M. Tourtelot, vice president of the First National bank, was chosen president.

Mayor Cermak disclosed yesterday that he had received a telegram from Portland, Ore., where Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler is planning organization details for Oregon's new state police force, in which the marine officer was indicated as being interested in only one police job and that in Chicago. The mayor said he has not answered the telegram, and does not intend to do so. He refused to comment on the idea of having Gen. Butler for a commissioner of police.

PREDICT MYERS' RE-ELECTION AS SCHOOLS' CHIEF

Board to Vote on Office Next Wednesday.

Lewis E. Myers, whose term as president of the board of education is nearing an end, is to be reëlected to that position at the next meeting of the board next Wednesday, according to reports.

Mr. Myers, who was appointed by the old administration in September, 1929, has been president for a year. According to school officials, his reëlection, which is also predicted by the other trustees, would mean that Mr. Myers has convinced Mayor Cermak that his reëlection will be for the best interests of the school system.

Soon after Cermak's election, the mayor called Mr. Myers in for a discussion of board affairs. Mr. Myers reported that he had assured the mayor of his intention to inaugurate a strict economy program and of his wish to coöperate.

Dispute Over Resignations.

Since then, the mayor and Mr. Myers were reported to have disagreed over the question of the resignations of Ernest E. Withall, business manager; Thomas V. Sullivan, attorney, and Nate De Lue, assistant to Withall. The mayor, it was reported, requested these resignations and President Myers refused to help in obtaining them. Since then there have been numerous other meetings. These men in question have retained their positions and it has been understood that an agreement has been reached.

In speaking of next Wednesday's election, Trustee Joseph P. Savage said that the reëlection of Mr. Myers seem a certainty.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, who was the only Democrat on the board until Robert F. Carr was appointed by Mayor Cermak, declared herself in favor of President Myers' continuance in office. Mr. Carr could not be reached last night. He and Mr. Myers have been friends for many years, however, and the two agree in matters of school board policy.

Mr. Myers himself has remained silent on the question of his possible reëlection. He is president of the L. E. Myers company, public utility builders and operators, with offices at 20 North Wacker drive. He is also connected with more than a dozen other construction and business institutions. He was educated at the University of Pittsburgh.

HEAT IN CALIFORNIA FOLLOWED BY FIRES; COLD FARTHER EAST

San Francisco, Cal., May 20.—(AP)—While Minnesota towns, Fargo, N. D., Denver, and Logan, Utah, shivered in snow and subfreezing temperatures today, most of California perspired in a heat wave.

The atmospheric conditions that frosted the highlands, leaving 14 inches of snow on Pike's Peak in Colorado, were said by weather bureau officials to be responsible.

Scores of fires in timber, brush and grass were reported from over California. Heavy damage was caused by numerous fires in San Francisco and nearby cities.

Gov. James Rolph Jr. appointed a committee to devise ways of meeting the situation. The committee today ordered 2,500 state highway and traffic patrolmen to coöperate with federal and local agencies fighting the fires. The committee was authorized to use the National Guard if needed.

FORMER CO-ED WINS DIVORCE AS TRUCE FAILS

Mrs. Margaret Row Gordon, 23 years old, daughter of R. K. Row, Evanston publisher, was granted a divorce yesterday by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude from Roland Gordon, 27 years old. Mrs. Gordon is a graduate of Northwestern university and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

In support of her charge of cruelty Mrs. Gordon testified that she was forced to leave her husband a year ago, but returned to live with him when he signed an agreement by which he promised to pay her $50 every time he struck her. The agreement was violated four months later, she said, when he struck her with a golf ball during a foursome at Eagle Rock, Wis.

Mrs. Gordon was granted custody of her daughter, Margaret Louise, 2 years old, and $35 a week for the child's support. She did not ask alimony for herself. They were married in 1926.

RALPH BARTON, THE CARTOONIST, KILLS HIMSELF

Writes of Belated Love for Third Wife.

Following a day of police investigation, speculation and rumor, it was the dead man's brother, Homer Barton, who is a New York actor, who corroborated what seemed to be the motive, as hinted in the note. It had been said that the artist had hoped to marry Miss Ruth Kresge, 5 and 10 cent store heiress, and that her announcement of an engagement to some one else had been responsible. But both Mr. Barton and the girl's family said no.

"My brother was still in love with his third wife, Carlotta Monterey, and his realization that he had lost her broke his heart. It was a matter of impulse, I am sure, for Ralph was very impulsive. When Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill came to New York, he paid them a friendly visit. Mr. O'Neill knew all about it. Ralph did not premeditate his action, I know, because he was looking forward to the summer in the apartment. He had brought in some new flower boxes to decorate it."

Maid Tells of Melancholia.

From the maid the police were able to reconstruct some of the artist's actions preceding his death. He came home early Tuesday evening, she said, before she had started home, and appeared to be depressed. He was often so, although he never mentioned suicide, and usually rid himself of the spell by pessimistic comments on life and the world. But the spell did not pass so easily on the last occasion, and as she was leaving she asked:

"You're not going to do anything foolish? If you are, I'm going to stay here."

The artist laughed and said it was safe for her to go.

Mr. Barton may have been pressed for money, but he had recently signed a contract with the New Yorker and his work commanded high prices. He had a contribution in the current issue of the magazine satirically depicting the high pressure salesman as one of the principal causes of the financial depression.

Mr. Barton married his fourth wife, the former Germaine Marie Tailleferre, after a courtship of only three weeks. He and his first wife, Mary Jennings Barton, were divorced in 1917. His second wife, Anne Barton, divorced him in 1923 after they had been married more than five years, and then he married Carlotta Monterey, an actress, from whom he was divorced in March, 1926.

Born in Kansas City.

Mr. Barton was born in Kansas City, Mo., in 1891, where his mother, Mrs. Catherine Josephine Wigginton Barton, still lives. His father was Abraham Pool Barton and the artist used to lay claim to the superlative degree of Americanism based on the fact, as he expressed it, that his blood was one-sixteenth Cherokee and fifteen-sixteenths pre-revolutionary English colonial.

In 1927 he went abroad, saying he had renounced America because he wanted to take a drink and smoke without interruption, but he returned in 1929, after living in Paris and Cannes. He declared jokingly that his success as a magazine cartoonist and book illustrator had made him too rich.

At that time he told newspaper men that he had returned to the United States to live permanently because his work was easier here for the reason that "there were more nuts in America."

"New York is a crazy city and America is a madhouse," he said. "I feel that I belong here. I'm crazy, too. We're all too crazy because we have too much money.

Says He Made Too Much.

"An artist ought to be prohibited from earning as much money as I do. It's absurd and it's bad for our heads. Only last March [this was in November, 1929] I began to build a house for which I realized I would have no use. They're still building it, in fact. The house happens to be in France and here I am in America. I had tennis courts built there, although I don't play tennis. I had a swimming pool built in spite of the fact that I don't swim. I possess a very fast auto, but I don't like speed."

His career actually began when at the age of 10 he applied for work as a soda clerk in a drug store. The druggist turned him down, but commissioned him to draw a cartoon of a fruit sundae for a window display. The drawing was accepted and he was paid 50 cents for it.

Kept Busy as Cartoonist.

He had been drawing about 400 cartoons a year ever since. His work appeared in Puck, the defunct humorous magazine, which commissioned him to report the war in pictures. He also contributed to Judge, Liberty, the Cosmopolitan, the Woman's Home Companion, Vanity Fair, and Harper's Bazar. In 1927 he was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor by France.

Mr. Barton was noted chiefly for his cartoons satirizing the American scene which appeared in Life, Liberty, the New Yorker and other magazines. He was noted, too, for his illustrations of Anita Loos' book, "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds."

In 1922 he turned to two new fields, those of book illustration and theater curtain designing. Besides pictures for Miss Loos' books he illustrated a special edition of Balzac's "Droll Stories." The curtain he designed for the "Chauve Souris" that same year also attracted wide attention.

Two years later the artist showed still greater versatility when he published a complete volume of his own called "Science in Rhyme Without Reason."

Neysa McMein Summoned.

Newspaper reporters and several persons who said they were friends of Mr. Barton were barred from the apartment house by the police.

Admittance was granted, however, to Miss Neysa McMein, the illustrator.

Miss McMein remained in Mr. Barton's apartment for about an hour. She was weeping when she came out. She declined to say if the police had asked her to come to the apartment. Her companion refused to say whether Mr. Barton had left a note for Miss McMein, as was reported.

Miss Monterey from California.

Miss Monterey, the artist's third wife, is a native of California, born of a Danish father and a French mother. She and Barton were married in 1923 and lived together for about three years, a divorce culminating their marital partnership in March, 1926.

Miss Monterey studied for the stage in London and Paris and made her first New York appearance with Lou Tellegen in "Taking Chances." Broadway audiences next saw her as the successor of Lenore Ulric in the leading rôle of "The Bird of Paradise" after which she retired from the stage for some two years.

Later she appeared as the leading actress in O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape," and it wasn't long before Broadway heard she and the playwright were going to get married as soon as O'Neill could obtain a divorce from his second wife, Mrs. Agnes Boulton O'Neill, short story writer whom he had married in Provincetown, Mass., on April 12, 1918.

The wedding of Miss Monterey and O'Neill took place in Paris in July, 1929. It was O'Neill's third marital venture. His first wife was Kathleen Jenkins, whom he married in New York in 1909 and who divorced him three years later.

WORLD'S JOBLESS TOTAL 20,000,000; DOUBLES IN YEAR

(Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.)

GENEVA, May 20.—The world's unemployed have doubled their numbers during the year and now total 20,000,000, according to Albert Thomas, director of the international labor office. In a long report to be made to the labor conference here May 28, he says:

"A year ago the number of unemployed throughout the world could be estimated at 10,000,000. At the end of February, last, this total was exceeded by two important industrial countries alone—Germany and the United States. The number of unemployed has doubled."

The only exceptions in the increasing field of unemployment were Denmark, Estonia, Latvia, Norway, Ireland, and, above all, Russia, he said, adding that "the soviet authorities are concerned not with the problem of unemployment but with recruiting the workers required for fresh development of Russia economy in accordance with the five year plan.

GUNMAN SLAYS WESTERN EDITOR, RICH POLITICIAN

Dying Victim Refuses to Name Assassin.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 20.—[Special.]—Herbert Spencer, until recently city editor of the Evening Express, and Charles Crawford, wealthy real estate man and politician, were shot by a gunman here this afternoon.

Spencer was killed almost instantly. Crawford died later. He refused to name the man who shot him. The slayer disappeared immediately after the killing.

The murders took place during a conference in Crawford's office. Crawford, Spencer, the murderer, and perhaps another man were present.

Since quitting the Express, Spencer has been engaged in running a weekly sheet called "Critic of the Critics." He had as his partner Max Schlinder, a former Express reporter.

Most of the advertising in the paper was of Crawford's real estate ventures and he was supposed to be a silent partner.

The magazine was devoted largely to attacks on or boosts for various persons in the movie world and politicians in Los Angeles. The sheet had made many enemies.

In recent series in the magazine Spencer referred to a former police officer as the "Al Capone of Los Angeles." It told of alleged gang activity. It added that Spencer had been threatened and said a safety deposit box contained the names of his enemies.

Known to Have Enemies.

Crawford also had enemies earned in other ways. He came into notoriety last year when he handed $75,000 to Morris Lavine, a reporter then working for the Los Angeles Examiner, and caused Lavine's arrest as the reporter was leaving the office.

It was revealed in Lavine's subsequent trial for attempted extortion, that the $75,000 was to be the first payment of $200,000 which Lavine demanded as the price for keeping silent in a series of articles about the activities of Crawford and Crawford's political friends, in connection with the $30,000,000 Julian Petroleum company collapse in this city.

Crawford never was able to regain the $75,000, which was impounded after claimants filed action in both state and federal courts, seeking to have portions of the money declared theirs.

Slaying in Heart of City.

The tragedy today was on the busiest section of Sunset boulevard, in the heart of Hollywood. The real estate office is a bungalow building.

Miss Lucille Fischer, secretary to Crawford, said three or four men were in the inner office when the shooting began. She saw only one man besides Crawford and Spencer. She described him as "an American, 35 years old, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall, and wearing a blue suit."

As the shots sounded this man ran out of the private office, through a side door, down an alley, leaped into an auto with the motor running and escaped.

Spencer staggered out and fell dead. Crawford was found on the floor, shot through the liver and the kidneys.

Asked to Name Slayer.

He was rushed to the hospital and regained consciousness for a few minutes. He recognized his old friend, Detective Captain Joe Taylor.

"Who did it?" Taylor asked, and motioned Crawford to whisper:

"Yes, Joe, I know who did it. But I'm not telling. That is, if I'm due to go. But if I live——"

Soon afterward Crawford died, maintaining silence to the end.

Spencer was city editor of the Evening Express for seven years and worked as an employé of that paper for 19 years. He was 42 years old. During his time as city editor, Spencer participated in several activities outside of his newspaper employment, generally such matters as assisting in promoting or publicizing some enterprise.

MAN IDENTIFIED AS GOTTLIEB, FUGITIVE BROKER, IS SEIZED

Indianapolis, Ind., May 20.—[Special.]—A man believed to be Louis L. Gottlieb, attorney and mortgage broker sought by Chicago authorities since November, 1929, for alleged peculations amounting to $500,000, is being held here tonight by police. He refused to talk beyond giving his name as J. Silo Gottlieb.

The prisoner was arrested by chance last night when he was seen in a lunchroom by Max Lieber, 2322 Argyle street, Chicago, a relative by marriage. Lieber called police and helped in arresting Gottlieb. The latter was held on a technical charge of vagrancy under $5,000 bond.

According to Chicago records Louis L. Gottlieb maintained an office at 1572 North Halsted street. He dealt with scores of people, handled their mortgages and other property dealings, and was even intrusted with their bank deposits, on which he was empowered to withdraw in many cases. An international search was made for him after his disappearance, the trails leading to England, South America, and Australia.

C. VANDERBILT JR. TELLS COURT HE'S WORTH ONLY $120

Los Angeles, Cal., May 20.—(AP)—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., member of one of the world's wealthiest families, testified in Superior court here today that his total personal fortune was $70 in a bank and $50 in his pocket.

He appeared before Referee A. P. Wills on supplementary proceedings for failure to pay $11,000 for a damaging magazine article.

Vanderbilt said the last money he earned was a $250 fee for serving as a judge with John Barrymore and James Montgomery Flagg in a beauty contest conducted by a cosmetic concern.

The referee declined to order Vanderbilt to pay on the judgment royalties from a recently published book, and also refused to compel payment of a $7.50 court fee.

RACE IN PLANE TO BEAT DEATH IS SUCCESSFUL

News of the death of Mrs. Helen G. Press in Beverly Hills, Cal., revealed last night a successful airplane race from Chicago by her daughter, Mrs. William G. Hodgkins, president of the local Y. W. C. A., to reach her bedside before the end.

Mrs. Press, 70 years old, widow of Whiting G. Press, prominent Board of Trade member and financier, died Tuesday. Her illness became accentuated Saturday and Mrs. Hodgkins was notified at her home at 1430 Lake Shore drive. She left immediately by plane, making the entire trip to the coast by air and arriving before her mother died.

Surviving Mrs. Press, besides Mrs. Hodgkins, is another daughter, Belle Elizabeth Press, with whom she lived in California. Mrs. Press lived most of her life in Chicago, and was active in social life. She moved to the west coast seven years ago. Burial will be in Pasadena today.

"LIE DETECTOR" STARTS ROW AT KIRKLAND TRIAL

Puzzled Judge Hints He Will Bar It.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Valparaiso, Ind., May 20.—[Special.]—The Virgil Kirkland murder trial was thrown into an uproar late this afternoon when attorneys for the young defendant attempted to prove his innocence of the rape and murder of Arlene Draves by putting him under the Keeler lie detector.

DR. G. H. STONER. [Tribune Photo.]

Such a move had never been proposed before in any American court of record and Prosecutor John Underwood shouted a denunciation of "any fantastic device which presumes to supplant the greatest lie detector in the world, twelve good men and true."

In oratory no less vehement, Defense Attorney Ronald Oldham retorted that Underwood was the type of man who once termed as fantastic the telephone, telegraph, radio, and X-ray.

Judge Is Stumped.

Judge Grant Crumpacker declared he was puzzled how to rule on admissibility of the machine because of the absence of any legal precedent. He pointed out that if he allowed Kirkland to testify under the device both sides had a right to demand that all witnesses, in number more than one hundred, be forced to submit to the lie detector.

After the lawyers had argued more than an hour, Judge Crumpacker said:

"Gentlemen, I don't believe there is any use going further with this. I think it would take weeks of investigation to determine the accuracy of this machine. Until it is recognized in scientific bodies, I will not permit it to be used in my courtroom."

At the request of the defense, however, the court granted the defense permission to place more witnesses on the stand at tomorrow morning's session.

Col. Goddard a Witness.

The jury was excluded from the courtroom after the first explosion of the attorneys. Col. Calvin H. Goddard, head of the scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern university, was the first witness put on the stand to testify to the worth of the lie detector.

Answering a series of questions drafted by Dr. Orlando Scott, medical counsel for the defense, Col. Goddard testified that the lie detector had proved in many instances that it would determine whether or not a subject was telling the truth.

Kirkland, who has admitted that he places most of his hopes of acquittal upon admission of the lie detector evidence, leaned forward in a strained attitude as the lawyers wrangled.

Kirkland's mother took the stand earlier in the session. She testified that Virgil was born in July, 1910, in Missouri. She saw Arlene a week before her death, when she came to the Kirkland home and had supper with them, she told the jury.

Q.—Did you have any conversation with her? A.—Well, she was very jolly. She was talking to me about marrying Virgil and wanted me to teach her how to bake. I had a pretty nice cake that night.

Often Phoned Virgil.

Q.—Was she at your home more than once? A.—About four or five times. She often telephoned Virgil.

Q.—What did she call you? A.—Well, she sometimes called me mother, in a jolly way she had.

Q.—When was the last telephone call? A.—On Friday night, the night before she died, she called up about 9 p. m. Virgil dressed and went out to see her.

On cross-examination Mrs. Kirkland declared she had known about the midnight expedition to Valparaiso a few weeks previous to the murder, at which Arlene backed out of a marriage with Kirkland at the last minute.

Martin Beier, 20 years old, a friend of Virgil, testified that on the Wednesday before the slaying he saw Virgil give a $10 bill to Arlene to buy a dress. He was later a pallbearer at the funeral and the dress which Kirkland paid for was the dress Arlene was buried in, Beier told the jury.

Elmer Kirkland, stepfather of Virgirl, was on the witness stand for a short time. He said that "Babe," as Arlene was known, came several times to the Kirkland home to see Virgil.

A number of Valparaiso physicians were subpœnaed by the defense to answer hypothetical questions concerning the probable cause of the death of Arlene.

Prosecutor Edmund J. Freund, cross-examining these witnesses, brought out several points which were regarded as telling against the defense. Dr. G. H. Stoner declared that it was extremely unlikely that a fall on a porch killed Arlene unless "some propelling force" were behind the blow.

Other defense witnesses repeated the testimony they had given at the first trial. Policeman Ellis Thomas testified that he was in the hamburger stand when Kirkland came in. Thomas said he noticed no blood on Kirkland's hand nor did he hear him say to Barton: "Now's your chance."

Mrs. Evan Madera described the Valparaiso elopment trip which did not pan out.

Mrs. Ida Thompson, wife of one of the defendants, who refused to turn state's evidence because he might incriminate himself, declared that the broken club found on the porch of her home had been broken several months before.

Eldon Cook, 21 years old, attacked the veracity of Fred Phillips, the state's witness who asserted that Kirkland remarked, weeks before the slaying: "I'm going to get Arlene or beat hell out of her."

LOSES JOB; KILLS SELF.

Paris, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—William Zellman, 24, until yesterday manager of Hayes Brothers, hatchers, committed suicide today. He had been told his services were no longer needed.

FACTOR GIVES UP AND 2 NATIONS DICKER ON FATE

they were met by Factor, accompanied by Attorneys Don Peebles and G. Gale Gilbert. Together all went to the federal building.

His Fingerprints Taken.

Factor's fingerprints were taken—for the first time in his life, he said. He issued a statement to the press, saying what he had read about himself is absolutely false; that the charges against him are untrue; that he was appearing voluntarily; that he knows the attitude of the British authorities is that he should be placed in jail and denied an opportunity to defend himself, but that he felt that his constitutional right to bail should not be denied. Then he was photographed, posing willingly.

Dispute Over Bail Question.

Before Commissioner Walker there was no discussion of the innocence or guilt of the man whose custody England is asking in order that it may put him on trial in Old Bailey. The Schwartz group of lawyers asked for bail and offered $50,000 worth of Liberty bonds. Attorney Franklin Overmyer, representing the Crown, objected.

To whom would the bail be paid in the event of a forfeiture? Attorney Overmyer inquired.

Court decisions were read. The United States Supreme court has held that a court or commissioner has the right to exercise discretion and admit to bail a prisoner in Factor's situation (wanted by a foreign country) only in unusual or extraordinary instances. A man's illness did not constitute an unusual or extraordinary instance. The lawyers kept debating.

"Factor is a reputable business man against whom evidence of fraud is intangible," argued Attorney Gilbert.

"How about his aliases, Wise and Guest?" asked Commissioner Walker, referring to Factor's known stock market accounts. "Are those the names of respectable business men?"

"They are market names, used to transact business," Gilbert asserted.

Then it was made known to Commissioner Walker that Factor's alleged confederates, Arthur J. Klein, arrested in New York, and Harry Geen in Philadelphia, were held without bail.

British Ask a Delay.

The evidence which the British consul general, Godfrey Haggard, intends to use against Factor is at present in the east, being used against Klein and Geen, and the British representative therefore asked a five day continuance before being required to present reasons here as to why the United States government should give Factor into British custody.

Commissioner Walker then asked if the marshal would agree to accept the responsibility of producing Factor in court next Monday. Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer's consent was obtained and two deputies were assigned to stay with Factor, day and night, until 2 p. m. Monday.

How would you like to lose 19 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

That's just what one western woman did—How happy she is.

How would you like to lose a load of unhealthy fat that you don't need and don't want and at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the safe, swift and pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 salts of Kruschen (Salts that your blood, nerves and glands should possess to function properly)—have presented you with glorious health.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends, "One 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts. Buy one bottle with the distinct understanding that you will be joyfully satisfied or money back.

Mrs. C. L. of Shepardsville, Kentucky, writes: "I have reduced 24 pounds in 31 days with Kruschen and I ate three meals a day."

for Cooling Comfort

...when your body is weary and your spirit needs reviving—quick!

THIS pure wholesome juice of sun-ripened Concord grapes does far more than serve as a natural refrigerant. It also affords benefits so far-reaching that here surely is one of Nature's most generous gifts to man.

Abounding in mineral salts, neutralizing acids and fruit proteins, so invaluable to vigor, Welch's ends exhaustion with an almost magic quickness ... replaces burned-up energy without adding a single undesired ounce to one's weight.

Incidentally, what Welch's does for grown-ups it does in even greater measure for children. It builds strong teeth and makes rich blood.

The next time you are just plain fagged, open a new test-size Junior bottle of Welch's and "drink a bunch of grapes." You will probably want to add one-third to one-half water, for this delightful beverage is concentrated goodness. That is why it costs less than any other form of fruit.

Whether for between-meal hunger or as a beverage, Welch's is an essential in the modern home. Serve it every day throughout the year, especially for breakfast. Thus you will protect yourself and family with the most convenient form of health insurance.

Be sure to ask for Welch's by name. Only thus can you be sure of pure pasteurized fruit juice bottled under rigid laboratory control.

FREE 25c Jar GRAPELADE
This delicious, wholesome fruit spread will be relished by every member of the family. The children especially will love it. So we ask you to accept a 25c pound jar of Grapelade with our compliments. Simply cut center panel from the label of a pint bottle of Welch's and mail in to us. The Grapelade will come to you FREE postpaid. One only to a family. Address Welch's, 308 W. Washington St., Dept. Miss Muriel Kirkland
Among the new generation of brilliant young Thespians who are making stage history, is Muriel Kirkland. This beautiful young woman is already high in a career that promises to be meteoric. You will recall her adroit character delineation in "Strictly Dishonorable." Now as star in "The Greeks Had a Word for It," Miss Kirkland utilizes the name of this vehicle to express her opinion of Welch's. She wittily says, "Perhaps 'the Greeks had a word for it,' but take my word for it—Welch's Grape Juice is a grand drink, and my favorite."

MRS. HARRIMAN OF WASHINGTON IS BOILING MAD

Ten Feet of Dirt All Over Her Front Lawn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—[Special.]—A rift is threatened in the long friendship between two prominent Washington Democrats, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, social arbiter, and Ray Baker, former director of the mint. And it's all due to a lot of dirt—5,000 tons of it, to be exact—which was spread around the spacious Georgetown lawn of Mrs. Harriman by contractors in the employ of the Nevadan Democrat.

Returning from a six weeks' trip to Bermuda a few days ago, Mrs. Harriman was shocked to find the front yard of her recently remodeled colonial house in Georgetown piled high with freshly excavated dirt. A little detective work disclosed that the dirt had been dumped there by contractors engaged in excavating the basement for Mr. Baker's new home, next door. A check up showed 1,500 truck loads had been dumped into the space Mrs. Harriman was reserving for a sunken garden.

She Speaks Her Mind.

Mrs. Harriman lost no time in communicating her annoyance to Mr. Baker, with the result that the former director of the mint hastily promised to have the dirt removed at once. Somewhat mollified, Mrs. Harriman returned home to await results. They were not slow in coming. The next day the contractor got busy and by nightfall another hundred or so truckloads of fresh dirt had joined the 1,500 already reposing on the three acre Harriman lawn.

Mrs. Harriman threatened to sue. Mr. Baker expressed his sympathy and blamed Joseph T. Mayer, the contractor. He in turn passed the buck to the subcontractor. And tonight, the dirt still being on Mrs. Harriman's lawn, things began to happen, according to Mr. Mayer. He told a newspaper man this evening that he had been notified that a $15,000 suit was to be lodged against him.

Society Palpitates.

In the meantime Mrs. Harriman declines to talk for publication. All of Washington's official society is talking of nothing else. And as for Mr. Baker—he made this explanatory statement:

"I've told Mrs. Harriman the matter must be fixed up just as she wants it. She is one of my oldest and dearest friends. I'll testify for her if necessary. When work was started on my property I thought Mrs. Harriman might like to have the refuse dirt for filling purposes. I tried to get in touch with her, as I would rather let her have the dirt than sell it to some one else. I was unable to reach her, so told the contractor to dump the dirt elsewhere."

Mrs. Harriman is a member of the Democratic national committee.

BABY EYE BILL VETO SUSTAINED IN SENATE TEST

Overriding Effort Fails by Six Votes.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—By six votes the senate today failed in an effort to override Gov. Emmerson's veto of the Thon bill for the prevention of blindness by injecting silver nitrate into the eyes of new born babies. Yesterday the house voted 118 to 15 to pass the measure over the veto, the Republican floor leaders as a "friendly gesture" to the governor flocking after Michael L. Igoe, Democratic whip, who led the march.

In the senate this morning, however, the various leaders were at sixes and sevens, and the administration forces were divided. Senator Harry G. Wright [Rep., De Kalb] made the motion that the senate concur with the house in passing the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor. The vote stood 28 yeas to 16 nays. It required 34 votes, or two-thirds of the senators, to pass.

"Infringement of Liberty."

"I'm not in favor of overriding the veto," said Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Chicago]. "This bill contains nothing protecting families who have religious scruples against this sort of medical treatment. It is an infringement of religious freedom and personal liberty."

"The proper place to decide that is the Supreme court," replied Senator James O. Monroe [Dem., Collinsville]. "The governor says the reason he vetoes the bill is because the attorney general says it is unconstitutional. The attorney general may be wrong.

"Isn't it a weird situation? Men and women have been going blind from poison liquor resulting from prohibition as ordained by the constitution under the 18th amendment, yet it is said to be unconstitutional to require the use of a little medicine in babies' eyes to prevent blindness."

28 Vote to Override.

Fourteen Democrats and 14 Republicans voted to override, while 14 Republicans and 2 Democrats voted not to dig in the spurs. The roll call showed:

To override: Republicans—Bohrer, Ewing, Gunning, Hamilton, Hanna, Kessinger, Lantz, Lee, Leonardo, McCauley, Mills, Serritella, Wilson, Wright.—14.

Democrats—Finn, Loughran.—2.

CHARLES E. VAWTER, RADIO INVENTOR, DIES OF EXPLOSION BURNS

Philadelphia, Pa., May 20.—(AP)—Charles Erastus Vawter, widely known inventor of more than 200 radio and electric devices, died today of burns received in an explosion at his laboratory in his home in the Germantown section of the city.

The explosion occurred while Mr. Vawter, a former professor of physics at Virginia Polytechnic institute, was experimenting with a high tension ignition system for airplanes on Tuesday.

His wife, Mrs. Rachel Vawter, was severely burned on the hands when she attempted to extinguish Vawter's flaming clothing by wrapping him in a bed quilt.

The inventor was alone in his workshop lubricating a motor when a spark from the apparatus ignited the oil. Blazing oil was thrown on his clothing by the resultant blast.

A member of a family prominent in Virginia educational circles, Mr. Vawter when a young man entered the teaching profession as a member of the faculty of Virginia Polytechnic institute.

In March, 1917, Vawter shot and killed Stockton Heth Jr., wealthy young society man and sportsman, in his home in Christiansburg, Va. He pleaded the unwritten law and was exonerated of the slaying two months later.

MISS PATTERSON BAGS A SLADANG IN THE ORIENT

San Francisco, Cal., May 20.—[Special.]—Bagging the sladang, ferocious water buffalo, in Indo-China jungles, was just one of the exploits of Miss Alicia Patterson, daughter of Joseph M. Patterson, newspaper publisher of Chicago and New York, who returned to America today on the liner Chichibu Maru after a six month flying and big game hunting tour of the orient.

"The sladang is one of the world's rarest wild animals," she said. "It has long, black horns and is exceedingly ferocious and is much sought after by big game hunters. Col. Roosevelt tried for one and failed."

Miss Patterson brought down the animal only after one month of stalking in the steaming bamboo jungles. It was the chief prize of her entire tour, she said. A considerable portion of her tour was made by plane. Accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Chase of Chicago, she flew across Australia and made several short hops between oriental cities. She plans to hop off by plane for Chicago tomorrow.

CANADA'S EXPORT OF RUM TO U. S. DROPS MILLIONS

OTTAWA, Ont., May 20.—(AP)—Export of Canadian alcoholic beverages last month, the dominion bureau of statistics today reported, was $169,000. For the same month in 1930 the value was $[illegible],178,000.

Since amendments to the report act prevented vessels laden with liquor to clear from Canada for United States ports, heavy shipments have been going to St. Pierre and Miquelon, islands south of Newfoundland belonging to France, the report stated.

It added, however, that while for several months the export of liquor to St. Pierre and Miquelon from Canada ran over $1,000,000 a month, in April none was shipped.

KIN SEE PHOTOS; IDENTIFY THEM AS SLAYER PERRY

Milwaukee, Wis., May 20.—[Special.]—Bertillon measurements and photographs of the suspect being held at San Francisco as George W. E. Perry, Milwaukee bigamist brakeman, will be brought here tomorrow following their arrival in Eagle River, Wis., for study by experts and to be shown relatives who today identified the suspect as Perry.

District Attorney Edmund H. Drager of Vilas county, where Perry is wanted for the murder of a Chicago woman, said in a long distance telephone conversation with Capt. Harry Ridenour of the Milwaukee detective bureau tonight that he would bring the finger prints and photos of the San Francisco suspect here tomorrow.

Mrs. Mary Perry, first wife of the much married brakeman, still is firm in her loyalty to Perry and when shown pictures of the suspect held in San Francisco as her husband refused to talk.

Mrs. Carl Akeley's Mother, 81 Years Old, Dies in Ohio

Word was received here last night of the death of Mrs. Sarah Jane Filtis Jobe, 81 years old, mother of Mrs. Carl Akeley, the explorer. Mrs. Jobe died Monday at Conneaut, O. She was the widow of Richard Watson Jobe. Besides Mrs. Akeley, another daughter, Mrs. Worthington Birney, survives.

7 WORKING GIRLS SELECTED TO GO TO BRYN MAWR

Seven working girls in the Chicago district have been chosen to attend summer school courses in social and industrial problems at Bryn Mawr. The selections were made yesterday by the summer school council of the Young Women's Christian association at its west side branch, 110 South Ashland avenue. Their expenses will be paid.

The girls selected are Cecilia Udell, 3821 Fillmore street, a milliner; Martha Shelton, 5443 Dearborn street, a factory employé; Tillie Plebanek, 2155 Pierce avenue, and Rose Glicken, 1620 Trumbull avenue, hat trimmers; Celia Remstein, 2714 Potomac avenue, a garment worker; Vernetta Hill, 5237 Prairie avenue, maid, and Helen Griebel, 1137 Locust road, Winnetka, also a maid.

A similar course at the University of Wisconsin is made available to six other persons, one a man. They are Byron Tyler, 1744 Hancock street, clerk; Rose Boole, 3435 Lawrence avenue, milliner; Pearl Fennell, 2211 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, waitress; Esther Karmomick, 1744 Hancock street, laundry worker; Elizabeth Peterson, Oak Park, maid, and Minnie Tetway, factory employé.

Hit and Run Auto Kills Elmwood Park Boy at Play

Eugene Brew, 9 years old, was playing in front of his home at 2417 North 75th court, Elmwood Park, last night when an automobile operated by a hit and run driver struck him. The car sped on with added speed. The boy was taken to the Keystone hospital, where he died of a fracture of the skull early this morning. His death increased the Cook county motor toll to 435 since Jan. 1.

2 Men and Woman Robbed of $2,430 in Cash, Jewelry

Jewelry and cash amounting to $2,430 were taken last night by two armed men who forced two men and a woman to drive their car into an alley. The victims are Art Schwartz, 1706 East 56th street, an insurance agent; Miss Louise Crevier, 5346 Cornell avenue, and A. Friedman, a broker in the Board of Trade building. They were in their car outside of Miss Crevier's home when held up. Schwartz lost a $1,500 ring and $40. Miss Crevier gave up three rings valued at $850 and Friedman was robbed of $40.

SELLS AUTO in Twenty Minutes!

"When my son went to California he decided not to take his Packard car, and placed a want ad in the Chicago Sunday Tribune, offering it for $2100. On Sunday morning, as we were leaving for church, the door bell rang, and a man who had seen the ad inquired about the car. After testing it, he offered $2000, and in 20 minutes the deal was arranged. I think that was a quick sale."

Quick sales are more frequently possible when the offer to sell is placed where the largest number of prospects can see it. A want ad appearing in the Tribune can be seen by more than 1,025,000 families on Sunday and by more than 815,000 on week days. Have you a used car to offer them? Call Superior 0100, and ask for an Adtaker!

MEDICAL SOCIETY IN BITTER FEUD OVER ELECTION

Two Tickets in the Field; Trickery Charged.

A bitter feud has arisen in the Chicago Medical society over the election of officers to be held June 16. Already the race has been enlivened by charges of trickery.

Two tickets are in the field. One is headed by Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, former president of the Illinois Medical association and once president of the state charities commission under Gov. Deneen. He is running for president-elect with the reported backing of a majority of the present administration. The successful candidate serves for one year as president elect and then for one year as president.

Heading the opposition slate is Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer, nationally known urologist, professor at Rush Medical college and member of the Presbyterian hospital staff. He has the support of a group, characterized by their spokesmen as reformers and by the opposition as prospective dictators.

Ochsner Ticket Approved.

In accordance with the regular practice both slates were presented to the society's council at the May 1 meeting. The council approved the Ochsner slate by a two to one vote and the council chairman, Dr. John R. Harger, now president elect, ruled that only the approved ticket should go on the ballot.

Refusing to accept defeat at the council's hands, Dr. Kretschmer's supporters dug up a forgotten bylaw decreeing that any slate supported by petition of forty or more members is entitled to position on the ballot. Dr. S. Henry Mundt, candidate for councilor on the Kretschmer ticket, set a petition circulating.

From the society's headquarters at 30 North Wabash avenue yesterday, Dr. N. S. Davis III., secretary of the society, issued an innocent appearing statement of five paragraphs announcing that the Kretschmer petition bearing 500 names had been officially accepted, assuring the reform ticket a place on the ballot.

Here the strife broke into the open.

War Breaks Into Open.

"Who sent out that statement?" snapped President Elect Harger. "If it was Dr. Davis he's been assuming unauthorized responsibilities again. To say the petition bore 500 names is an exaggeration. I saw it and there wasn't nearly that many, and of those I saw many were repeaters who had signed two or three times."

Dr. Kretschmer was in Tennessee but his supporter, Dr. Mundt, was willing to be quoted.

"For the last 15 years," he explained, "the society's policy has been to elect a 'society worker' one year and a man of scientific reputation the next. We offer Dr. Kretschmer as a man of outstanding scientific ability. "I have nothing against Dr. Ochsner. I have known him for years and he is my friend. But in this contest the feeling is that the election of a man of Dr. Kretschmer's reputation will reflect greater credit than one merely politically active."

Presents the Other Side.

From one of the present officers, who declined to permit use of his name, came the other side of the story.

"Mundt and his group dominated the society for years, although in the minority," he declared. "It's true they instituted the system of rotating so-called scientific presidents and political presidents.

"True, Kretschmer is a man of outstanding scientific attainment, but he knows nothing of the society's affairs. That's why they nominated him. They propose to run affairs through him."

COL. W. C. WEEKS.
[Acme Photo.]

Flood waters in the Des Plaines river, diverted by the emergency blasting of two coffer dams, yesterday were racing through the headgates of the new Brandon road waterway lock located a mile southwest of Joliet. Sections of the dams were dynamited late Tuesday night following two days of rainfall in Chicago.

Engineers of the Connolly Construction company in charge of the project decided to blow open the remaining dams as it had been planned to open the dams later in the week anyway.

Col. W. C. Weeks, resident army engineer, who is supervising the waterway construction works, said yesterday that he was satisfied that the dynamiting was necessary and effectively accomplished.

SAFEBLOWERS WARNED BY OWN RADIO; ESCAPE

Forehanded safeblowers who carried with them a low wave radio receiving set were busy cutting into a safe in the offices of the Prudential Life Insurance company on the second floor of 4750 Washington boulevard early this morning when the police sending station broadcasted: "Burglars in the building at 4700 Washington boulevard." That wasn't the address where the safeblowers were at work, but it was so near they lost no time in getting away from the place. They left behind their gas tanks, acetylene torches, and the radio set. A neighbor woman saw them flee.

The alarm had been sent to the police by a pedestrian who had seen sparks from the torches as he passed. He had made a mistake in the address. The robbers were almost through the outer door of the safe when it is supposed they heard the police call on their radio set and fled.

RESCUER OF TWO ON LAKE GIVEN HEROISM MEDAL

In recognition of his feat in rescuing two men from drowning after their canoe had capsized at Twin Lakes, Wis., last summer, Joseph J. Zeleny, 3828 South Clinton avenue, Berwyn, was presented the Vail medal for heroism yesterday before 20,000 employés at the Western Electric Hawthorne works.

Zeleny and his brother were on a vacation at the Wisconsin resort when, one night, they heard cries for help out on the lake. They ran to a boat and rowed out into the darkness, where, with the aid of a flashlight, they found two men floundering in the water. While his brother held the flashlight, Zeleny dived in and one at a time rescued the two men, Harry Davis, a Chicagoan, and B. George, a chef at the resort.

The medal is the Theodore N. Vail medal given annually to Bell Telephone employés who perform the most outstanding public service. The medal is a memorial to Mr. Vail, pioneer executive of the phone company.

BARCELONA ASKS REPUBLIC TO SEND JESUITS TO EXILE

Government Puts Ban on Sale of Treasures.

BARCELONA, Spain, May 20.—(AP)—After a fiery three hour debate the Barcelona city council tonight adopted a resolution indorsing a demand recently made by the council of Gijon that the republican government banish the Jesuits from Spain. The vote was 30 to 11.

Restrict Sale of Treasures.

MADRID, May 20.—(AP)—The cabinet tonight approved a proposal submitted by Minister of Education Domingo restricting the sale or other disposition of Spanish art or literary treasures. Many of these treasures are held by the Catholic churches.

The cabinet also decreed that teachers in the primary schools must have normal school diplomas. This was seen in Catholic circles as affecting the church also, for many priests now are engaged in primary educational work without normal school diplomas.

The cabinet announced tonight that the national assembly elections will be held on June 28 instead of June 21. The postponement was made to allow more time for competing the registration of voting.

Vatican Withholds Recognition.

VATICAN CITY, May 20.—(AP)—To clarify what has been described as a confused situation, a semi-official statement from the Vatican today said the Spanish republic had not yet been recognized by the holy see.

Immediately after its installation, the provisional Spanish republican government was said to have addressed the usual diplomatic communication of its formation to the apostolic muncio at Madrid, expressing the wish to continue friendly relations with the holy see. The nuncio on instructions from the Vatican acknowledged the communication and confirmed the holy see's sentiments of particular good will toward the Spanish nation.

It was explained here, however, that real recognition of the Spanish republic has not been, and could not be given for a double reason: because the king of Spain has not formally abdicated, but has merely retired from the country to await developments, and because the present republican government is only, as it itself declares, a provisional government, and that definite assent of the Spanish nation has been left to the cortes which soon will be convoked.

A SPOOL OF THREAD

Commonplace? But have you ever really looked at a spool of thread? Or thought about it? There is fascinating romance wrapped in its coils.

Millions of men and women are employed today that you may have thread for your buttons.

And when you use more of it, the cotton and silk industries of the world are stimulated.

Clothes are held together by thread. Society is made possible by thread. Civilization itself is a matter of thread. In fact, the destinies of mankind hang upon thread—and progress would have been grievously hampered without it.

Ponder! A spool of thread is one of the most interesting and important things extant. It may easily form a hub around which all horizons revolve.

A world without thread would be unthinkable.

We are thread merchants—and proud of it. We specialize in thread. Painstakingly we search everywhere that we may have the best thread procurable. And we probably sell more of it than any other store in the world.

But the thread of this thought is specialization. In hundreds of lines we get the world's first offerings. As the largest buyers in many fields, our organizations have been forced to become alertly expert. And the advantages gained by that skillful quantity-buying of quality products is profoundly reflected in our prices—threads of gold in economy's close-woven fabric.

LEADS POLICE TO BODIES OF 3 HE HAD KILLED

Slays Wife and Children of Dead Employer.

Mattoon, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—Merle Johnson, 25, a former Arkansas farmhand who had conducted a filling station here in recent months, approached a policeman at 4:30 a. m. today and announced calmly:

"I just killed a woman and two boys and I want to go to jail."

He was questioned by the policeman, Cy Hampton, and Deputy Sheriff Roy Clark. Following his directions, the deputy led a party to a spot four miles south of Mattoon. There they found an automobile sunk to the hubs in a mudhole, and in it the bodies of the three victims.

They were Mrs. Carrie Bowers, 38, and her sons, Joseph, 5, and Delmar, 19 months old.

Came from Arkansas.

Mrs. Bowers formerly lived on a rice plantation near Stuttgart, Ark., where her husband died in April, 1930. Johnson at the time of Bowers' death was employed on the plantation, and he accompanied Mrs. Bowers here for the burial. Since that time he had lived in her home, except for an interval last year when they returned to Arkansas and attempted unsuccessfully to make a crop.

Slumped over in the front seat was the body of Mrs. Bowers, shot through the head. On the rear seat was the body of Joseph, who had been shot and beaten with a crank. The smaller boy's body lay on the floor of the car.

Without any apparent emotion the disheveled Johnson told what had happened.

"She asked me to do it—to kill them all," he said. "The house caught on fire last night and I got burned a little carrying out the boys. We got into the car and drove away. We were going to Arkansas. But the car got stuck in the mudhole and Carrie said: 'Kill us all.' I shot Joe first. He didn't die very quick, so I hit him with the crank and then I tied a rope around his neck and strangled him.

"Then I shot little Delmar. I choked him, too. Carrie was looking on all the time. I finished up by shooting her. Then I walked into town and confessed."

Boasts of Brutality.

Almost as a boast, Johnson added: "This is the most brutal murder I [illegible]r heard of. I knew another fellow [illegible]t did one like it and he got hanged. [illegible]ey ought to string me up, too, and [illegible] hope they do."

[illegible]he police believe that Johnson, [illegible]o appears to be much older than [illegible] 25 years he admits, tried to kill [illegible] woman with whom he lived and [illegible]r two sons by setting fire to their [illegible]ur room cottage at 612 Prairie ave[illegible]e, and that when he failed in this [illegible] forced them into the car and took [illegible]em to the lonely road to complete [illegible] work.

The blaze destroyed the structure, [illegible]remen reporting that it was almost [illegible]nsumed when they arrived soon [illegible]ter midnight in response to an [illegible]arm.

Call Slayer Sane.

Coroner F. S. Schilling and Sheriff [illegible]ncent Aye at Charleston, where [illegible]hnson was taken, said they con[illegible]dered the killer sane. It was their [illegible]eory that he had planned to kill [illegible]em by fire and to collect insurance on Mrs. Bowers' life as well as to gain possession of her assets. She was reputed to keep several thousand dollars, obtained a few months ago in the sale of her plantation, in the house.

This theory was strengthened by a statement of Ernest Fryman, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Bowers. He knew, he said, that she had $3,000, which is missing.

DECLARES FARM BOARD POLICIES HIT AGRICULTURE

Both the grain trade and dirt farmers have suffered from government interference and competition, with signs already pointing to a "break up" in the government's "big and costly" farm marketing experiment, according to Dr. James E. Boyle, Cornell university economist.

Dr. Boyle spoke last night before the Chicago Grain Analysts' club. Reviewing the efforts made by the American Farm Bureau federation and the federal farm board to establish marketing agencies for grain, he declared the latter's activities "show disregard of the sound principles of grain marketing."

"Farmers were advised by the farm board on Aug. 7, 1929, when wheat was $1.34 to hold it," he said. "By the end of the year wheat was $1. These individual farmers who followed the advice lost millions.

"Besides its other troubles, the farm board is trying to carry two very big corpse, 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and 3,500,000 bales of cotton, involving $175,000 a day carrying charge. Even the federal treasury cannot bear such a load indefinitely."

NAME BANKERS AS ADVISERS TO CITY CONTROLLER

Three bankers were appointed yesterday to aid City Controller M. S. Szymczak.

"They will work with me," said the controller, "in an effort to straighten out the city's finances and restore the confidence of the bankers in the city of Chicago."

The trio are Frank M. Gordon, vice president of the First National bank, George Pearson, vice president of the Continental Illinois company, investment affiliate of the Continental Illinois bank, and D. T. Richardson, vice president of the Foreman State corporation, investment affiliate of the Foreman State National bank.

The city received $5,000,000 more in taxes yesterday, bringing its total tax receipts up to $27,000,000 out of the total collections of $153,000,000 to date. The city will use the $27,000,000 to retire 1929 tax anticipation warrants, of which it issued $108,000,000.

Husband Comes to Aid of Wife Who Shot Him

When the case of Mrs. Della Carter, 44 years old, who shot her husband, Linn, on April 29 in his restaurant in the Rice hotel, was called yesterday before Judge Matthew D. Hartigan, Lieut. George De Mar of the Chicago avenue station, stepped forward. "Carter said he does not wish to prosecute because his wife was ill and didn't know what she was doing," he informed the court. Judge Hartigan continued the case pending a mental examination of Mrs. Carter by an alienist.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

LOUISVILLE, KY.

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

When you visit your physician for your periodic health examination, one of the very first things he asks you to do is to open your mouth wide, and to say "Ah." He is examining the delicate lining of your throat. "Ah!" There is not a man or woman who could even make this simple sound, if in the throat there were no Adam's Apple. For your Adam's Apple is your larynx—the voice box containing your vocal chords. And what a delicate piece of Nature's handiwork the Adam's Apple is. A slight cold—even a tiny particle lodged in the throat—and our voice often grows husky. In acute cases, we may even lose our voice for several days. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants—Reach for a LUCKY instead—remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that through its exclusive "TOASTING" process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder 20,679 American physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating. LUCKIES are always kind to your throat. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

GREATNESS BOWS TO COURAGE AT DEDICATION RITE

Open New Building for Child Convalescents.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

"Jean," the late Ogden Armour once said to Mrs. William J. Chalmers during the difficult first year of the Country Home for Convalescent Children, "when you need money for this home all you have to do is to bring people out to see the work it does. No other publicity is necessary."

It was so yesterday afternoon when Chicagoans famous in the fields of philanthropy, science, and finance went with Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers, leaders in the founding of the home, to take part in the dedication of its latest acquisition—the James Nelson Raymond building, which Mrs. Anna Louise Raymond has given as a memorial to her husband.

Great surgeons were there, and men of large affairs, and women of fashion. They were captivated—and humbled, too—by the spectacle of valiant cheerfulness on crutches and in carts—irksome carts in which some of the little convalescents have to lie for a whole year.

Laughter and Song Mark Visit.

But the humbled grownups heard no murmurs from the children. What they heard was laughter and song and what they saw was the manifestation of solicitous courtesy as children who are nearly well helped children who are not so well past swinging doors, through wards and corridors that were gay with flowers and out onto terraces where tulips and the lilacs are in bloom. They watched these children at their lessons and their play.

And so it came to pass that the assemblage of celebrities of science and social service and the university pundits on the scene was not so impressive as the lesson in fortitude and cheerfulness which those children were teaching. The celebrities themselves acknowledged that, and, casting aside their celebrity, they played happily with their little teachers.

Makes Cash Gift Also.

And, right in the midst of the dedication of the new $60,000 Raymond pavilion, the celebrities received a demonstration of the ardor in giving which lays hold of people when once they see the wonderful work in healing and in education which the Home does.

For not only did Mrs. Raymond, who could not attend the ceremonies because she was summoned to Detroit by the death of her sister, give the pavilion and its scientific equipment yesterday but, apparently as an afterthought, she gave $10,000 for the endowment of a bed in the new boys' ward as a further memorial to her husband.

Today the home has a $660,000 plant and $1,300,000 in endowments. Its patrons and the University of Chicago, to which the patrons presented it four years ago as a seat of healing and research, now want $300,000 more to insure its maintenance in perpetuity.

Hold Ceremony on Terrace.

The dedication was held on a terrace overlooking the fair fields and groves of Du Page county, thirty-five miles west of Chicago. Dean Gilkey of the University of Chicago prayed, thanking God for His best gift, "the love for children that Thou hast put into the hearts of men and women." Mrs. Chalmers, president of the home's board of managers, presented the new structure on behalf of Mrs. Raymond. Frederic Woodward, vice president of the university, accepted Mrs. Raymond's gift on behalf of the board of trustees of the home, of which he is president, and Dr. Nathaniel Allison, professor of orthopedic surgery at the university and chief surgeon at the home, spoke on the development of heliotherapy—sunshine cure—in the treatment of tubercular boned children—a method of treatment in which a year in the sunshine after the operation is essential to complete cure.

Children Attend Ceremony.

While the celebrities were speaking children, wide-eyed and understanding—for a child who has suffered much comprehends more things than we dream it does—looked on. Some were leaning on their crutches; some were sitting up in their beds, which had been wheeled onto the terrace. They made their contribution to the ceremonies and it was very touching. They uttered in concert their pledge to the flag and they sang the national anthem. The birds in a nearby grove joined in the caroling. The women on the terrace bent their heads as to a benediction and their eyes were wet with tears.

The gracious lesson of suffering that makes of its waiting and its pain a celestial song was being taught again.

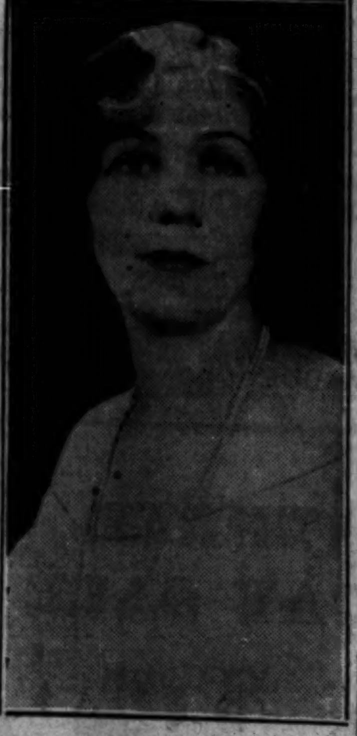
Acid Stomach Torture 4 Yrs. Ends It Fast!

"I suffered tortures with acid stomach for four years. During the past three weeks I have taken ACIDINE," says William Wilcox of Pasadena, California. "I have gained three pounds. Have had no trouble during this time. I have tried many medicines and all failed to help with the exception of ACIDINE."

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase that, in laboratory tests, digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness in acid conditions. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at your druggist. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not satisfied.

Radio Announcer's Wife Sues



MRS. GRAHAM M'NAMEE.
[G. Maillard Kesslere Photo.]

GRAHAM M'NAMEE.

Announcer Served

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Graham McNamee, radio announcer, said today he had been served in a suit for separation by his wife, the former Josephine Garrett.

Mrs. McNamee filed the action several weeks ago, McNamee said. He added that he did not know where his wife was, but that the separation was not by mutual consent.

"I was served about the first of May with papers in a separation suit brought by my wife," he asserted. "I don't know what charges she makes."

The papers were filed in Supreme court and have been sealed, it was learned. It had been reported the McNamees had separated, but the supposition was that Mrs. McNamee had gone somewhere on a visit.

They were married in May, 1921. McNamee met Miss Garrett, who was the daughter of a wealthy Bronxville, N. Y., family, when he was an obscure baritone soloist and she a soprano in the Bronxville Dutch Reformed church choir. It was her assistance, he said, which helped him most in his climb to prominence.

LA GUARDIA ASKS UNIVERSAL DRAFT IN TIME OF WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 20.—[Special.]—Pacifists and universal draft advocates had their day before the war policies commission today.

F. H. LA GUARDIA.

Absolute conscription of man power and materials in wartime without compensation, together with a "moratorium to stop all issuance of currency, take over all industry, and put all citizens on a ration basis," was urged by Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.].

"The one request I'd make," he said, "is that this commission in its report present a form of constitutional amendment that will give the government all the powers it needs in taking over property and nationalizing industry.

"You must nationalize every one, from Texas Guinan to J. P. Morgan. If you are going to make a system that will take all profits out of war you must be ruthless about it. That is better than to have the enormous profiteering that has gone on."

With his ideas carried to the fullest extent, Representative La Guardia said, all post-war compensation would be eliminated, including that paid to veterans, which he said now amounts to more than $700,000,000 a year.

SENATORS VOTE $107,800,000 TO IMPROVE ROADS

Elevated Highway Survey Promised Chicago.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The senate this afternoon passed the administration's appropriation bill allotting $107,800,000 to the highway department for its next two years. The bill has passed the house so that Gov. Emmerson's signature will make it a law.

The senate's passage followed a two hour debate that ended with killing an amendment to appropriate $5,000,000 for a section of an elevated highway in Chicago. The proponents of the amendment found consolation, however, in that administration floor leaders announced that Gov. Emmerson has promised them to devote the next two years to a survey and to preparing specifications for such superhighways in Chicago.

Ten Million for Widening.

The following allotments are made in the appropriation bill: $75,000,000 for construction of state bond issue roads, grade separation and large bridges; $10,000,000 for widening, $8,000,000 for construction and maintenance through cities; $12,300,000 for maintenance and policing, and $2,500,000 for refunds to counties.

"The governor gave me authority," said Senator Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep., Brookfield] "to tell the senate that he will make a careful survey and prepare specifications for building a superhighway not only for the west side but also for the northwest and southwest sides of Chicago. These plans, he said, will be submitted to the next session of the legislature for appropriations. His engineers advised him it will require two years to make the study. So as not to interfere with the administration's program, I'm not voting against the amendment."

Outsiders Back Project.

Two of the leading advocates of the elevated highway were from districts outside of Cook county. Senator Harold Kissinger [Rep., Aurora] presented the amendment, which was sponsored by the Chicago Motor club.

"No territory would receive a greater benefit from an adequate auto entrance into Chicago than the counties of Kane, Du Page, and De Kalb," he said. "Let's give some attention to the traffic problems of the 16 Illinois counties that contain 75 per cent of the state's population and pay 85 per cent of the state's total road bill."

"The governor has given his word," Senator Harris Wright [Rep., De Kalb], replied, "that he will have between $50,000 and $100,000 during the next two years to give attention to city traffic problems, especially Chicago's. I'm against the amendment."

Searcy for Elevated.

"Let's play fair," retorted Senator Earl B. Searcy [Rep., Springfield]. "About as many downstaters would be using an elevated highway into Chicago as would Chicago motorists. Furthermore, it is important that the state administration should build this improvement as an aid to Chicago's fight for a return of prosperity. I vote yea."

Senator Roy C. Woods [Rep., Chicago] pointed out that the cost of completing the $100,000,000 and the $60,000,000 bond issue systems will total 546 millions and that Chicago, which has not received a penny of construction work, will have to pay 209 millions as its portion of the bill. Senator Thomas Courtney [Dem., Chicago] emphasized that under the appropriation bill cities will receive less than 8 per cent of the total road expenditures during the next two years.

How Senators Voted.

The roll call on a motion to recall the appropriation bill for consideration of the amendment resulted in a vote of 15 yeas and 27 nays, as follows:

YEAS—Broderick, Courtney, Gillmeister, Graham, Kissinger, Kleiminski, Kline, Mason, Maypole, McDermott, Monroe, O'Grady, Searcy, Ward and Woods.

NAYS—Adair, Baker, Barbour, Barr, Bohrer, Carlson, Cuthbertson, Dunlap, Ewing, Finn, Gunning, Hamilton, Hanna, Huebsch, Lantz, Lee, Meents, Meyers, Michel, Mills, Paddock, Roberts, Serritella, Smith, Thompson, Wilson and Wright.

Earlier in the afternoon the senate committee on roads and highway transportation, by a vote of 17 to 6, killed a bill sponsored by the Automobile Club of Illinois to reduce the state's motor registration fee 50 per cent. There was also heat at this committee session.

LIMIT U. S. CONTROL OF BUSINESS, PLEA MADE TO EDITORS

DEAN HEILMAN.

"In the field of private competitive business there are limits to government regulation beyond which we cannot go," Dean Ralph E. Heilman of the school of commerce, Northwestern university, told members of the Inland Daily Press association yesterday. The association concluded a two day spring meeting in the Morrison hotel.

"The question which faces us now is: Will democracy abuse its advantages to put pet whims and fancies into effect, thereby developing a new tyranny?" he said. "Some legislators apparently believe they can repeal the law of gravity or that of supply and demand."

John W. Park, production manager of THE TRIBUNE, addressed the publishers in the afternoon. He spoke of the strides color advertising has taken in the last two years.

"The newspaper is on the threshold of a great and significant revolution," said Mr. Park. "On a not too distant tomorrow its physical appearance will be even more different from the newspaper of today than today's paper is different from that of our grandfather's time. We must prepare now for this fundamental development. We cannot profitably ignore the times' insistent 'call to the colors.'"

CIVIL SERVICE BOARD TO USE ALL ITS POWER

No Jobs to Put Out, Says Collins.

At the first meeting of the new civil service commission yesterday the three members had under consideration policies that will make the merit group a powerful factor in the administration of the city government during the next four years.

Some of the things brought out in the session were outlined by Richard J. Collins, president, who has been selected as the spokesman for the commission. While no definite stand was taken, Mr. Collins said, the commission sketched a program that will offer opportunities to make use of the broad powers of the commission.

Wants Proper Functioning.

"I will have no hesitancy," he said, "if I see that some department of the city is not operating along lines of good business principles, to turn that department upside down a half dozen times in an effort to make it function properly."

A broader aim of the new commission, Mr. Collins stated, will be to eliminate the necessity for making temporary appointments. By holding competitive examinations the commission hopes to set up eligible lists for all employé classifications under civil service.

No Jobs to Hand Out.

"There is one thing that I would like to have the public know," said Mr. Collins, "and that is that I have no jobs to hand out. I have been touched by the pleas of unemployed men for jobs, but there is nothing the commission can do. Along that line all we do is to certify to departments the men who stand highest on the eligible lists."

Woman Who Pricked Her Finger on Price Tag Dies

Bloomington, Ind., May 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Pearl Morris, 48, pricked her finger on the clip of the price tag thirteen weeks ago. She died today of blood poisoning.

CERMAK NAMES TWO MORE TO CITY POSITIONS

The appointments of John J. Meyers as acting harbormaster and of J. B. Loebner to the board of trustees of the public library were announced yesterday by Mayor Cermak.

Mr. Meyers formerly was an assistant superintendent of the county jail and is an aid of County Commissioner Charles H. Weber. Mr. Loebner is managing editor of the Daily Jewish Courier.

Attorney Otto F. Weiner was appointed yesterday as an assistant to Corporation Counsel Busch. Mr. Weiner, who lives at 1415 Farwell avenue, was sponsored by John D. Hayes, Democratic committeeman of the 49th ward. He will be engaged with Assistant Corporation Counsel William V. Daly in cases for the city growing out of violations of license ordinances.

ACCUSED POLICE KILLER TESTIFIES IN OWN DEFENSE

CRIMINAL COURT.

Charles Wilkinson and Joseph Brown, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Edward Howard and Joseph Solsen, robbery, sentenced to 1 year each at Pontiac reformatory by Judge Joseph Sabath.

"We quarreled over a woman and I shot Evenow," said John Senew, 21 years old, to a jury yesterday, thus offering a defense to offset the state's accusation that Walter Evenow was shot in an attempted robbery during which Policeman William Rumbler was killed. Senew and Evenow confessed killing Policeman Rumbler when arrested and are now on trial in Judge Charles A. Williams' court. The state is asking the death penalty for them.

The confessions of the two were read to the jury on Tuesday. It was the defense turn to present testimony yesterday and Senew walked to the witness chair. The confessions were obtained by third degree methods, he asserted.

According to the prosecution, Policeman Rumbler was shot in a revolver battle with three robbers in a soft drink parlor at 3174 Milwaukee avenue on Oct. 12, 1930. Evenow was arrested soon afterwards when his wound was being treated by a doctor in a flat at 3032 Erie street. Senew was arrested later in Columbus, O., and a third man named by them is being hunted. A verdict in the case is expected today.

REPORT ASSAILS INMATES' FOOD AT INFIRMARY

County Board Is Told of Insanitary Conditions.

Insanitary conditions, inadequate food, and poor management at the Oak Forest infirmary were criticised yesterday in the report of the Chicago Dietetic association on its survey of the infirmary requested by the special committee appointed by the Cook county board to investigate the institution.

The committee, named by Mayor Cermak while president of the county board, was created after the Chicago Federation of Labor several weeks ago reported the existence of deplorable conditions at the infirmary. A complete report of the county board's committee is to be made in about three weeks, Commissioner Frank J. Kasper, chairman of the infirmary committee, said yesterday, meanwhile withholding the detailed report of the dietetic group.

Not Sufficient Food.

The group, consisting of several expert dietitians, reported that inmates of the infirmary were given meager amounts of foods, served improperly and amid obnoxious conditions.

Specific instances were designated, such as the use of only one pound of coffee to six and one-half gallons of water, instead of the usual ratio of one pound to three or less gallons of water. The dietitians said not enough meat, poultry, cheese, eggs, milk, fruits, and vegetables were used, and objected to the system of serving the inmates, who, under existing arrangements, are given only [illegible] minutes in which to enter the dining hall, eat, and depart.

Under this arrangement, the inmates eat in three groups of about [illegible] each. The first group, the report said, is hurried out after its meal and the second group is hurried in before there has been sufficient time to wash the dishes, clear the tables, and make ready for them. As a result the later groups are forced to eat on tables spotted with waste food, using utensils that have not been properly washed, with open garbage containers at the tables.

Changes Are Recommended.

Recommendations were made for better planning, supervision, and control of the infirmary, under the direction of an administrative dietitian.

Commissioner Kasper said the county board recognized the justification of some of the criticisms and complaints, but said the county has been seriously handicapped by lack of funds.

GARY PLANNING JUBILEE ON ITS 25TH BIRTHDAY

Celebrating its growth from a waste-land of dunes and swamps to a thriving metropolis of more than 100,000 persons in the brief span of 25 years, the city of Gary is sponsoring a 25th anniversary jubilee to take place June 4 to 7.

Patterned somewhat after the Chicago Jubilee, the Gary celebration is to include historical parades and exhibits, carnival nights, lawn festivals, military drills, and receptions in honor of the Gary pioneers who founded and had parts in the phenomenal growth of the steel city.

The Gary Commercial club and chamber of commerce is sponsoring the jubilee, with the Gary works of Illinois Steel company and the various other industrial and business concerns of the suburb participating.

U. S. Plans Army Base Cuts; 53 Stations Are Affected

Washington, D. C., May 20.—[Special.]—Plans for the abandonment wholly or in part of fifty-three surplus forts, camps and reservations in the interest of economy and efficiency were announced today by Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley. Chanute field, Ill., ordered abandoned by Mr. Hurley last winter, is included in a list of ten stations slated for complete disposal either by sale or transfer to other departments. The appraised value of the fifty-three stations was given as $22,000,000.

A total of twenty-four posts, harbor defense forts, camps and landing fields, a majority of which are now unoccupied, are listed by the war department for disposal as no longer useful. A total of 845 officers and 4,536 enlisted men are now located on the total fifty-three stations which are to be curtailed.

Future Savings Seen.

Although the direct actual savings will not amount to probably more than a million dollars annually, the department anticipates that many millions in repairs and new buildings would be saved eventually by disposing of this surplus property at once.

Historic Indian forts built to combat a menace that no longer exists as well as frontier forts and sea coast fortifications established when the nation was young are included in the fifty-three stations where military activities are to be curtailed. Among those which are expected to arouse a storm of congressional opposition before being finally abandoned were listed Fort Lincoln, N. D.; Fort Missoula, Mont.; Fort Eustis, Va.; Fort D. A. Russell, Tex., and Chanute Field.

Postal Reduction Next.

At the same time that the war department was outlining its plans for eliminating a part of its surplus real estate holdings, the White House announced that ways and means of cutting down the size of the annual post-office department deficit would be discussed at the Rapidan fishing camp next Saturday.

Postmaster General Brown and several of his assistants have been invited by the President to spend the week-end at the President's summer white house. Last year's postal deficit was $96,000,000, and the prospective deficit for this year is $140,000,000.

Whether all the stations mentioned in the war department orders today actually will be closed will depend upon the success of the White House in withstanding the congressional pressure which is certain to follow today's announcement.

The list of posts proposed for complete disposal contains the following stations now occupied: Fort Brown, Tex., Fort Eustis, Va., the army's railway gun post and present home of the army's first mechanized force; Fort Hunt, Va.; Camp Garry J. Jones, Ariz.; Camp Stephen D. Little, Ariz., and Miller Field, N. Y., in addition to stations enumerated above.

Efficiency Sought.

"The abandonment of these posts," the department said, "is influenced by reasons of military efficiency as well as economy. The small regular army must be distributed so as to enable it to perform its peace time missions in training our citizen components. Several of the posts listed above are of temporary construction and if retained would involve the war department in large expenditures of funds to make them habitable. Certain ones have long outlived their usefulness. In this connection it must be remembered that strategic locations of garrisons against foreign aggression under modern conditions of rapid transportation have ceased to be of any special value."

Begin Inquiry on Poison Charge; Delay Funeral

The coroner's office yesterday was conducting an examination on the body of George Zawojowski, 67 years old, 4913 West 31st street, Cicero, to determine if he died of poisoning. Zawojowski's funeral was halted Tuesday when a complaint was made to the coroner's office suggesting poisoning. An inquest into the death was postponed yesterday, pending a report from Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist.

COUNTY READY TO ISSUE BONDS FOR POOR RELIEF

Miss Amelia Sears, member of the county board, yesterday characterized the passage of the Donahue poor relief bill by the legislature as "the biggest thing Cook county has ever done."

The bill, authorizing the Cook county board to issue $2,000,000 in bonds for poor relief without a referendum providing it has paid out $500,000 for poor relief, became a law Tuesday without Gov. Emmerson's signature.

The county now owes a total of $1,219,613 which it has spent for poor relief under the bureau of public welfare direction, from Dec. 1, 1930 to April 30, 1931. Within a few days $500,000 will be available from the sale of new tax warrants to take up that amount of welfare intebtedness according to Assistant Deputy Controller M. J. O'Connor, thus qualifying the county to issue the $2,000,000 bonds.

Use Half This Year.

The $2,000,000 is to be regarded as a two years' appropriation, half of which will be used this year. "We hope that we will not need to sell the other million dollars' worth of bonds next year," said Miss Sears. "It all depends on whether working men are working next winter. So far we have seen no evidence of an increase in work."

The number of new cases or families accepted within the city of Chicago during the month of March, however, was 5,395, as compared to 6,125 in February of this year, and 7,765 in January.

List Aid to Families.

A comparison of the number of families added monthly by years may be seen in the following table compiled by the bureau of public welfare, headed by Joseph L. Moss:

	1927.	1928.	1929.	1930.	1931.
January	6,255	8,695	6,146	5,814	22,624
February	6,680	9,141	5,961	5,376	24,394
March	6,734	8,776	5,471	6,058	26,684
April	4,890	6,613	3,919	5,359	23,000

The fact that the number of cases aided in April had decreased 3,684 from that of the previous month was attributed to the arrival of warm weather and the granting of veterans' bonuses, according to Miss Sears.

Expenditures for food, coal, and shoes for the first three months of the current fiscal year, beginning Dec. 1, 1930, approximated an ordinary 12 months' expenditure under normal conditions. Following is a table of expenditures for relief for both city and county towns:

December, 1930	$ 194,428
January, 1931	283,677
February, 1931	273,828
March, 1931	306,100
April, 1931	191,879
Total	$1,219,613

Expenditures dropped $108,000 in April, and probably will drop a little more in May, it was predicted by Miss Sears.

ROB TWO IN TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

Two young women employés of the Western Union Telegraph office at 4744 Madison street were robbed of $100 by two bandits yesterday. The victims were Miss Helen Benson, manager, and Miss Elizabeth Kleeman, operator.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S LAST CHANCE.

The amendment to the state's road appropriation bill which would set aside $5,000,000 for an elevated highway into Chicago from the west has been presented to the senate. The measure immediately encountered opposition from the administration's floor leaders.

In its own interest, we should suppose, the administration would support rather than oppose the measure. This session of the legislature has been marked by a steady onslaught upon the cities. Thus far, none of the important legislation asked by the cities has been passed and none of the measures opposed on behalf of the urban majority has been defeated. The squires have been running the steam roller and they have run it without pity, remorse or, for that matter, political savvy. In consequence they have raised a body of opposition not only in Cook county but in many of the other urban centers which will turn on the rural machine and eventually wreck it.

The opposition to the elevated highway is the perfect symbol of downstate's attitude toward the metropolitan area. Chicago will contribute no less than $44,000,000 to the road fund of $107,000,000 in the next two years and, as the squires have apportioned the money, Chicago will receive in direct benefits hardly more than $3,000,000. It is not as if Chicago had received the major portion of the road funds in previous years. Chicago has always been slighted. Its money has always been taken for use elsewhere in the state where the need for highway improvements was far less pressing. The motorists of Chicago for all the tens of millions which they have contributed to the Illinois highway system, have not a cent's worth of pavement within the city to show for it. The present administration has taken the position that $3,000,000 is all that Chicago is entitled to in the next two years.

The facts are simple, easily proved and easily understood. They will count heavily with the voters. The administration can avoid incurring the enmity of many thousands of voters if it supports the appropriation for the elevated highway. The $5,000,000 will not wholly right the balance, but at least it will deprive the opposition to the administration of one of its most telling arguments.

MEGALOMANIA IN GRANT PARK.

The legislature has been asked to authorize the construction of a 1,600 foot tower as a feature of the World's Fair. The tower would rise in Grant park to the south of Soldiers' field. There is talk of erecting the tower as a part of a huge convention hall.

These proposals have little support in Chicago. Any money spent on the tower would be wholly wasted, and, needless to say, the cost would be stupendous. The conception is the product of a megalomaniac frenzy. Nothing more alien to the needs and desires of Chicago or to the purposes for which parks have been acquired could be imagined.

The plan of erecting another great convention hall in the park is almost as absurd. Chicago now has the largest hall in the world, the Stadium on the west side. It is large enough for all purposes and it is dark for many weeks throughout the year. It is more accessible than the proposed lake front hall would be. There is no need for two such halls in Chicago and, if there were need, it is questionable whether the second building should be erected on park land. Certainly the taxpayers did not build Grant park with the intention of having it used for building sites.

THE NEW CIVIL SERVICE BOARD.

With the acceptance by Mr. Richard J. Collins of the mayor's appointment to the presidency of the city civil service board the new makeup of that body is now complete. There is no more important agency of government in the city than this board. It is the key of the situation. We cannot have reliable and efficient police service or competent and honest administration of the city's affairs without a civil service board whose integrity can be depended upon. The best intentions of the commissioner of police, of the superintendent of public works, of all the mayor's aids, even of the mayor himself, can be defeated by a civil service board which is slack or disloyal. It was the degradation of this body that began the régime of waste and demoralization of public service achieved by Thompsonism. Its restoration is an essential measure of Mayor Cermak's program of government reform.

The new board's personnel gives promise of the restoration of the civil service to integrity and efficiency and will have the strong support of the community in its effort to put the administration of our city government upon a basis of competence and responsibility. That Mayor Cermak has chosen its members with care is the best indication of his purpose to give Chicago good government.

MR. CAPPER RESUMES HIS WITCH HUNT.

From Washington it is announced that plans are already being made for the reintroduction of the Capper bill in the next congress. The bill will be changed in minor particulars, but otherwise will be substantially the same measure which died in committee in the last session.

The bill is intended to give the secretary of agriculture a far greater measure of control over the board of trade and other exchanges dealing in farm products than he now enjoys. He would be authorized to retain a continual veto over the rules of the exchanges and to modify them as he sees fit. He would even have the right to say how much wheat any individual might buy or sell.

The passage of that bill would be so serious a blow to the farmers that it is almost incredible that congressmen who profess to speak for farm interests could for a moment consider it. In justice to Mr. Capper and his friends it must be said that they are not deliberately setting out to injure the farmers. Mr. Capper is merely refusing to think. He has fallen into the easiest of human errors, the desire to find a scapegoat. He has gone witch hunting. He has found that farm income has fallen and he thinks he has found who it is that has been casting the evil eye. He proposes to cure the sickness by destroying the witch.

Every one in the department of agriculture knows that grain prices are low because the supply, in hand and prospective, is larger than it usually is and at the same time, because of business depression, demand is somewhat reduced. That is the whole story. The members of the board of trade and their rules are no more responsible for low prices than the barometer is responsible for the trend of the weather. The barometer merely registers the atmospheric pressure and the board of trade merely registers the interplay of supply and demand.

The board of trade is not intent upon ruining the farmer, but if the board of trade is subjected to hampering regulation, buyers will be driven from the market and the farmers will suffer. A delicate and intricate machine, built up over a long period of years for marketing the farmers' crops, will be wrecked. No other marketing machine as efficient or as economical will take its place. Mr. Capper and the secretary of agriculture can't improvise a substitute.

Mr. Capper presumably expects his bill, if passed, to raise the price of wheat. It can't be done. The price of wheat is not made by board of trade rules. If it were, the same rules are responsible for present prices and prices twice as high.

The bill is designed to protect what the author calls "legitimate hedging," or insurance. That is the sale of wheat in a future market by the elevator owner or exporter, as soon as he takes wheat from the farmer. Unless these hedging sales are to depress prices unduly, there must be a broad speculative interest in wheat, ready to absorb the sales as they are offered. If the Capper bill drives speculators out of the market it will drive out not only the shorts but the longs as well. The number of successful grain speculators is not large and no speculator is always a bear or always a bull. Mr. Capper cannot drive out the professional sellers without at the same time driving out the buyers. They are the same men. They may be longs today and shorts tomorrow, and when Mr. Capper goes witch hunting for them he is in reality aiming a blow at the farmers at a time when they are little able to bear it.

Editorial of the Day

SENATOR BLAINE'S MARE'S NEST.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The postmaster general's rejoinder to Senator Blaine's statement that the postoffice department "slipped it over congress" when it obtained congressional sanction to change the site of the new federal building in Chicago was categorical, uncontrovertible and caustic. Chapter and verse were cited in it to prove Senator Blaine guilty of "an unmitigated falsehood." The change of site in Chicago was proposed by the treasury department and was officially before the Seventy-first congress seven weeks before adjournment. Senator Blaine, finally, was invited by the postmaster general to keep his nose out of matters that do not properly concern the committee of which he is chairman, which was created to investigate postal leases.

Criticism is a recognized prerogative of parties in opposition. As long as it is constructive it benefits the country by keeping the party in power toeing the line of probity. A certain amount of snooping can be justified on the ground that it is necessary to discover a basis for legitimate criticism; but Caraway and his lobby investigation committee, Gerald Nye and his campaign fund investigating committee, and Senator Blaine and his committee to investigate postal leases have carried snooping to lengths and into quarters that cannot be justified on that ground. All the world hates a snooper whose motives are no loftier than personal or partisan advantage.

A survey made by the postoffice department last September showed that the government was paying $17,000,000 a year in rentals for 6,500 buildings for the postal service. The balanced rentals equaled 10.5 per cent on the investments, as against 4 per cent at which the government could borrow money and buy or build its own postoffices on tax free sites. These figures indicate the amount the government could save by owning the buildings it now leases. The world war came just in time to force the suspension of a movement to acquire buildings outright for the postoffice department. At the same time the parcels post experienced a great expansion. The conjunction of these two factors explains why the government was forced so deeply into postal leases, which it is now trying to escape from by renewing leases only with option of purchase as fast as congress will provide the money.

The tremendous number of "deals" which the government had to make with private owners throughout the country apparently struck the opposition factions in the senate as offering a fruitful field in which to dig for instances of crookedness. They have found none yet. The postmaster general states that Senator Blaine "has produced no evidence of irregularity in a single one of the more than 12,000 leases which have been in force in the period covered by his inquiry." That is very creditable to the postoffice department. This disappointing futility of his search may explain Senator Blaine's resort to wild and groundless allegations and insinuations in an effort to cover his retreat and salve his discomfiture.

IN THIS CORNER, SOAKEM SINCLAIR, THE FITIN' AUTHUR!

And now Sinclair Lewis has got into a fight with the library building at Yale. Mr. Lewis says he had a sudden rush of generosity to the head and dashed into the library at Yale and offered to present it with his Nobel prize medal. The library didn't get at all excited, and instead of bursting into happy tears seems to have told Sinclair to go wash his face. And maybe it hit him once or twice and he kicked it in the doorjamb. Anyhow, Sinclair put his medal right back in his pocket and left the Yale library flat on its back. Goodness, what will Sinclair fight next?

"SIX U. S. DEBBIES Meet King."—Chiamerican. Help! Help! Help! Likewise, assistance! This is truly awful! We used to think that "kiddies" was the most horrible crime ever committed on the English language. But, "debbies"! Oh, it is too revolting, too disgusting for words. "Debbies"! Hel-lup! Hel-lup! Hel-lup!

"BLAST COFFER DAM in Illinois Waterway." —The Trib. A very scientific thing which should cause one and all to ponder deeply. But Laura read it and burst out laughing and we asked her why and she said: "Because it reminds me of the teacher who told one of her pupils to write a story using the word 'coffer dam' and he wrote: 'My auntie had a cold and I thought she was goin' to coffer dam head off.'" What's the use of printing the big serious things of life anyhow?

NOW, THEY'RE JUST WARNED.

"Bootleggers Warned of Prison by Federal Judge."—Afternoon newspaper. Warned of prison! Great Scott! Judging from the sad recitals of Max, our favorite hootch purveyor, bootleggers spend all their lives, except a few swift fleeting happy hours now and then, in great, gloomy prison walls.

Why, that's the reason Max thinks he ought to charge more for his goods. "You should worry," says Max, "about the stuff costing two bits more than last time. Look at me a goin' to jail every day or two just to keep all youse guys in likker. It's a hard life. I hain't got no pull like these fellas what sell California grapejuice, or grape compensation, or whatever they call that stuff. They take it around in little barrels and old John Law can't touch 'em, in fact Uncle Sam gives 'em dough to run the racket. But me; if they find a pint of gin on me what I'm taking to a customer they want to shoot me at sunrise, or they pull comedy stuff, such as 'Why wait for sunrise; do it now!'"

'Tis indeed a hard life and Max would no doubt get a good, hearty laugh out of that "Bootleggers Warned of Prison" thing, only he's in jail right now. Sez he.

Sir: I am becoming petulant about the weather man; for some months he has been smearing his prophecies with inaccurate words. His endeavor has been to make "possible" a synonym of "probable." Not infrequently he forecasts probable showers for Illinois and possible showers for Indiana. Nearly every day he makes use of the clause "possibly showers." My sixteen pound dictionary declares "possible" and "possibly" mean "extremely improbable." When old probabilities talks that way how am I going to know when possible showers are probable? HEY! Yuh gotta learn how to back! The auto drivers' license bill has passed the senate and will probably go through the house. Then if Gov. Emmerson, the w. k. vetoer, doesn't do his stuff, it will be a law, and you've got to know how to go right and left and back and stop when the red light's on an' everything.

WHAT SAY THE TAXPAYERS?

IN THE late summer of 1928 the city of Olean, N. Y., had an epidemic of waterborne typhoid. The water supply ordinarily is good, being chlorinated and properly watched over.

They have two sources of water. From one of these water is carried under the bed of a polluted river. The pipe in this river bed broke and polluted river water was sucked in. In a short while the leak was discovered and the pipe was shut off, never to be used again. This story has been told in this column and nothing is gained by repeating it.

However, more than two years after the epidemic, Dr. Dean supplies some additional information which it is well that public officials and taxpayers should have.

It has been established in law that communities that sell polluted water to their cities are financially responsible for whatever disease that water may cause. Olean had a population that year of 21,599. The reporter does not give the values of the taxable property. In order to settle the claims that grew out of the epidemic the city had to bond itself for $425,000. These bonds run for twenty-five years. Therefore, interest and bonds will run much more than a million dollars. This figures a bonding of the average citizen of about twenty dollars and a payment by the average citizen of much more than fifty dollars, assuming that this bond issue will pay all the bills. They have already paid out $370,000 and twenty-four claims remain unsettled. Of these, one is for a death and five are chronic carriers who are asking for damages, one for $75,000.

Assuming that the present bond issue will be sufficient to meet all the bills, the average cost to the community for each case that recovered will be $1,550. One railroad conductor, 49 years old, collected $16,566. The average cost to the community for the cases that died was $3,200. A 72 year old physician cost the community $714 for nursing, hospital, and funeral expenses. A 56 year old train dispatcher cost them $11,550. The expense of the cases that died totaled $80,000; of those that lived, $345,000. Twelve chronic carriers have not been settled with.

Since the epidemic the city has spent $125,000 additional on the water plant. The chamber of commerce estimates the direct loss to the business interests as the result of trade diverted, inefficiency of labor, decreased expenditures of residents, as $200,000. There were 248 cases and 25 deaths. Of these, 218 were residents of Olean and 18 were from the country outside the city. The balance was from more remote places.

These figures do not include the cost of health department work, of work by Red Cross and other agencies, the cost of service rendered by the state, nor expenses to families and individuals, nor loss of wages, nor earning power except where this has been made a matter of award of damages.

TESTS FOR SYPHILIS.

Mrs. M. P. writes:

1. Is a blood test with negative results positive proof of the absence of syphilis?

2. Is syphilis communicable during all its stages?

3. Is the spinal fluid test dangerous?

REPLY:

1. No.
2. No.
3. No.

DUE TO RINGWORM.

Mrs. A. S. writes: For a period of four months I have had underneath my foot a form of blister which is inflamed and itchy.

What is this due to and how can it be remedied?

REPLY:

The name of the condition is pompholyx. Most cases of pompholyx are due to ringworm. The street name for ringworm of the foot is "athlete's foot."

Many cases require physician's services. Wearing well ventilated, cool shoes and light socks helps somewhat.

BLOOD PRESSURE RIGHT.

G. J. writes: My wife saw a physician a few days ago in order to ascertain the condition of her blood pressure. He reported that her blood pressure ranged from 118 to 122. She is 44 years old, healthy, never sick, a good appetite, the mother of three grown children. Is that blood pressure right?

REPLY:

It is.

RELATES ONLY TO BEAUTY.

A Reader writes: When some people smile the upper lip draws back over the gums. The teeth seem to be shorter than other people's. I have heard that this was a feature belonging more to the ignorant class. Is this true?

REPLY.

It probably means that the upper lip is too short. The upper jaw may be unduly large. This is related to beauty, but not to knowledge.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

NO IMPLIED WARRANTY.

Chicago, May 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About a year and a half ago my husband and I purchased furniture on credit. This consisted of a four room outfit, including a stove. The stove was not listed in our payment book. We didn't like the stove when we bought it and made three complaints about it not baking and gas escaping. The proprietors did not bother with us at all. We have $26 more to pay on the furniture, excluding the stove. The furniture company has requested us to bring the book in so they can mark the stove on the book. If we pay the remaining $26 can they hold the rest of the furniture if we should return the stove? S. F.

Sec. 15 of the sales act provides that there is no implied warranty of quality except: [1] Where the buyer makes known his particular purpose and relies on the seller's skill. 2 Where the goods are bought by description from a dealer. [3] If the buyer has examined there is no implied warranty as to visible defects. If you cannot prove an express or implied warranty the maxim "caveat emptor" would apply, which means, in substance, that the buyer takes "as is."

TRUST DEED.

Chicago, May 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On March 1, 1920, I signed a trust deed in the amount of $24,621 against my farm of 243 acres in favor of a certain bank which has since closed. The paper was drawn for 5 years but never renewed because a second mortgage was put on back of this first lien. Interest and taxes are all paid to date. 1. Can holder of notes to this trust deed foreclose when I notified trustee in 1926 that I was ready to supply other money and holder of notes has written me that all was satisfactory? 2. Can this case be appealed in court? 3. Can receiver hold this property in his charge for many years and under what circumstances?

R. L. S.

1. Such agreement to pay would not be a defense if you were not ready to carry out the agreement when the notes came due.

2. We are not in a position to say whether you have good grounds for appeal, if that is what you mean to ask. You should have been represented by an attorney in such proceedings and such attorney would be in a better position to advise you than we are.

3. This would be possible. If you desire further information, please state the facts on which your question arises.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 21, 1915.

ROME.—Italy took the first step toward entry into the European war on the side of the allies. By a vote of more than 6 to 1 of the 508 deputies present at the reopening of parliament, full powers were granted to the government to deal with all public matters after declaration of war with Austria and authorizing the necessary extraordinary expenditures. It is believed the cabinet will send an ultimatum to Vienna at once. Pope Benedict has cast the weight of his influence on the side of Italy. Martial law was proclaimed throughout all of the northern provinces and Gen. Cadorna, chief of staff, is at Vicenza to take full command of the 1,700,000 soldiers now in the north. The war office formally published a manifesto placing all railroads under military control.

BERLIN.—Miss Jane Addams arrived in this city to present to the foreign office resolutions adopted at the women's peace conference held recently at the league. She expects to have a conference before Minister von Jagow and possibly to see Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg. She lunched yesterday with United States Ambassador Gerard.

MAY 21, 1901.

CHICAGO.—Charles Gates Dawes' candidacy for the United States senate, to succeed William E. Mason, was formally announced. He has been viewed for some time as a senatorial possibility. His prominence in national politics dates from the presidential campaign of 1896, when he was executive head of the McKinley forces in Illinois.

EDINBURGH.—Andrew Carnegie has given $10,000,000 to provide education in the Edinburgh, Glasgow, St. Andrews, and Aberdeen universities for Scotch students only.

CHICAGO.—Business, professional, and society men, some of them millionaires, have volunteered to become inspectors of street cleaning in precincts of the Second ward. Among them are Nelson Morris, O. S. Lyford, Dr. J. E. Stubbs, H. G. Foreman, F. G. Logan, Charles R. Crane, M. D. Follansbee, Clarence I. Peck, W. Scott Thurber, Dr. W. E. Quine, and C. J. Eisner.

WASHINGTON.—Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine, a married woman 32 years old, confessed she shot and killed James Seymour Ayres, a young census employé, in his rooms in the Kenmore hotel early in the morning of May 15 and thus partly cleared up what has been a remarkable murder mystery. She declared that in a struggle with Ayres in his room a revolver was discharged, the bullet taking effect in Ayres' body, and that she then left the room by the fire escape and went to her own apartment in the hotel. Police are not disposed to accept her version of the tragedy. She said that on the night of the killing Ayres went to her room wrapped only in an overcoat and asked her to give him some medicine for a cold. Then, she said, she accompanied him to his room and the fatal quarrel followed. After going to her room she washed her bloodstained clothing, and the next morning appeared at breakfast apparently the most unconcerned person in the room.

BUFFALO.—The Pan-American exposition was formally dedicated. Vice President Roosevelt, Gov. Woodruff, and Senators Lodge and Hanna were among the distinguished officials who took part in the ceremonies.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 21, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—The extra session of the United States senate adjourned sine die today. The event of the last day's session was the defeat of the nomination of William E. Chandler to be solicitor general of the United States. His nomination was rejected principally by Democratic senators.

NEW YORK.—The sale of the revised New Testament which began today has been simply enormous. At precisely 6 o'clock this morning J. K. Funk & Co. sold the first single copy of the Oxford edition which was disposed of at retail. Its purchaser had been waiting patiently since daybreak.

CHICAGO.—In view of the publication entire of the revised New Testament in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of Sunday, May 22, and in anticipation of the enormous demand certain to exist, newsdealers throughout the country will do well to send in their orders at the earliest possible moment. Not a chapter or verse will be omitted. It will be printed in large, clear type, so that it will be perfectly legible and old as well as young can see what the revision amounts to. THE TRIBUNE is the only newspaper in America that will present the New Testament as a whole, and the paper will be sold tomorrow at the usual price of five cents.

EFFICIENCY OF GOVERNMENT.

Chicago, May 16.—This morning's editorial, "The Nation in Wartime" is a sample of much downright dishonest argument in reference to government operation of utilities and industry in and out of wartime.

The assumption in such argument [and it is nothing more than an assumption] is always that the government is inefficient, while private initiative is efficient.

Private plants fell down gloriously during the last world war, as they have in every war. It has been the private plants that have furnished rotten meat and paper soled shoes at profiteer prices.

Private operation of the railroads prior to our entering the last war failed utterly and forced the government to take over their management, after which they functioned poorly, but better than before, as I know from personal experience as a shipper during that time.

Your argument is warped and twisted, and will not analyze. Basically, government is either efficiently run or it isn't; it is honest or dishonest. The same may be said of private business. If, as you assume, all honesty and a efficiency, relatively, resides in private business, then why not turn the whole government and machinery of war over to private contractors? Or, to put the question another way, admitting the fact that business interests own our government—lock, stock and barrel—just why is it such a mess?

The only answer is that your premises are just plain, dishonestly stated. Government would be and is honest and more efficient than private interests so long as private business keeps its nose out.

HERMAN SLAM.

SAVINGS FOR AN EDUCATION.

Chicago, May 15.—Will some one please tell me what the banks mean when they say save for your child's future, start an educational fund? My girl has been saving all her pennies, nickels and dimes for fourteen years, in fact, since the day she was born, and now when she gets where she can use it the bank closes.

I am her sole support and work for a living, so please tell me what chances one has for the future. I am more than anxious to know. What will our children think of our banking system when their savings are wiped out like they are today? MRS. HANNAH STUART.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT.

Chicago, May 16.—I would like to take this opportunity to answer Mr. H. A. Wiley as to Gov. Franklin Roosevelt's aligning himself with Tammany Hall. If his having dismissed the charges against Mayor Walker is so understood by some people, it certainly is not by all of us. We who have lived in New York and know Gov. Roosevelt believe that he acted with the fairness and sense of justice which his high office as governor calls for and which is characteristic of the man. The stand which he took may, as Mr. Wiley thinks, cause him to lose some votes, but he should not, and did not, allow himself to be influenced by vote losing nor vote getting. I for one believe that his decision was fair and impartial.

B. W.

REDUCING OVERHEAD.

Chicago, May 17.—The proper procedure to start reducing taxes is first to give all the city and government employés a reduction of 10 per cent in salary. A saving of approximately $10,000,000 could be made. Secondly, by eliminating unproductive employés there would be another saving of about $10,000,000. Employés of commercial, industrial and business enterprises have already been presented with from 10 per cent to 15 per cent reduction in salary and another 5 per cent is anticipated. The necessity in making these reductions is to reduce overhead and pay a return in dividends to the investors. So why not have our government reduce overhead? Why make exceptions?

JOHN CONNOLLY.

LAST YEAR'S LICENSE.

Chicago, May 18.—I am one of the vicious car owners who have not bought their 1931 licenses. Of course I have worked for five months, what's the difference? Money grows on [illegible] other car owners feel as I do [illegible] take their old licensed [illegible] assure Mr. Cermak it [illegible] driving. TEACHERS IN POLITICS.

Chicago, May 18.—In correction of a statement in your editorial of May [illegible] entitled "Stewing in Their Own Juice" the teacher unions of Chicago wish to inform you that they are not members of any other organizations affiliated with labor, and represent Chicago teachers of every rank.

In the nineteen years since their form of organization began, they have never indorsed any political candidate for any office.

President, Federation of Women High School Teachers.
AGNES B. CLOHESY,
President, Elementary Teachers' Union.
KATE A. KRAUSE,
President, Board of Education Playground Teachers' Union.

PERSONALLY ADDRESSED.

Chicago, May 14.—Do you think your editorial about teachers "Stewing in Their Own Juice" was fair or kind? Perhaps you don't know that the federation issued thousands of personally addressed letters throughout the city before the election urging its members not to support Thompson, but Cermak. Perhaps you don't know that teachers vote as individuals and not as a group. Their home lives, the political affiliations of members of their families and friends and many other personal reasons make group voting impossible. You certainly do know that we are being punished as a group for the ill advised letter of an individual sent out before the election, the penalty of which is far reaching.

DOWNSTATE'S REACTIONS.

Chicago, Ill., May 15.—Doesn't THE TRIBUNE feel ashamed to blame downstate for the so-called "Taken from Chicago," as depicted in a front page cartoon? It's a relief if you can blame somebody else for not being able to pay its bills and its rotten streets; for it is everything till the very name of Chicago is graft, crime, corruption [illegible] small, cheap stuff to shift responsibility elsewhere.

The only thing worth while in your paper is the "Voice of the People" section, where one can get a few facts and news.

FREDERICK J. [illegible]

UNLICENSED BUSINESS.

Chicago, May 18.—It has been my good fortune to deal with men in all lines of business in the loop, and the number of men actually doing business without a license could, if caught, pay up a good part of the tax that is rightfully due the city.

RUSSIANS STARVE IN CAUCASUS 'MID BUMPER CROPS

90% of Live Stock Killed by Severe Winter.

BY HENRY WALES.

BARENTS SEA
SIBERIA
TURKEY
CASPIAN SEA

ROSTOV-ON-DON, U. S. S. R., April 24.—[By Mail.]—The North Caucasus has experienced the worst winter in 10 years. It was snowed in for [illegible] days and was beneath the blast of the roaring east wind from the Caspian for a month more.

In some districts 90 per cent of the live stock perished during the blizzard and afterward, and the terrain is dotted with bleaching skeletons of horses, cows, sheep, and swine.

Thus the peasant population, naturally antipathetic to collectivization and all other reforms, faces the coming season in a bitter, but apathetic mood, resentful at the pooling of their private patches of land into a common area, and ever mindful of the food shortage they are experiencing despite the bumper grain crop of last autumn.

Finds Kulak Homes Vacant.

I have traversed a large area of newly formed collective farms, including numerous hamlets and a number of relatively large towns, investigating conditions on the "kolhoz" and the situation of the peasants thereon. In every community there were vacant or burned houses, formerly the homes of the hated kulaks, now disfranchised and expropriated, shipped to the north timber country or the cotton plantations of Turkestan or the remote regions of Siberia.

I drove through the country over hard, sunbaked trails, the black earth packed dry as tinder by the perpetual wind blowing from east to west, day and night, endlessly. Occasionally we had to get out and wade across shallow streams to lighten the car and let the chauffeur jam through with all his power. Sometimes we had to alight and climb out of hollows while the automobile slowly ground its way to the top. We had to gamble on the strength of rickety old bridges and flirt with disaster in bogs and mires.

Tractors rumbled along dragging ploughs, drills, seeders, and harrows in the fields, or stood marooned on the vast steppe, broken down and waiting for a repair man to start them going. Oxen yoked to rakes and ancient ploughs plodded alongside the caterpillars. Even camels, gigantic, one humped creatures, strode majestically along dragging the heavy peasant carts or hitched to agricultural implements.

People Worn and Tired.

The people were worn and tired looking, the adults thin and undernourished, and the children had an unhealthy look from their restricted diet, confined almost exclusively to cabbage soup and bread. Clad in ragged clothing, they live in one story, one room baked mud shacks, roofed with thatch, stretched out in a long line along the road.

The poor condition of the stock also attracted me. Skinny, ratty looking horses, their ribs showing through, and losing big tufts of their winter coats, and scrawny, mean looking cows with empty udders, crusted in muck. Lean, measly looking hogs and sows with litters of only two or three shoats. The rest died at birth, the peasants said. Practically no sheep, and a few wild looking goats. Some dwarf chickens and geese on a reducing diet, and once in a while a guinea hen strutting her stuff.

Girls Have Pasty Complexions.

The girls and younger women all have pale, pasty complexions from their custom of applying a thick smear of rancid, soured cream to their countenances through the summer months as a protection against the endless wind. Sunkissed girls are not popular here, and they avoid being tanned by this means.

I examined a tractor rumbling by hooked up to three plows. The American expert who was with me almost wept real tears as he noted the faulty hitchup and pointed out to the mechanic on the caterpillar that he was wasting half his force by having the plowshares pulling against each other. But no use—the mechanic said the hookup was better that way for this particular field and he didn't intend to change it, and drove off.

A shallow little two inch furrow was being scratched, with the weedy earth falling right back into its former position. The blades were dirty, the loam sticking to them in great clods, thus preventing the earth from rolling up, curling over and falling upside down, something on the order of the bow wave of a ship, as it should do.

"It's good thing they have the richest soil in the world to work on," said the American tractor man, "otherwise they'd never raise anything here plowing that way. I guess they'd get nearly as much yield if they went out with a forked stick and tickled the old earth like the Indians did."

Further along we came to the town of Metchotka. It was Sunday and the aged priest was ringing the church bells at 5 kopecks [2½ cents] a peal, subscribed by some of the older peasants.

They observed Sunday in this place. The peasants were sitting outside their houses taking things easy and the kids were playing in the streets. We visited the local wineshop where the vintner was selling fiery but somewhat sweetish Caucasus red wine for $4 a bottle and vodka for $3.

Camels Object to Cameras.

A fellow drove down the street with a couple of peevish camels hitched to his wagon. They objected strongly against being photographed and spat and groaned in a whining sort of way, until finally he took the bit out of their mouths. Then they stood pretty and gave us some good closeup snapshots. [I hope mine turn out O. K.]

NEW JERSEY G. O. P. NAMES DAVID BAIRD FOR GOVERNOR RACE

New York, May 20.—[Special.]—David Baird, wealthy business man of Camden, took a long step toward establishing his state leadership of the Republican party in the New Jersey primaries yesterday when the regular organization which he dominates named him without opposition as the candidate for governor and scored for his side in the several county contests where there were bitter fights.

SEN. DAVID BAIRD.

On the Democratic side, with few contests, A. Harry Moore, former governor and lawyer, won the designation for governor and will oppose former Senator Baird in the November elections, with prohibition an outstanding issue.

The Republicans have been without strong, centralized leadership in recent years. Mr. Baird is the first candidate of his party to win the gubernatorial nomination without a fight, and lack of a contest contributed to the general apathy in the state.

Closely associated with Senator Dwight W. Morrow, easily the most popular man in the state and a presidential possibility in 1932, Mr. Baird appears to be on the way toward an important position in the national council of his party.

Senator Morrow was not directly involved, but the result is viewed as a Morrow-Baird victory, reaffirming the state's loyalty to the new senator.

With the primary out of the way, the political leaders sized up the results in terms of the November election and foresaw a hot battle between Baird and Moore.

ROBS DOWNTOWN CANDY STORE.

A robber entered the Fannie May candy store at 236 South State street yesterday afternoon and, unmindful of the crowds passing outside, drew a pistol and compelled the clerk, Miss Odette Pelletier of 5858 Cortland street, to give up $11.

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO DISBAR JOHN J. GORMAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—Echoes of the "cracking George on the snoot" mayoralty campaign in Chicago four years ago and the dismissal of William McAndrew as superintendent of schools were heard today in the commissioner's report to the Supreme court recommending the disbarment of John J. Gorman.

JOHN J. GORMAN.

Gorman, as a special assistant corporation counsel, made the report in 1927 charging history stories used in the schools of Chicago distorted the revolutionary war and the early patriots and "perverted" American annals. He was a witness in October, 1927, against Superintendent McAndrew before the board of education in the trial which led to McAndrew's discharge.

Later Dr. David S. Muzzey, author of one of the school histories, filed a $100,000 libel suit, and while this was pending Gorman, the report sets up, signed a retraction of his attack upon the Muzzey text book.

The Chicago Bar association filed with the Supreme court an information to disbar against Gorman, and today Roswell B. Mason, master in chancery of the Circuit court, as special commissioner of the Supreme court, presented his report recommending revocation of Gorman's license.

Son of Ex-Senator Phipps Is Divorced by His Wife

Denver, Colo., May 20.—(AP)—A final decree of divorce was granted Mrs. Gladys Hart Phipps from Lawrence C. Phipps Jr., son of former United States Senator L. C. Phipps. Custody of the three children has been settled in a private agreement. Mrs. Phipps charged her husband with mental cruelty. They were married in 1903.

HOUSE PASSES REGIONAL PORT BODY MEASURE

Bill Provides for Survey of Lake Front.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The Chicago regional port commission bill passed the house late today, weathering opposition by a vote of 83 to 29.

This measure appropriates $15,000 to a commission to be appointed by the president of the Chicago Association of Commerce which will make a thorough survey of wharfage and harbor facilities from Wisconsin south past the Chicago waterfront and down to the Indiana line. An Indiana group will continue the survey around the end of Lake Michigan and the two committees will coördinate their report. The Indiana legislature has appropriated $15,000 for its commission.

Representative M. L. Igoe [Dem., Chicago] succeeded in passing the bill, despite the opposition of Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago]. Mr. Schnackenberg said he would not consent to the appropriation of state funds to private individuals. Mr. Igoe then produced the record of a past session of the assembly and read extracts from it on a bill for a similar commission, to be appointed by the governor and granted $50,000, which Schnackenberg himself had introduced.

Labor Bill Brings Row.

The senate exploded into a superheated row tonight, with charges of plots and counterplots over a child labor bill, right in the midst of whoopee celebration of the eighty-third birthday of T. B. Scouten, sergeant-at-arms, who for sixty years has been an attaché of the senate. For twenty minutes the chamber was permeated with the odor of fire and brimstone, as Senators Victor P. Michel [Rep., Peoria] and Andrew S. Cuthbertson [Rep., Bunker Hill], Epler C. Mills [Rep., Virginia], and James J. Barbour [Rep., Chicago] combed the dictionary for vituperative words.

The explosion came over a mother's pension bill which was defeated days ago. Senator Mills had a pending motion to reconsider, but overlooked it and went to his hotel, which would have left it stranded. At this juncture the senate turned into Scouten's birthday party. Three singers in orange corduroy jackets and accordions had just finished "O Sole Mio" and "The Sidewalks of New York," with the senate joining in, when Senator Mills arrived back, breathless. He banged right in with his motion to reconsider.

Then ensued the charges, counter charges, and denials. Action finally was postponed until Wednesday.

Auditing Measure Urged.

United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson and Ald. John A. Massen of Chicago appeared before the house revenue committee today in behalf of the bill to allow the state to audit the books of contractors who do public work. It was introduced by Representative David I. Swanson [Rep., Chicago]. Mr. Johnson told the committee of the amount of exorbitant profits some contractors have netted from public work and advised the creation of a bureau, as stated in the bill, which would have access to their documents and records to make sure that moneys had been actually expended and good material used for construction. The bill was sent to a subcommittee for close consideration.

INDICT PROMINENT OHIO POLITICIAN ON $22,750 FRAUD CHARGE

Cleveland, O., May 20.—(AP)—Former State Senator George H. Bender was indicted today on charges of embezzlement and perjury. His attorneys immediately issued a statement describing the charges as a "venomous attack" on his reputation and ascribed the investigation by the prosecutor's office as "prompted by political enmity."

The indictment was returned by the county grand jury today but no capias was issued for his arrest. He will appear in court tomorrow for arraignment.

Bender, who is commissioner of the Cleveland municipal stadium and a prominent figure in Ohio politics for many years, was accused in the indictment of converting to his own use $22,750 of the funds of the Constitutional Law Enforcement League of Ohio, which he organized and directed in 1927.

There were several instances of perjury alleged, based on a sworn statement of the league's expenditures made Nov. 18, 1927, to the secretary of state.

DAUGHTER OF U. S. ENVOY DAWES IS PUT UNDER KNIFE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 20.—Virginia, 17 year old adopted daughter of Ambassador Dawes, who was presented at court in Buckingham palace yesterday, underwent an operation at the American embassy today for appendicitis.

Her condition was not acute and the operation had been planned for some time. The operation was entirely successful and Virginia's condition is excellent.

CERMAK'S TAX PLAN TABLED IN ILLINOIS HOUSE

Nobody Willing to Father It on Floor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The expected solution of part of Chicago's financial troubles by adoption of Mayor Cermak's plan to revise the Cook county taxing machinery did not materialize in the house revenue committee today. On the contrary, no representative was ready to take it as his own, and it bounced from member to member.

FRANCIS X. BUSCH.

Abolishing, as it would, the elective Republican controlled board of review and the Democratic controlled board of assessors, and substituting an appointive joint board, the plan, in the form of amendments to a tabled bill, found no favor with assemblymen of either political complexion. None, it appeared, was anxious to get behind legislation that would throw friends out of office.

When it seemed that the Cermak amendments would not come before the committee Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago], remarked to the Democrats present: "You people were waiting to see what your mayor had to say about abolishing these offices. Well, here's what he says and you won't back him."

Merely Ask Questions.

"How do we know that's what he wants?" retorted Thomas J. O'Brien [Dem., Chicago].

"Well, am I correct, Mr. Busch?" said Schnackenberg, turning to Chicago's corporation counsel who had just explained the mayor's views. "Is this what the mayor wants?"

"That's correct," Mr. Busch replied.

The hearing ended with the house bill 28, introduced in January by Schnackenberg but soon tabled, remaining just where it lay after an attempt was made to take it from the table so that the Cermak amendments to it could be discussed.

Bill 28 contains much the same sort of provisions as does the mayor's plan, and Representative Ralph E. Church [Rep., Evanston] asked that it be revived from its "dead" status.

Representative James P. Boyle [Dem., Chicago] then moved as a substitute that Church's motion lie upon the table.

Wants to Consult Mayor.

Asked whether, as the spokesman for Mayor Cermak, he intended to request some representative to introduce the amendments as an entirely new bill, Mr. Busch would only say "I have no plans until I can talk to the mayor."

Consideration of house bill 26, also introduced by Schnackenberg, which would abolish the assessing board but leave the board of review as it is now constituted, was postponed indefinitely on Mr. Boyle's motion. Unless some action is taken on the Cermak amendments on the floor of the house they are dead.

Factories, Stores, Homes Burn in Newfoundland Fire

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 20.—Two factories, five stores, waterside buildings stocked with fishery supplies, and eight homes were destroyed by a fire which swept the business section of Carbonear, on Conception bay, today. The damage is estimated at $500,000.

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort.

Bayer Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Bayer Aspirin when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, it will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. Perfectly harmless, so keep it handy, keep it in mind, and use it. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Bayer Aspirin is ready with its quick relief—and always works. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Any nagging, needless pain.

FRENCH JURY FREES BEAUTY WHO SLEW MATE

Sets Record for Speed in Acquitting Her.

NICE, France, May 20.—Amid the spontaneous plaudits of an overflowing courtroom, Mrs. Charlotte Nixon Nirdlinger today was acquitted of the charge of slaying her middle aged husband, Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, Philadelphia theatrical magnate.

The former St. Louis beauty queen's acquittal plainly had the unanimous popular approval of the local citizenry. Gendarmes suppressed with difficulty the enthusiastic crowds which tried to rush into the courtroom when the verdict was announced. The verdict was reached after 12 minutes of deliberation, believed to be a speed record even for French juries in such cases.

Bows Gracefully to Jurors.

The broken, sobbing woman was suddenly transformed into a radiant person, but little removed from the beauty queen she once was. She gracefully bowed acknowledgment to the jurors. She had appeared in court this morning between two gendarmes, dressed in black and bearing no trace of cosmetics. This was in continuation of a practice forced on her by her marriage contract, she said, which, according to evidence produced in court, required her never to paint, rouge or smoke.

"My husband started quarreling at dinner and he insulted me," she said. "He struck me and pushed me. I went into the bedroom and changed into pajamas. I returned to the salon and began reading an Italian grammar. My husband was furious and wanted to know who my Italian lover was."

Tells Story of Slaying.

This point was cleared up with testimony of the investigating French police officer, who said an Italian dancer had been engaged for Charlotte, with the approval of Mr. Nixon-Nirdlinger, who paid the fee. Charlotte resumed her story:

"I left the room and took a revolver from the dressing table and placed it under my pillow."

She then described her struggle with her husband, in which he grabbed her by the throat. She then shot him, she testified.

A French medical officer testified that the autopsy on Mr. Nixon-Nirdlinger had revealed an injury to the man's head, which quite likely had had something to do with his violent temper and jealousy. The injury dated back to an automobile accident at Atlantic City last year. His friends admit that since that time his disposition had radically changed.

A letter written by Charlotte to her brother was read in court and worked unfavorably toward her. She wrote:

"I am damned if I will sit in a corner. I am young. When I am as old as he is, I won't mind."

League Stumped; Can't Define "Disarm" in 7 Languages

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, May 20.—The league of nations council transformed itself into a grammar class today and took up the conjugation of the verb "disarm" in its three principal parts—you disarm, we disarm, and they disarm.

The combination was tried out in English, French, German, Italian, Polish, Japanese, and Slavonic, and the resultant variations in meaning were considered highly distressing, from a philological standpoint.

Dr. Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, who presided, was of the opinion that the word was derived from ancient Sanskrit, the root of the original meaning "to give up or reduce armament."

Proposes a Questionnaire.

Since the league of nations is planning to hold a disarmament conference, he declared, it was necessary for the nations to know exactly what armaments each possessed so they could figure on how much to give up. He proposed, therefore, that the council adopt and send to all members of the forthcoming parley a questionnaire asking them to list exactly their armaments in all classes. It was this same questionnaire, also proposed by Germany, the preparatory disarmament commission rejected.

The proposed questionnaire differs from the one adopted by the preparatory disarmament commission in that it includes trained reserves and war stocks in reserve as well as fighting equipment in use. This was a feature which the American delegation supported last January.

Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, did not attempt to confute the erudite Teuton's interpretation of disarmament, but condemned the German questionnaire on grounds that it is "ideal," and therefore impracticable. He urged the adoption of the preparatory commission's questionnaire without delay.

Briand Opposes Plan.

Aristide Briand, having thumbed over his dictionary, also admitted that Dr. Curtius was sound in his interpretation and agreed that the commission's questionnaire was weak in some respects.

"But in wishing to do better there is danger of doing worse," he declared.

Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, took the same view, reversing Italy's previous stand on the question and siding in with Briand in that it was better to send out an incomplete questionnaire than provoke further delay.

Premier Zaleski spoke in Polish as a protest against Dr. Curtius presiding over the meeting in German, but despite this demonstration of national pride, he declared, in effect, that the Poles would abide by the French academy's ruling on whatever "disarmament" might mean.

Star Pupil Speaks Up.

Then it was the star pupil's turn. The Japanese delegate, Yoshizawa, suggested that the happiest solution would be to let every nation make an investigation of the armament best suited to its needs and answer the question accordingly.

"Each government would then feel it its duty to give information which would enlighten the conference," he remarked, thereby going to the head of the class.

But Voyislav Marinkovitch, Jugo-Slav foreign minister, went him one better. It was not fair for nations who already have big armies to ask disarmament of nations who had little ones and were trying to enlarge them, he pointed out. They ought to let the little powers arm first, and then ask them to disarm afterwards.

There's a Law Against It.

Regarding means of armament Marinkovitch intimated that they had a law regarding that in his country, and he did not think that it was right to compel such nations to disclose their full military strength.

Not wishing to have Marinkovitch stand before the firing squad for divulging military secrets, the council heaved a deep sigh and adjourned the debate until Friday.

The economic crisis was solved, at least so far as Geneva is concerned, when the council voted unanimously to hold the 1932 disarmament conference there.

The decision was made on condition that the league of nations secretariat see to it that the thrifty Swiss hotel keepers provide sufficient steam in the radiators for the delegates on those cold February mornings. In making the choice the council overruled a letter of protest from Maxim Litvinov, Russian foreign commissar, declaring that he was unable to get a reservation in any hotel in Geneva. Litvinov's difficulties are due to the fear of hotel managers that some one will mess things up by throwing a bomb at him, and anyway his Cheka bodyguard frighten the other guests.

EUROPE TO FORM $50,000,000 BANK TO AID FARMER

GENEVA, May 20.—(AP)—A scheme designed to relieve the distress of European farmers, involving organization of an international agricultural credit company, which would lend money to needy growers and take as security mortgages on their farm property, was approved tonight by the Pan-European commission.

Under the proposal an international credit company would be launched with paid in capital of $5,000,000, and it would be authorized to borrow $50,000,000 in the open market. The plan will be embodied in a draft convention to be presented to the council of the league of nations at its present session for approval and then opened for signature.

Readiness to sign the instrument was expressed by spokesmen for France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Latvia, Switzerland, Holland, Luxembourg, and Sweden.

Sleeping "LIKE A LOG" is wrong... motion picture cameras prove

MOTION PICTURE CAMERAS recorded the positions and movements of sleepers during the investigation. The sleep habits of 150 persons were studied. More than 2,000,000 observations were made—all this information pointing to the need of a new, more responsive type of mattress.

NOW it is known that no one sleeps "like a log"—and if he did, he would wake up far from rested.

In a 6-year investigation of sleep by a group of scientists at Mellon Institute, motion picture cameras proved that sleepers take from 10 to 15 different positions during the night—and change position from 20 to 45 times.

We "rest in parts." One position rests one set of muscles and organs. Other positions rest other groups. Only by shifting frequently can we get complete rest.

Millions of mattresses now in use are enemies of vitalizing rest. They pad down. They form bumps and hollows. They limit the number of comfortable positions that can be taken. If your mattress is handicapping you during your precious sleeping hours, don't put up with it longer. Throw it out!

New-type mattress needed

The investigation pointed to a new type of mattress as ideal—the Beautyrest, or Deepsleep, both made by Simmons. Inside these mattresses are hundreds of springy, cushioned coils. Always "alive." Always responsive to every change in position. Always completely comfortable. They encourage the vitalizing rest that leads to successful days!

See the Beautyrest and Deepsleep at any good furniture store. Test their comfort—give yourself the benefits they offer!

H. M. Johnson, Ph. D., head of the Investigation of Sleep at Mellon Institute, has written a helpful booklet, "Bodily Positions in Restful Sleep." Send for it . . . to the Simmons Company, 222 North Bank Drive, Chicago, Illinois.

ACCUSE EGYPTIAN KING OF KILLINGS IN ELECTION RIOTS

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 20.—Serious rioting, amounting almost to a revolution, prevailed in Cairo and other Egyptian cities during the elections of the past week, according to mail advices received in London today. Censorship is being imposed and only brief dispatches concerning the riots have been permitted to leave Egypt.

KING FUAD.

Dispatches received from Cairo and printed in The Tribune told of serious rioting in Egypt, which began last Wednesday. In a dispatch on May 15, 88 were reported killed and 30 injured. Official figures placed the dead much lower. Subsequent dispatches told of numerous casualties in other riots.

It is alleged that the rioting was in protest against brutal repression by Sidky Pasha's government of all opposition elements, and that the rioting began when an effort was made to compel unwilling voters to go to the polls and vote in favor of the government.

Troops Use Machine Guns.

This was the first time in Egyptian history that machine guns were used by Egyptian troops against the Egyptian populace in the streets of Cairo. The only machine guns in the Egyptian army are owned by the royal guards. The British do not allow any other units to have them, yielding to King Fuad because of his representations that he feared an army revolt and could only rely on the loyalty of the guards.

The trouble began in the Boulak quarter, a working class district, last Wednesday night, when troops were sent to disperse some railway shop employés who were riding around in trucks urging the voters to boycott the polls. The troops fired on the trucks. It is alleged that more than 50 persons were killed and the bodies hurried off in police patrols and buried hastily.

The rioting continued throughout Thursday and the British troops, who had been confined to barracks, were warned to be ready for action. They were kept under arms all night, but were not used. Street cars, cafés, and stores owned by Greeks were wrecked and several people are alleged to have been killed.

Troops Fire into Mobs.

Meanwhile the Egyptian guards, who were patrolling the streets, were said to have fired indiscriminately. Finally the mob secured control of the fire apparatus and turned the hose on the troops. The high power water stream was more effective than the machine guns and the troops withdrew in confusion.

Rioting spread to the European section and all the hotels were barricaded. Newspaper offices and public buildings were occupied by troops, while a big military concentration was made at the palace, which was barricaded with barbed wire.

On Sunday night Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha threatened to resign, but he was persuaded to remain in office. The queen and crown prince were sent to Alexandria, where the royal yacht is awaiting them with steam up should their flight become necessary.

All the princes are now said to be lined up against the king, whom they accuse of trying to establish an autocracy. Even Premier Sidky, who is regarded as the king's creature, is said to be turning against him because of his orders to fire on his subjects.

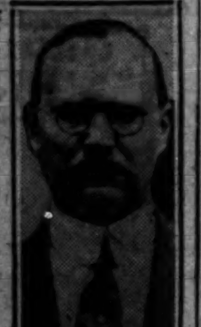
U. S. TO BUILD NEW CITY ON EDGE OF PANAMA CANAL

To Spend 5 Millions in Zone This Year.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA HEIGHTS, Canal Zone, May 20.—Five million dollars will be spent this year upon improving the spent this year upon improving the efficiency of the operation of the Panama canal. Col. J. Clawson Roop, director of the bureau of the budget, has been here on a tour of inspection obtaining information so that when further appropriations are asked for next year he will be familiar with the needs of the Canal Zone. The colonel sailed for the United States today.



COL. J. C. ROOP.

The Madden dam project calls for an initial expenditure of $3,000,000 this year. Representatives of many large engineering firms are here preparing their estimates. An excellent road has been laid out through the jungle from Pedro Miguel and a zone village will be constructed for the workers and later on for the men who will operate the dam.

Plan $500,000 Highway.

The Arraijan road, connecting Panama's national highway in the interior and the Canal Zone roads, will cost $500,000, including construction of Piers to handle the canal ferry, which will bring cars and passengers across the waterway to the highway. At the present the interior of Panama on both sides of the canal is practically cut off from the republic's capital.

A modern high school for American children will be built at Cristobal at a cost of $850,000; a Negro elementary school at La Boca for foreign employés' children, $125,000; new nurses' quarters and school alterations, $100,000, and fire stations at Pedro Miguel and Gatun, the two lock cities, $35,000.

Money for these projects will be available from the $12,000,000 budget which will be received on July 1.

Will Move Town.

Canal authorities are planning to move the headquarters of the dredging division from the old town of Paraiso to a site near Gamboa, north of the Chagres river. The dredging division is one of the most important in the service, employs 200 Americans and over 1,000 laborers. Since the opening of the canal in 1914 it has been engaged in deepening the channel at the Pacific entrance as well as taking care of the slides at the Gaillard Cut and other sections of the canal. A site for the new town is now being sought.

ENDS OWN LIFE BY GAS.

Supposedly despondent over unemployment, Martin Schmidt, 60 years old, ended his life by gas yesterday in his home at 1757 West 14th street.

NEW BRITISH WAR TANKS SO SHIFTY SHELLS MISS 'EM

BY CAPT. B. H. LIDELL HART.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 20.—The British army budget for 1931-32 totals $157,500,000, excluding pensions, a reduction of about $2,500,000 over the previous year. But through savings elsewhere there will be an increase in funds devoted to what are called "warlike stores." Although a large part of $8,900,000 appropriated for this purpose will be spent in replenishing stocks of ammunition, $1,715,000 is earmarked for guns and small arms, and $2,890,000 for the purchase and maintenance of tanks and motor transport.

Of the latter sum, about forty of the new model light tanks are to be provided. A few machines of this type have already appeared on the mimic battlefields of Aldershot and have made a great impression because of their speed and cross-country performance.

Artillerymen admit that they are built so low and so agile that they would be almost impossible to hit. The tanks weigh about 3 tons, are manned by a crew of two men, and have a speed of about 30 miles per hour. Each machine is fitted with a wireless set so that a group can be maneuvered like a football team.

Build 16 Light Tanks.

Although no tanks were provided for in last year's estimates, a number are actually being provided out of last year's money. The explanation of this "conjuring trick" is that money was found for their construction out of the money saved on the upkeep of the existing tanks.

The saving on upkeep was so great last year that sixteen new light tanks are already being built, as well as three of the 16 ton medium tanks, which combine greater power and thicker armor with even higher speed.

The British army at present includes four battalions of tanks. Three of these battalions are being formed this summer into an "armored brigade" which will replace the original "mechanized force." By discarding motorized infantry and guns and including more tanks this completely armored force will be far less vulnerable and more powerful.

As new light tanks become available the original type (christened the "tankette") are being handed over to the infantry and cavalry as armored carriers for their machine guns. This has a special bearing on another new development, inasmuch as the general staff has drawn up proposals for converting all the infantry into light machine gun battalions.

The army at home today consists of seventy battalions, including nine of guards. Each battalion consists of one machine gun company and three rifle companies. The former is equipped with twelve heavy machine guns, while a rifle company has eight Lewis guns in addition to its riflemen.

But the machine gun proper is regarded as an unduly heavy weapon, and the Lewis gun as obsolescent and tactically inconvenient. Hence the present idea that the infantry should be given a new light machine gun to take the place of both weapons. With this in aim a number of Vickers-Berthier and Madsen light machine guns are being issued to troops for trial this summer, as well as 1,000 rifles of a new pattern.

JUDGE WARNS SONS OF VICTIM AT MURDER TRIAL

Six sons of the slain Santo Lacastro were called to the bench yesterday as Judge Joseph B. David was about to start the trial of Frank Scarnavasche, charged with the murder of Lacastro. The six young men all wore black shirts and so did others of their relatives and friends. All persons in the courtroom were searched for weapons, but none were found.

Judge David told the sons he had been informed they had attempted to do bodily harm to Scarnavasche, who is 60 years old, and the judge warned them against another attempt.

The story of the slaying is that Lacastro was playing cards and Scarnavasche was an onlooker. Lacastro resented Scarravasche's advice and a fight started which ended in Lacastro's death, it is charged.

WOMAN KILLED BY STREET CAR.

Injuries suffered yesterday when she was struck by an Irving Park boulevard surface car at Albany avenue caused the death last night of Mrs. Rose Siegel, 60 years old, 946 North Oakley boulevard, in the Martha Washington hospital.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE sugar TO IMPROVE THE flavor

OF CHEAP CUTS OF meat

When sugar is added with salt to stews, meat loaves and pot-roasts, the improved flavor will delight you.

Cheaper cuts of meat can be made deliciously tender if cooked long and slowly. But do you know that the flavor of such meat and its gravy can be surprisingly improved if a dash of sugar is added during the cooking process?

Successful cooks have proved the value of sugar in seasoning meat. They will tell you that salt by itself merely overcomes flatness, whereas the addition of sugar heightens the meat flavor to the fullest extent.

A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt, or equal parts of each, are good rules to follow in meat cookery. Try this idea in stews, meat loaves, pot-roasts or braised meat dishes—also in vegetables. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute,

A. R. MARRIOTT, TITLE & TRUST HEAD, IS DEAD

Veteran of City Abstract Business Passes.

Abraham Robert Marriott, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, died last night of pneumonia in his residence at 518 North East avenue, Oak Park. He would have been 71 years old next Tuesday.

Mr. Marriott spent his entire business life with the title and trust company and it predecessors. He became president on Nov. 14, 1929. He was recognized as an outstanding authority on Chicago real estate titles.

Starts as Office Boy.

A farm near Wheaton was Mr. Marriott's birthplace. He attended the public schools at Wheaton, and the law department of Lake Forest university. In 1875 he entered the abstract office of Haddock, Coxe & Co. as an office boy. Sixteen years later he was appointed superintendent of Haddock, Vallette & Rickcords, and two years later was elected vice president. This company later became the Security Title and Trust company.

When the present Chicago Title and Trust company was formed in 1901 Mr. Marriott held the position of vice president, which he retained until elected president.

Headed Du Page Company.

Mr. Marriott was president of the Du Page Title company of Wheaton and the Allman-Gary Title company of Gary, Ind. He had been for twenty-five years a member of the executive committee of the Illinois Abstractors' association. He belonged to the Chicago and Cook County Real Estate boards and the Chicago and Illinois Bar associations. He was a member of the Union League, the Oak Park, and the Big Foot Country clubs.

Surviving Mr. Marriott are his widow, Mrs. Mabel R. Marriott, and seven children. The children are Mrs. Ida McClevey and Arthur C., Robert W., Thomas B., Roger, Elizabeth Jane, and David Marriott.

3 DELEGATIONS MAKE PLEAS TO SO. PARK BOARD

Three delegations of south side citizens appeared before the south park board at its meeting in Washington park yesterday afternoon.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], headed a group of 75 from Hegewisch, urging the park board to begin work at once on the proposed new field house for the James R. Mann park at 130th street and Carondolet avenue. Bond issues approved last fall included $125,000 for this work. The park board said it was planned to start work on the field house within 60 days.

Residents along Marquette road appeared to protest the proposed widening of the road from 40 to 64 feet between Racine avenue and Jackson park, on grounds that the widening would make a speedway of the route and reduce the value of the fronting property. A $1,000,000 bond issue was voted last fall for this work.

Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th] headed another group which requested that the park board acquire the school board property adjoining the Seventh Ward park, to enlarge the park. The board took these requests under consideration.

BANDITS STEAL GRAIN ALCOHOL.

Five 50 gallon drums of grain alcohol were stolen yesterday morning from the plant of the Sethness company, flavoring extract manufacturers, by two gunmen who overpowered Henry Schwager, a watchman, and drove off with the truck loaded with the alcohol drums.

EDWARD D. ADAMS, NOTED ENGINEER, FINANCIER, DEAD

Auto Injuries Cause His Death at 85.

New York, May 20.—[Special.]—Edward Dean Adams, member of a family which gave the United States two Presidents and himself an outstanding engineer and financier, died today at his home in 5th avenue. He was in his 86th year.

Mr. Adams was a direct descendant of Henry Adams, Braintree, Mass., father of John Adams, second President of the United States and grandfather of John Quincy Adams.

The direct cause of his death was an injury received in any automobile accident in South Carolina on March 29 last. Up to that time Mr. Adams had been in vigorous health for a man of his years.

Originated Power Systems.

Mr. Adams originated the system of hydro-electric power development at Niagara Falls.

Up to a few months ago Mr. Adams maintained an office and was actively engaged in his multitudinous business affairs. In his time he was closely associated with the elder J. P. Morgan in finance and railroad reorganization, with Thomas A. Edison in electrical development, and with scientists and engineers of Europe and other countries. One of his greatest financial achievements was when, as special representative of the Deutsche bank in 1896, he negotiated the purchase of 200 million dollars' worth of United States 4 per cent gold bonds with no withdrawal of gold from the United States.

In 1878 Mr. Adams took a partnership in the firm of Winslow, Lanier & Co. in New York.

Associate of J. P. Morgan.

He became associated with J. P. Morgan in many transactions. He organized Northern Pacific Terminal company of Portland, Ore., of which he was president from 1882 to 1886; organized and financed the St. Paul and Northern Pacific Railroad company, of which he was vice president from 1883 to 1887; organized the New Jersey Junction Railroad company, and planned the intricate reorganization of the New York, Ontario and Western railroad, the West Shore and Ontario Terminal company and affiliated interests.

Funeral services for Mr. Adams will be held Friday in St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal church. Mr. Adams will be buried in the family mausoleum at Kensico cemetery.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

TWO DEPARTMENTS SAVE CITY $1,448,340 YEARLY ON PAY ROLL

An annual saving of $1,448,340 in the operation of two city hall departments was announced yesterday by Mayor Cermak. Reports listing the number of nonessential employés who have been discharged since the mayor took office have been ordered, but only those of the building and gas and electricity departments have been received.

F. M. O'Donnell, acting commissioner of gas and electricity, informed the mayor that 460 employés have been laid off in that department, which will mean a saving annually of $1,403,340. In the building department, Acting Commissioner M. S. Brennan reported that there are 19 inspectorship vacancies, which save annual salaries of $45,000.

"There are other reasons why city employés are not being paid," commented the mayor on the reports showing that unnecessary employés were being carried on the rolls. "There were subway clerks who never saw the board of local improvements office, and if they called there at the same time there wouldn't be room enough for them. Maybe some of them stayed in the proposed subway."

VETERAN OF '64 WHO SERVED IN 1918, DIES AT 88

Hermance Wheeler, 88 years old, civil war veteran who returned to the colors in 1918 and served for five months as a special guard at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, died yesterday in his home at Libertyville following a sudden heart attack.

Wheeler was one of the 42 organizers of the G. A. R. post at Libertyville in 1892 and his death leaves only two survivors in the post.

Born in New York in 1843, Wheeler was brought to Lake county, Ill., when he was 6 years old. In 1864 he enlisted in the 156th Illinois volunteers and was assigned to scout duty. After the war he returned to Lake county and for some time was a road commissioner, later becoming a school trustee in Deerfield township. He made his home with his daughter, Miss Ida Wheeler, 317 South Milwaukee avenue, Libertyville, who with Arthur E. Wheeler, a son, of Elgin, survives.

Arrangements for a military funeral have not been completed.

Frank J. Link Expected to Undergo an Operation

Frank J. Link, former member of the sanitary district board, is a patient in St. Luke's hospital undergoing observation for a possible operation. He has been suffering from an internal ailment for two years. He entered the hospital Sunday, and is expected to be operated on within a week by Dr. Louis E. Schmidt. Mr. Link's home is at 4162 Lake Shore drive.

PUPILS TO HONOR ALBERT F. AMES AT RITES TODAY

Flags flew at half staff on all public schools in Riverside yesterday in memory of Albert F. Ames, school superintendent of the western suburb for 43 years, who died on Tuesday at the West Suburban hospital at the age of 70 years.

ALBERT F. AMES.

At the funeral, to be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the First Presbyterian church of Riverside, an honorary guard of pupils from the fourth to eighth grades will line the entrance to the church. Dr. S. S. Fuller, president of the Riverside board of education, and other members of the board, past and present, will be pallbearers.

In 1928 a new school in the northern section of the village was named the A. F. Ames school in his honor, and the superintendent's last official act was to dictate an address to his daughter, Florence, last Sunday, to be read the next day when his gift of an oil painting was presented to the school by the Mothers-Teachers' council.

1ST WHITE CHILD BAPTIZED HERE IS DEAD AT 99

George W. Beaubien, the first white child baptized into the Catholic faith in Chicago, died yesterday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Maude Bartlett, at New Sharon, Ia. He was 99 years old and formerly was editor of the Dubuque [Ia.] Herald.

Mr. Beaubien was born Aug. 19, 1832, the son of Mark Beaubien, Chicago's first innkeeper. His birth took place in his father's hotel, the Sauganash, which stood near the present corner of Lake street and Wacker drive.

His baptism was performed by Father St. Cyr in a tiny log cabin, which Mark Beaubien had donated to the church as a religious edifice. The successor of that church is old St. Mary's, now standing at Ninth street and Wabash avenue.

Besides his daughter and a number of grandchildren, Mr. Beaubien is survived by two brothers, Frank G. Beaubien, 5737 Race street, Chicago, and Richard S. Beaubien, 1343 South 61st court, Cicero, and a sister, Mrs. Antoine Bernard, 2233 North Keeler avenue, Chicago.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

Montevideo, Colo., May 20.—(AP)—Emma Quintana, 6, and her sister, Agnes, 13, were burned to death yesterday at their home four miles northeast of Del Norte. The fire started when sheep branding paint, which was being heated on the kitchen stove in the home exploded. The girls' father was seriously burned.

LETTER DROPPED DURING HOLDUP LEADS TO ARREST

A personal letter dropped during a holdup led to the arrest last night of two bandit suspects. They are Frank Caruso, 22 years old, 2641 Adams street, and Marshall Cafano, 23 years old, 832 South Claremont avenue, a pugilist who boxes under the name of Joseph Rosso.

Two days ago two armed men menaced Whitney Harris, manager, in the garage at 2445 Montrose avenue and fled with an automobile. Sergt. Edward Garrity of the North Damen avenue station, who answered a call for police, found the letter on the floor of the garage. He traced it and last night with his squad seized Caruso and Cafano.

According to police they are wanted not only for the garage stickup, but the robbery Monday of Nick Callati, 646 North Homan avenue, in which he lost $360, and the burglary of the home of Rosso La Barbi, 3834 North Ashland avenue, in which loot valued at $1,000 was stolen.

BODY OF GERMAN EXPLORER FOUND ON GREENLAND ICE

BERLIN, May 20.—(AP)—Word received here today that the body of Prof. Alfred L. Wegener, explorer and scientist and head of the German expedition to central Greenland, had been found by a rescue party dispelled the last hope that he would be found alive.

Missing since Nov. 1, when he started out with only a native companion for his base on the western edge of the Greenland ice cap—a journey of about 250 miles—Dr. Wegener's body was found some 90 miles from his central camp at Eismitte, his starting point.

The body was buried in the snow beneath a pair of skiis, and the fact that it was clothed warmly in fur led to the belief that he had not frozen to death but apparently had succumbed to heart disease. His personal belongings were missing.

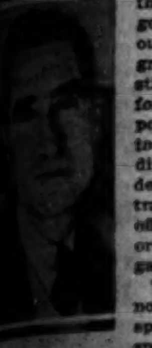
Edward Moore Writes of Music and the Musicians

Author Uses Old Reliable Thriller Idea

His First Novel Has Gay Bandit; College Hero.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

If the thermometer didn't tell us that spring has leaped upon us trailing summer in its wake, "The Gay Bandit of the Border," by Tom Gill [Cosmopolitan], published today would assure us of that. And if anybody tells us (meaning me) that what was good enough for our fathers and grandfathers isn't still good enough for us we will point with pride to "The Gay Bandit of the Border" and that detractor will slink off into a corner or hide under the gateleg table.



TOM GILL.

Tom Gill's first novel is a perfect specimen of the spring - summer novel, the wild and woolly yarn, the tenderfoot from the east that beats the old hands at their own game, and the good old fashioned love story, including the organ playing "Here Comes the Bride" on [illegible].

This book is the most brilliant example of mosaic work I have ever seen in literature. Every little favorite dab of emotion that our fathers and grandfathers looked upon with joy when they were amusing themselves with a good thriller Mr. Gill has fitted into his pattern. The pattern itself has all of the rich glow of [illegible].

The hero is a lad out of Yale, the son of a millionaire, twice captain of the Yale football team, amateur boxing champion of the United States, an all around boy. The subhero is a sort of modern Robin Hood of the Mexican border who is called El Coyote and does his work with a couple of guns, one in each hand, and a mask over his face. He is the head of a band of mistreated peons, who suffer at the hands of a Mexican overlord. He is suspected of being an American, but his real identity is a secret from everybody (except the reader) for most of the book. It would take a pretty dumb reader not to know who he is along about the twentieth odd page, although the author doesn't tell him outright until page 172.

The reader of thrillers will be as satisfied with "The Gay Bandit of the Border" as with a whole magician's bag of tricks. He ought to be, because everything he has ever liked in a book will be there somewhere. There are at least three major, bloody battles, two between the two rivals for the hand of the heroine, in which the hero makes the other lad eat the dust before the girl, and the other when they fight it out almost to the death in a saloon. The third happens when it looks as if the hero was slated for eternity certain sure, and half the countryside takes sides in a grand free for all.

There is the night alone in the desert, when the hero's horse slips and falls and has to be shot and the heroine's mare wont carry a double burden and the heroine refuses to ride away and leave the hero alone in the desert. There is the consequent gossip, and the usual grand speech of the heroine to the effect that girls nowadays can take care of themselves in the desert and out—that when she really loves a man and wants to give herself to him no uncle will stop her, and she will never lie about it, no, not for anybody in the world, and "Whether I stay another hour in this house of suspicion and vile thinking, I myself will decide," she ends.

I find it difficult to believe that Mr. Tom Gill didn't write his first novel as a grand and glorious spoof, just to show the world how a thriller could only be a thriller, if one puts one's [illegible] really on it from a historical point of view, as it were.

And the author writes as he chooses to plot, after the manner of the best of thrillers. "Held by the deadly intensity of that moment, Ted tried to cry out, but only a hoarse whisper came. So, for the space of a heartbeat, those two enemies looked into each other's eyes, then from their hands blue flames leaped and the silence of the patio was shattered with the crash of death." If that isn't classic thrillerese!

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

A mighty entertaining movie has been made from William Anthony McGuire's play which had such a vogue at the time folks were first beginning to contract speed mania.

"Six Cylinder Love" takes its title from a car sold to a pair of honeymooners who can't afford it, by a high pressure salesman who makes them think they can.

"It will increase your standing in the community," avers this hynotist. "It will enlarge your circle of friends. It will open doors that have been closed to you before. . . .!"

So the two lambs mortgage their home and buy the six cylinder wonder, which is a used car being thankfully got rid of by their next door neighbor, who knows it better than they do. And their simple lives become a maelstrom.

Deeper and deeper into debt sink little Mr. and Mrs. Sterling, whose swift capacious motor attracts to them parasites who love to ride free, eat free, and drink free. There comes a day when Sterling borrows money from his firm without the boss' knowledge. Discovery follows swift on the heels of his desperate act, and—I refer you to the picture for the rest of the story.

"Six Cylinder Love" is beautifully done. It is acted and directed with intelligence and sympathy. I was particularly impressed by the work of Lorin Raker as the young husband. Possessed of no "it" at all, he still manages to win sincere liking and inspire honest pity. He and Miss Fox as Mrs. Sterling, DO seem such a pair of babes in the wood! Spencer Tracy is great as the automobile salesman and William Holden does beautiful work as Sterling's boss. Minor rôles are satisfactorily portrayed.

With lines that click and photography and sound of the best, "Six Cylinder Love" purs engrossingly along from start to finish. It is a charming, eventful, and worth while movie that comes as a blessed relief from the sex and gangster films we've been surfeited with lately.

See you tomorrow!

Lay Daughters of Charity to Give Clothes to Orphans

The Lay Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent De Paul will give their seventeenth annual shower of garments and materials for children under 4 years of age next Thursday from 2:30 until 8 o'clock at St. Vincent's Infant asylum at 721 North La Salle street. The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, will make an address at 4 o'clock.

CHICAGO TO HONOR ITS WAR DEAD BY FLOWERS ON GRAVES

Wherever Chicago's soldier and sailor dead of all wars lie buried, flowers will be strewn on Sunday morning, flags will fly again, and bugles will sound the last salute to the fallen. Memorial day will be observed in local cemeteries this year, as always, one week ahead of the actual date itself, due to the number of graves to be visited.

Practically every veteran organization already has made plans and schedules for its decorating details and firing squads, and assigned the lists of graves to be cared for on that day. Whatever the weather, instructions to the various details emphasize, the assignment must be carried out as ordered.

Among the organizations that will be represented, each of whom will honor the last resting places of those groups in which they are most interested, are the G. A. R., the American Legion, the Spanish-American War Veterans, the Veteran corps of the 1st Infantry, Illinois National Guard, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War, Sons of Veterans, Woman's corps, Daughters of the Confederacy, and others.

At Forest Home cemetery special services will be held at the grave of Brig. Gen. James E. Stuart, under the auspices of McKinley camp of Spanish-American War Veterans. Gen. Stuart, who for nearly twenty years was grand marshal of the annual Memorial day parades in this city, was a veteran of three wars—the civil, Spanish, and world conflicts—and died at the age of 89 on March 8 last.

Capt. John A. Bell, who has succeeded to the post of grand marshal for the 1931 parade, said last night that all plans for the line of march were practically complete.

Ex-Miner's Palace May Be Gambling Center for Reno, Nev.

Reno, Nev., May 20.—(AP)—A massive granite mansion, erected in the '60s by Eilly Bowers, ex-wife of a Mormon bishop, and Sandy Bowers, ex-teamster, made wealthy by gold mined from the old Comstock lode, may become a second Agua Caliente, where wide open gambling will rule supreme.

Henry Riter, owner of the big residence, today confirmed reports that a group of unidentified Los Angeles and Hollywood sportsmen have taken an option to purchase the place for $100,000. If the deal is completed work of restoring the mansion will begin this summer.

Those holding the option expect to take full advantage of a recent Nevada law legalizing gambling, and provide adequate entertainment for women and men who arrive here to establish the necessary six weeks' residence to sue for divorce.

Sandy was a teamster until he went to placer mining. Eilly came to America from Scotland as a Mormon proselyte, married a Mormon bishop, divorced him to marry a Mormon layman, whom she likewise divorced, and finally settled in Gold cañon, where she washed and cooked for the miners. Eilly was said to have obtained a claim from a miner unable to pay his board bill. When the Comstock was discovered she and Sandy married. "Money to throw to the birds," said Sandy, and in 1861, because "Thar ain't no chance for a gentleman to spend his coin in this country." they went to "Yoorup."

The Bowerses were gone three years, and while they were away work was begun on a mansion, costing a total of about $400,000.

If you have time for only one new novel—why not be among the first to read the new book by Erich Maria Remarque who wrote ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT, pronounced the greatest of all war novels? THE ROAD BACK is a post-war story in which Remarque makes peace as excitingly emotional as war.

"It will tear the false notions of its readers from their moorings just as its predecessor did", said Fanny Butcher in the Tribune.

Read THE ROAD BACK now, for it will be the most popular and widely discussed book of 1931. Buy it at any place where $2.50 books are sold.

Talks of Efforts to Help Women Prisoners.

"Stone walls do not a prison make,
Nor iron bars a cage."

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Even in the women's reformatory at Dwight the philosophy of Richard Lovelace, written in the seventeenth century, may be found this day in the stone cottages that mean home to fifty-eight feminine law breakers.

Vagrancy, manslaughter—it makes little difference what the charge. As the women enter, to serve their sentences imposed by Illinois judges, begins their chance to make good. Instead of contempt and pity they find friendliness, for many of them the first since they were children.

Not iron bars, but reconstruction, that is the new prison idea as described by Miss Helen M. Hazard, superintendent since the new reformatory was opened last November after the long effort in its behalf by Illinois club women. She addressed members of the Woman's City club yesterday at a luncheon, explaining the present methods and the scientific approach that some day may revolutionize prison treatment.

"The trend is modern, toward scientific classification and individualization of treatment," declared Miss Hazard, a woman whose youth places her in the category of a big sister to her charges. "That is what we are trying to do at Dwight. If you ever are to get anywhere with prisoners you must treat them as individuals."

Miss Hazard said that while no statistics are available at Dwight, since the present institution only has been in operation a few months, it is shown that of every ten people who get into reformatories, in general six are from broken homes.

She censured churches and women's welfare organizations for their failure to concern themselves with the woman who eventually draws a prison sentence.

"Eight or nine out of ten prisoners never have come in contact with organizations such as the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., Girl or Boy Scouts," she declared. "One prisoner never had said the Lord's prayer. She never had crossed the threshold of a church.

"It is tragic that the very organizations that should be helping this group of unfortunate people do not come in contact with them. There are even many women who feel a satisfaction that their children are not associating with unfortunates. The Sunday schools and the Y. W. C. A.'s should get down to helping those who need their influence more than any class I know.

"There is a young woman of illegitimate birth at Dwight. She had been placed here and there in orphanages. One day her mother appeared at the orphanage door. Swearing the girl was 18 years old, the mother took her home. The girl told us that her mother kept a house of prostitution. The girl ran away. She said to me: "Miss Hazard, I never had any one in my life who ever took any interest in me.'"

"We are trying to get at the good in them, and build a new life on that," Miss Hazard said. "I know women can change their ways and go straight. There is good in them. It is up to us to get into the sunlight. I am convinced that there are women at Dwight who never should be there. They could have been helped without that. There are some who come in who should never be released."

STATE WOMEN'S CLUB GETS $100,000 TO CARRY ON ITS WORK

Ten years ago this month the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs set out to accumulate a $100,000 endowment fund. The interest on that was to be used for the extension and development of the federation throughout this state.

Yesterday the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman resounded with the cheers of a thousand women gathered at the 36th annual convention. For then announcement was made that the fund had been exceeded.

Mrs. Frederick A. Dow of Hinsdale, chairman of the endowment fund, reported it totaled $100,555.10. At the same time she announced that an additional $600 has been pledged by the Chicago Woman's club, to be paid in yearly installments of $100.

"Most of the fund is the result of dollar memberships from our 70,000 members in Illinois," Mrs. Dow said. "Several thousand were contributed as the proceeds of the Well Equipped Home exposition held in 1928-'29. The interest from the endowment fund, amounting to about $6,000 a year, is used to meet the expenses of the federation, including an executive secretary."

The delegates from the 800 clubs spent the afternoon on a sight seeing trip, meeting at the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street, for tea at the close of the tour. Last night district choruses sang and short talks were made by retiring district presidents.

On today's program will be an address by Dr. James P. Simonds of Northwestern university medical school, who will discuss cancer. Mrs. George W. Plummer, state parliamentarian, will lead the question box which will follow.

Flower Guild Keeps Busy Giving Cheer at Chicago Hospitals

Distribution of lilacs and other spring flowers, following the third annual CHICAGO TRIBUNE lilac time staged last week to lend the countryside's spirit of springtime to hospitals and settlement districts of Chicago, was being continued this week under direction of the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild.

A booth was open yesterday morning at the North Western station with Miss Marie Doherty in charge. This booth will receive flowers during the summer from Tuesdays to Fridays inclusive.

In addition other booths will be open on the following schedule: Illinois Central Randolph street station, Tuesdays; La Salle street station, Wednesdays; Aurora-Elgin station, Thursdays, and the Union station, Fridays. Distribution during the week is being divided among 25 institutions, including settlement houses, etc.

Life on Some Specks in Space, Scientist Says

Even Star Making Is Called Infrequent.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 20.—(AP)—The solar system is stranger to the universe than was once supposed; life is the exception rather than the rule, so Sir James Hopwood Jeans, eminent British astronomer, told scientists at the Franklin institute today.

Sir James and Dr. Willis R. Whitney, director of the General Electric company's research laboratory, were given Benjamin Franklin medals, considered among the highest honors conferred in the United States for achievement in physical science.

The British astronomer and Dr. Whitney spoke after the presentation of the medals and awards to other scientists.

Sir James' theory as given in his speech is that the planets were formed by the passage of another star very close to the sun. A tidal action occurred, according to this theory, a long filament of gas stretching out from the sun toward the other star. This filament then broke up into drops which eventually became the planets and continued revolving around the sun.

"But stars," said Sir James, "are very widely scattered through space. Three particles of dust released in this room would make this room much more crowded with dust than space is with the stars. Thus the tidal theory, in which two of these widely separated stars would have to come close together, suggests that the birth of planets is very rare, and that life, which must have planets upon which to exist, is the exception rather than the rule."

Dr. Whitney in his address said the pleasures in store for young research men in American industries were infinite. "It also is true that many of them may be found quite close to simple materials," he said.

Among the awards was the George R. Henderson medal to Dr. Arthur Newell Talbot, professor emeritus of engineering, University of Illinois, for his practical development of the railway transition spiral and for his creative guidance of tests on structural and track materials for railway buildings.

NOBLE CAIN'S CHOIR DELIGHTS CRITIC WITH BEAUTY OF SINGING

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Noble Cain's A Cappella choir, appearing for the second time this season at Orchestra hall last night, keeps its place as one of the most interesting musical organizations of this generation. Here choral music has made a distinct step forward.

Mr. Cain would seem to have taken possession of most of his singers at a time when they were not afraid of any vocal problem on earth. Part of his system of development has been to keep them in that condition of guileless fearlessness, until now they step out into vocal combinations that would leave the average chorus gasping with astonishment. He has first sopranos that float up three, four, five tones higher than any group of first sopranos were ever heard to do before, he has basses that dive down into truly Russian depths, and he has all sorts of voices for the ranges in between. Altogether, there were seventy singers on the stage last night, and they were almost as flexible as a chamber music organization, almost as richly toned as a symphony orchestra.

Much of his training has been in the direction of lightness and agility, and many of the songs on the program were written to display these qualities. It is not altogether surprising that composers having such a virtuoso body as interpreters should frequently be more preoccupied with effects of various kinds than with musical content. Sometimes there was a rather violent artistic contrast, as when he introduced the old English madrigal, "Fire, Fire, My Heart," by Thomas Morley of the sixteenth century, who knew all that there was to know about vocal effects and was a mighty musician besides. Sometimes the tone of the choir seemed a trifle tenuous for a full bodied chorale like that in the second part of Bach's motet, "Sing Ye to the Lord." But to compensate, the choir gave a crystal clear performance of the third and fourth parts at a speed such as the city has seldom heard.

This is a choir that stands in a class entirely by itself. It is so fine that its every appearance is a constant demand for the finest of modern vocal music to be written for it. Mr. Cain desires to take his singers to Europe next year. If the tour can be financed, it will probably make a good many foreign communities open their eyes, not to speak of giving Chicago some startling musical publicity.

Jewels Gleam as 9 Yankees Bow to a Queen

Americans Mingle with Old British Nobility.

BY ANN WHITTINGHAM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 20.—Mrs. Clarence Dill, wife of Senator Dill of Washington, was among the nine American women presented tonight to King George and Queen Mary by Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the American ambassador of the court of St. James's. It was the second court of the London season at Buckingham palace. The others included: The Misses Audrey Barrett, Mildred Hockstader, Helen A. McCann, and Maureen Smith, all of New York; Mrs. Alfred Donavan of Rockland, Mass.; Miss Katherine Hilles of Wilmington, Del.; Miss Elizabeth Howry of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Andrew Long of Hickory, N. C.

The prince of Wales, who last night was unable to attend the diplomatic court, was present tonight. He got fleeting glances from the debutantes, although he was not given a curtsey.

Tonight's court, according to tradition, represented all that was smart and fashionable in English society. It lacked the cosmopolitan atmosphere and gay uniforms displayed at the first court by the diplomatic corps. But tonight's event gained in the intimate atmosphere of old families meeting yearly at the throne of their sovereign as they have done for centuries.

For tonight there were the lords lieutenant of the counties in their scarlet tunics and lace, each with a sword. Among the men's scarlet, blue, mulberry, mauve, claret and green uniforms moved the graceful figures of women in their pastel shades and rich gold and silver tissues and brocades. Picture dresses cascading in soft folds to the ankles were almost universal.

The debutantes carried Victorian bouquets of simple flowers encased in frills of gold and silver lace, or little exquisite fans of lace or painted ninon. The matrons chose soft ostrich feather fans in shades contrasting with their dresses. The gowns followed the human figure, with no undue emphasis.

In contrast to the pale satin gown was her train of vivid coral satin, on which was carried the same motif of pearl embroidery of her bodice. She carried a feather fan of eggshell tint; her jewels were pearls and diamonds. Her regulation headdress was held with a bandeau of pearls.

Miss Hilles, granddaughter of a former American ambassador, wore a Bayard gown, cut on Grecian lines with a white satin bodice and a long circular skirt which fell in graceful folds. Holding the feathers of her headdress was a bandeau of seed pearls. She wore two strings of pearls and she carried a white feather fan. She had on an evening cloak of ermine with Russian sable collar and cuffs.

Mrs. Donavan wore a Madeline violet chiffon gown embroidered with silver and crystals, the decoration appearing again on her chiffon train. White slippers and a white feather fan completed her dainty glittering ensemble. Her jewels were pearls and diamonds.

Callot made the lovely ice blue gown which was worn by Miss Barrett. It was embroidered in pale blue and silver. Her court train of pale blue tulle was heavily embroidered in silver. She wore a bandeau of crystals and silver in her hair and carried a bonquet of shaded lavender orchids. Her evening cloak of blue satin was embroidered with crystals and silver.

Miss Howry wore a lace gown of pale pink over pearly pink satin made by Molyneaux. Her train of cloth of silver was lined with delicate pink velvet and edged with flat curls of ostrich feathers of the same shade and embroidered in crystal and diamente. Her slippers and gloves were of the same delicate shade, and a tiara of pearls and diamonds held her feathers. Her fan was of shaded jade green.

Over 1,000 Chicagoans Will Attend Red Cross 50th Birthday Banquet

When the American Red Cross sits down to the world's largest dinner party tonight, Chicago's contribution to those present will be close to 1,000 persons. It was learned yesterday that no more tickets are available to the 50th anniversary celebration of the American Red Cross.

While the Chicago group banquets at the Congress hotel, in every home of Red Cross chapters in the United States will be similar feasts. Then at 9:30, Chicago daylight saving time, will come the greeting from President Hoover by radio over the Columbia and the National broadcasting networks.

Dinner will begin promptly at 6:45 p. m., following a pageant under the direction of Miss Verall Wright, head of the Junior Red Cross in Chicago. After dinner James B. Forgan, Jr., chairman of the Chicago chapter, will introduce the speakers.

Among the uniforms of workers back for the reunion, will be seen those who saw service in canteen, motor corps, production rooms and hospitals of the Red Cross during the world war.

Studio Gallery Has Delightful Art Exhibition

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

THE spring exhibition of water colors, drawings and prints by Chicago artists which has just opened in the Studio gallery, Diana Court building, is one of the most picturesque and delightful that have yet been hung in this junior Chicago gallery. The gallery is not a year old and yet so cleverly has its development been planned by Increase Robinson, the director, that already it must be reckoned with as being of importance in the quality and kind of shows it harbors.

The current exhibit is chiefly charming. Frances Foy may always be counted on for a delicate and sensitive contribution and in the present case offers several exquisite drawings. Gustaf Dalstrom is not far behind her in the tenderness of his perceptions and in the gentle humor with which he dallies with a good idea. His "In Conference" is a gem. Ethel Spears can invariably bring a wall to life. Her prints are full of color and crowded with amusing natural incidents. We find her here on a street corner, in a park, in a backyard [and do not miss the dog], on a park pond sailing toy boats and on a park promenade pushing a perambulator. Of course we know you know that she is there figuratively, actually just long enough to jot down the news of the day on her sketching block in order to serve it to us [as she does here] refreshingly inexact, the modicum of exaggeration that is the difference between realism and poetry.

Davenport Griffen shows several beautifully handled lithographs. In July he is to have the entire gallery to himself for an exhibit of his latest drawings and lithographs. In August his one-man show of paintings will open at the Art institute. Ivan Le Lorraine Albright and his twin brother, Malvin Marr, are recently back from a trip through Florida and the south and their contributions in water color to the Studio gallery exhibit are vigorous, decorative and fresh. Beatrice S. Levy, too, offers several delicate and beautiful pictures, one of Orchestra hall, the others of places abroad.

Marianne Willisch, manager and head of the Austrian Werkbund here, is speaking on "Art and the Factory" at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Diana Court salon, the large room opening from the Studio gallery. The exhibit will continue to June 30.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Time Off for Mending.

It was close to my lunch hour when I first discovered an unsightly hole in the heel of my stocking. I had been cautioned to stay at my desk during my boss' absence to await an important call, but the prospect of sailing out to an equally important luncheon date with a hole in my stocking didn't appeal to me in the least.

I hunted up a needle and thread and went into my boss' office, where an extension from my telephone would enable me to wait for the call and yet insure the privacy necessary to mend my stocking. Off came the shoe and I settled comfortably back in the swivel chair and began to mend.

Without warning the door opened and in stepped my boss with an impressive client. Startled, I jumped up, jabbing the needle into the sole of my foot.

"Ouch!" I howled, and both gentlemen jumped. By that time my boss awoke to action and hastily handing me my shoe ushered me out. The lecture he gave me later furnished another embarrassing moment.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Brown flat silk crêpe was used for the original model shown here. It makes a smart all day dress. The new double breasted coat effect with bright orange colored buttons lends just the right trimming effect, and the cross-over collar and cuffs of orange colored silk crêpe are finished at the edge with a brown piping. The skirt has deep plaits at each side of the front.

The pattern, 3065, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting and 3 yards of binding.

Model Figure 1931 Has Curves, but No Excess Weight

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

This new figure, labeled 1931 copy, has two imperative features. One, a curved bustline—and by that I don't mean a stingy curve, either, nor a too fulsome one—and the other a stomach ironed free of any slight fat wrinkle.

Now, if you concentrate on those two features and bring them up to the 1931 model style, the rest of your figure won't have to do much worrying. I smile when some one writes me that they don't want to reduce any other part except the waist, let's say, or the stomach. It's pretty hard to do a waist exercise without affecting the flesh status of the immediately adjoining territory, the hips, thighs, the back and the arms. But I give the exercises for the requested area, knowing only good will accrue to the general figure.

But back to the bust the 1931 model calls for. If you're very thin you're going to have to do some milk drinking, some olive oil taking, some general body building before you can hope to have the bust round out in curves. But there's swimming right near us, now, if in the interim you can't get to a swimming tank.

Get yourself ready for a good, long swimming season. There's no exercise on earth like swimming to round out and develop a beautiful bust line. And consistently enough, too, it works the opposite way, arm stroking and deep breathing off excess pounds and "firming" the busts as nothing else you know of can.

Of course, the corset industry has turned philanthropist extraordinary in creating beauty for figures, and I should urge you, by all means, not to overlook the bets it has to offer for wear under the clinging dress. But don't rest with this temporary figure endowment. Earn a permanent flat-stomached, bust-developed figure of your own. You'll need it for bathing suit use.

Some one says that the modern figure in its dieted form is good—but it needs polishing off. I amend the "polishing off" to read it needs the feminine touch, which means supple grace, and a nicely devolped bust line.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Age Quandary.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who is about eight months older than I am. Am I too young for her?

"EDDIE."

That's for you to decide, Eddie—but if you want the girl to look up to you and admire your manly qualities 'twould be safer to choose one younger than yourself.

Two-Timing Man Hands Old Alibi to Doubting Girl

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Can a man love a girl sincerely and still have an interest in a new girl, calling it man's need of variety?

"JUDITH."

My dear "Judith" that, like the question, "How old is Ann," is one of the world's crossword puzzles that nobody's yet been awarded a prize for answering satisfactorily. The shadow of polygamous doubt has been cast on man and until it is lifted by the creature himself, it's doubtful if your query can be answered.

What can be said in the case of your young man, "Judith," is that his lack of finesse is distressing. And for that I would condemn him. Our weaknesses, whatever they may be, are not to be flaunted in the eyes of those who love us. And certainly there's nothing very sporting about a man hiding his behind a still debatable male attribute.

It may just be that time will prove the male need of variety to be of purely mythical character—one of those things nursed along for alibi protection. In fact, countless numbers of men, at the moment are living lives that absolutely refute the varietist charge. So, I think I'd tell said suitor that his taste in alibi-ing is execrable. And if he really wants to find out how execrable it is, that you'll stir up other male interest and let him enjoy your present position for awhile.

However, it may not be so serious as that. It may be that the young man is just floundering around in a sea of doubt about you and himself and marriage. You don't say that you are engaged. Until a young man has put the conventional question to you, or has talked marriage understandingly with you, he's as free as the air to keep his interest awakened and reawakened with as many girls as see fit to lend their company.

THE CLICK OF THE GATE

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

[illegible] year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously. She [illegible] mother lived in a remote section of Paris. Clare attended a school play one [illegible] and was brought home by friends. Her mother heard the car stop in front of [illegible] and Clare's friends bidding her good night, but when she opened the door [illegible] vanished.

[illegible] has been separated for years from her husband, Marcel de Bertincourt, a man [illegible] but no moral sense. They are cousins and the possible heirs of their [illegible] aunt Victoire, the Comtesse de Castelmaurou.

[illegible] to divorce her husband and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood, [illegible] to depart for Africa, has postponed his trip to help Iris.

[illegible] aunt's insistence, Iris decides to stay in her home until Clare is found. When [illegible] she learns that her husband is already domiciled there. He seems to have [illegible] character, and has taken charge of the search for Clare. He has been seeing [illegible] to her mother, for some time past, and knows more of the child's life [illegible] friends than Iris. The comtesse is bent on reconciling the estranged couple.

[illegible] is refused admittance at the home of the comtesse. Iris sees him secretly and [illegible] that on account of her aunt's assistance she cannot offend her. They plan to [illegible] at Helen Roderick's, the American woman for whom Iris has been working. Alan [illegible] Helen's and meets Marcel there. He learns that they are friends, unknown to Iris. [illegible] having seen Marcel at Le Touquet, gambling heavily, and hobnobbing with [illegible] looking couple. Alan runs across an old friend, Tommy Rostetter, a journalist, [illegible] his help. They drop in a café, where Alan sees the woman who was one of [illegible] companions in Le Touquet. Tommy knew her when she ran a haunt in [illegible]. They go to Tommy's apartment, where he points out to Alan an apartment [illegible] which formerly belonged to Marcel but now occupied by Suzanne Marly, a [illegible] actress. As he is leaving Alan sees Marcel entering Miss Marly's home. Next [illegible] meets Iris at Helen Roderick's, and she urges him to leave. Marcel interrupts [illegible].

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

LEAVE TAKING.

De Bertincourt spoke again, with a summing up which was a form of polite dismissal.

"Permit me, monsieur, to offer you my warmest thanks for the help you have given my wife. I had wished for an opportunity of expressing our joint thanks."

Joint! The word rankled.

"Please don't mention it," Charnwood returned, almost brusquely. "I have done nothing whatever, really, but if I can be of service in any way when I leave I hope you will call on me."

"You are very good. I shall not forget."

De Bertincourt touched Iris lightly on the arm.

"You are overtired, my dear," he murmured in French. "My car is outside. May I take you home?"

Iris assented mechanically, having slipped back into her trancelike state. Drawing on her gloves, she extended her hand to Charnwood in quiet leave-taking. They might have been two chance acquaintances bidding each other adieu, only that he caught in her upturned eyes the question, "Are you going?" and telegraphed the reply, "Yes, if you wish me to."

They went out together, leaving Charnwood alone.

[illegible] humiliating that he could find nothing in De Bertincourt's conduct to resent. If the fellow had overdone the repentant sinner pose ever so slightly, if in his attitude toward Iris he had made a parade of hypocritical tenderness—but no, his restraint, his sincerity, even the casual courtesies which must have cost him an effort showed the perfection of good manners. A stab of jealousy sharper than he had yet known penetrated Charnwood's mind. What would happen if De Bertincourt chose to exert his powers toward rewinning his wife's affections?

With a savage impatience he strode toward the hall.

"Major Charnwood! Wait!" called a voice charged with secrecy.

Astonished, he turned to behold Helen Roderick in evening attire, issuing with the air of a conspirator from the door which evidently led to her bedroom.

"Look here, major, if I tell you something you must promise not to give me away."

"Mrs. Roderick! I thought you were out."

"I'm supposed to be. I came in with Marcel, only as I had to make a lightning change I told him to say I was not here. You must join me in a cocktail before I hurry on to the Ritz for dinner."

"Thank you for helping me to see Iris," he said awkwardly. "I am very grateful."

"But not, I dare say, for letting her husband interrupt your tête-à-tête. I'm sorry, I couldn't keep him out. He seemed to know she was here."

Charnwood was puzzled. How had De Bertincourt been so sure, unless Helen herself had informed him? For the first time he had doubts as to her plain dealing.

Crossing to the table, she switched on a lamp and picked up a Florentine mirror to study her reflection. The upflowing light illuminated her severely [illegible] black satin gown, the barbaric necklace of oxidized silver on her breast, and the long earrings to match, which dangled almost to her shoulders. She looked worried, with tired lines which makeup could not efface. Her crisply waved hair, strong and coarse for a woman's, was snowy white over the temples.

A moment later Charnwood was staring at her, fascinated. Still examining herself in the glass she had taken an enormous powder puff from a painted box and with a practiced hand was brushing it lightly over her coiffure.

Before she could catch his look of spellbound amazement the cocktails arrived. Helen handed a glass to him and raised the other to her lips.

"Here's luck! Heaven knows we need it."

Charnwood set his drink on the mantel. That single act of his hostess had plunged him into such dizzy confusion that he found it impossible to utter a word. White hair—coarse, powdered, but Helen Roderick's!

"You look as depressed as I feel," she remarked when the silence had noticeably lengthened, "but no wonder. By the way," and she eyed him searchingly, "have you decided to stay on?"

"No, I'm leaving the middle of the week."

A sigh escaped her, but whether from sympathy or personal relief he could not tell. A barrier had sprung up between them which he fancied she felt as much as he, for she sounded strained and jerky. As for himself, he knew there would be no ease for him again till he had summoned courage to ask her where and how she had spent Tuesday evening.

"Don't think me rude if I run away," she said, glancing at her diamond wrist watch. "I'm dining at seven fifteen."

He heard himself saying, "I'm going across the river, I'll drop you if I may."

In the taxi he thought of a subterfuge.

"There's something unimportant which I'd forgotten till this moment. Do you know I rang you up and left a message for Iris last Tuesday evening shortly before this trouble occurred?"

"My bonne is very stupid about telephone calls," she replied, shifting her eyes to the whirling lights outside. "I didn't get in till late that evening."

So that was all he was to learn! In the silence which fell he read se-[illegible]. When she spoke it was with a complete change of subject.

"What a curious old thing the comtesse is!" she remarked. "Would [illegible] if I said she was absolutely gloating over this hideous debacle?"

In spite of himself the fresh lead interested him.

"You can't mean that?"

"But I do. She's an ego maniac, with a colossal love of power. She thrives on other people's misfortunes so long as she's given a chance to order their lives. At this moment she's got a new lease of life. Funny, when one remembers how agitated Marcel was about her health two months back. High blood pressure, you know."

High blood pressure! Charnwood felt cheered.

"So she may pop off at any moment," he said half to himself.

"In a hundred years or so," retorted Helen scornfully. "If you ask me, she's as strong as a cart horse, and will go on like that while she's getting her own way with those two."

They had swerved to the left side of the Place Vendome and stopped before the entrance to the Ritz hotel. Charnwood chafed under the knowledge that he had still discovered nothing.

"Will you lunch with me tomorrow?" he asked desperately as he helped his companion to alight.

She shook her head. No, she had business conferences both tomorrow and next day, also dinner engagements. They must try to meet before he sailed, but she could not say when. She seemed anxious to get away. Yet when her hand gripped his firmly with a pressure honest as any man's he felt swept by shame. Helen Roderick involved in this infamy! It was unbelievable. At the same time the white hair, coated with powder, troubled him deeply, and he could not help noticing, too, that she was heavily built, as the inspector had said the woman in the garden must have been.

All at once she turned back and addressed him in a hurried undertone, [illegible] but unembarrassed.

"Look here, Major—if I tell you something you must promise not to give me away. On Tuesday evening I dined in the country at Orsay with Marcel. He asked me on the spur of the moment, about eight o'clock, and drove me out in his car. He seemed very gloomy and talked all the time about Clare, which is why my thoughts instantly flew to him when I heard the terrible news. The man has feelings, you know." Without waiting for his reply she pushed her way through the revolving doors, leaving him dumbfounded at her statement.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover received Miss [illegible] E. Harrison at the White House today. She is an old school friend from Clear Water, Kas.

The secretary of state and Mrs. H. [illegible] have returned to Woodley from their country home on Long Island and have issued invitations for one of their famous garden parties on May 27.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, widow of the speaker, left this morning for New York to see her sister-in-law, the Countess de Chambrun, sail on her return to France.

H. K. Webster Jr. and Brookline Girl Engaged

BY THALIA

MR. AND MRS. LOWELL TUCKERMAN CLAPP of Brookline, Mass., made public the announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Madeleine Clapp, to Henry Kitchell Webster Jr. last evening. Miss Clapp prepared at the Brimmer school and is a graduate of Smith college, class of 1928.

Mr. Webster, who is, of course, the son of the well known writer and Mrs. Webster who reside in Evanston, attended Harvard and the University of Chicago. No plans have been announced for the wedding.

Clarissa L. Dyer Engaged to Noel Flint of Chicago.

Announcement was made recently in St. Louis of the engagement of Miss Clarissa Lewis Dyer, member of an old and prominent St. Louis family, to Noel Flint, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Flint of Chicago. Miss Dyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Chouteau Dyer, made the announcement at a tea at their country place. Miss Dyer is a graduate of Mary institute and Bryn Mawr and has been associated with the Art institute during the last winter. She made her debut several seasons ago and was a maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball. Mr. Flint is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and studied architecture at the Beaux Arts in Paris. Miss Dyer is to close her Chicago apartment about June 1. The wedding is to take place in St. Louis next fall.

Quite a lot of Chicagoans are planning to go to Cedar Rapids, Ia., for the wedding on June 15 of Miss Ellen Douglas, daughter of Mrs. George Bruce Douglas, and George J. Jaeger Jr., some of them relatives, and some of them summer neighbors of Mrs. Douglas and her daughters at Charlevoix. The Douglas Stuarts, the John Stuarts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laird, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr., Mrs. W. Scott Linn, Mrs. Clair E. More, the Frank Birks, the Charles Pynchons, Mrs. Robert Stuart, the Donald McMurrays, and the Donald B. Douglases will probably be in the Chicago representation besides the members of the bridal party. Mrs. Barrett Scudder is to be one of the bridesmaids, and Albert S. Klein Jr. will be best man for Mr. Jaeger. The Chicago ushers include William A. Ryan, Frederick Tritschler, Macauley Carter, Thomas A. Dean, Joseph Murphy, Lambert Mullin, Joseph G. Cummings, and John Meloy Jr. Miss Douglas has been in Chicago, having fittings for trousseau clothes and shopping. She and Mr. Jaeger are to be at home at 1350 North State street after Aug. 1.

Deerfield Health Farm for Children Is Enlarged.

Subscribers and friends of the Ridge Farm Preventorium at Deerfield are invited to inspect the new buildings and have supper "very informally" next Sunday afternoon from 5 to 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson is president of the preventorium, and Frederick A. Preston is chairman of the directors. Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, treasurer, and chairman of the finance committee, is receiving replies to the invitations. The completion of the two new buildings increases the capacity of the farm from twenty-nine to fifty-three children.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Metz have returned to this country from Vienna and have opened their villa, Fernbrook, at Lenox, Mass. Fernbrook adjoins the Pleasant Valley bird and wildflower sanctuary, and was formerly owned by Thomas Shields Clarke, the sculptor, whose studio was the refectory of an ancient convent in Sicily.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ransom Walker have opened their residence in the Berkshire hills also, Fair Acres, at Stockbridge, after having spent the winter at Montecito, Santa Barbara. Mrs. Walker's sister, Mrs. David Shields Cook Jr., will be with them for the month of June before she sails for Europe.

Debutantes Take Lessons in Making Own Clothes.

Maybe you haven't heard—that several of last winter's debutantes have been taking dressmaking lessons at one of the downtown department stores, that they've each made a frock, and are started on more. . . . that Bernard F. Rogers Jr. and Larry Callahan are playing off the Racquet club backgammon championship . . . that Eleanor Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Page of 1209 Astor street, has returned from school in Paris and has as her guest for a month Miss Marion Lyon of Durham, N. C. . . . that Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lynch have returned from Miami and have opened Edgewood at Lake Geneva [Edgewood was originally the Edward F. Swift summer place]. . . . that Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Rennen of 421 Melrose street departed for Washington, D. C., on Saturday to attend the graduation of their daughter, Romaine, at National Park seminary.

Clipped——Mrs. C. Morse Ely is in New York City before sailing for Europe. . . . the John F. Jelke Jrs., who have let "Graystone," their Newport place, to A. Van Horne Stuyvesant of New York for this summer, were in Newport to inspect the house on Monday. . . . before Miss Jane Brand sailed on the Europa to spend the summer in Paris, J. Stewart Barney of New York City gave a dinner-dance for her at the Hotel Pierre. . . . the first meeting of the Garden Club of America, being held this week on Long Island, was at the Glen Cove theater on Tuesday morning, and the delegates were entertained afterwards at luncheon and later taken to see the four famous Pratt gardens and the two Morgan gardens at Glen Cove. [Some 700 delegates and guests attended the open reception and tea at the Hotel Pennsylvania on Monday afternoon.]

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. T. Whitney Blake, who has just returned from Europe, gave a luncheon party for Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hoyt at Sherry's yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore Robinson, who have been living in Paris, will return on the Augustus May 25 and will stop at the Plaza for ten days.

Mrs. George Spencer Eastwick, who passed the greater part of the winter at the St. Regis, has gone to Tuxedo Park for the summer.

MISS VIRGINIA BUFFINGTON.

[Toloff Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. David Buffington of 1232 Asbury avenue, Evanston, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Virginia, to Benjamin Wham of Evanston, son of Mrs. Henderson B. Wham of Centralia, Ill. The wedding is to take place on June 20.

Does Your Child Love Water? If Not, Try These Tactics

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Suppose instead of having had your small son or daughter since either was born, you suddenly had him or her presented to you at the age of 2—that is, by adoption. And suppose you discovered what was evidently a deep rooted fear of the water. How would you go about curing it? Here is the procedure of the foster mother who has been our theme, this week.

"We live by a large body of water and know the importance of swimming. So we wanted the little chap to like the water, but when my husband brought home a new bathing suit for me and for baby, too, for my birthday gift, the baby would have nothing to do with his suit for fear he'd have to take a bath in it.

"So I returned it and bought a sun suit (calling it a sunshine suit, as he liked the sunshine so much). His 'shun shipe shute' as he called it, rated above par. Then, I started training him to like cold water, and turned on the lawn spray, which is one that revolves. He didn't like the pitter patter on his new suit, and especially on his hair. He'd run for my handkerchief or a towel when a sprinkle got on his head. (The old aversion to getting his head wet).

"I've soaked many a forenoon frock and wilted many a marcel in the spray, leading, chasing and running with him through the water. The result was that when I took him to the bathing beach and carried him in with me and sat down in the shallow water, talking all the time about the nice water, he took it for granted that everything was hotsy-totsy, for he was sitting on my lap and felt my protection. He took to it like a duck and after going in three or four times, he was leading in all the other little tots, saying 'tum on.'

"His conversion to water was so complete that at a beautiful new outdoor swimming pool in a large city where we visited, he slid down the steep, high slide into the water and was game for anything. Later, while visiting at a small resort where a natural dam cascades across the river, making whirlpools and lots of foam, he begged to go in the 'shoap shuds.' I put on his sun suit and I guided him over the rocks, to the top of the dam, let him slide over the terraces, and finally took a watery seat myself, keeping him on his feet in the swift water."

Balanced Wardrobe Demands Black Gown

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—One black frock is a necessity to every well balanced wardrobe and, this season, when color contrasts are rampant, a black frock means several ensembles. You can change it entirely by wearing it with different jewelry, coral, jade, or lapis, matching your velveteen evening jackets and your chiffon handkerchiefs to your "jools" in color.

The two colored ribbon sashes, too, that are being shown by Vionnet, Chanel, Cheruit, et al, completely transform a black evening frock. Or you may vary it by one of the adorable new flowered taffeta wraplets and wear a flowered taffeta sash to match.

The best type of frock to choose is one that is ankle length and has an effect of sleeves, for then you will not feel out of place in it in the late afternoon that daylight saving prolongs so unconscionably in summer.

The new Marcel Rochas evening ensemble, sketched today, is a perfect version of this idea. The frock is in black chiffon with a fitted bodice. Its whole skirt is made of horizontal shirrings, which give it a delightfully light effect, and you know these horizontal arrangements are the rage this summer. Two rows of shirrings make the drop shoulder yoke giving an effect of sleeves.

Get Flesh On Your "Skinny" Body

Gain Pounds of Weight and Strength in Few Weeks with New IRONIZED YEAST—a Special Combination of Dried brewer's Yeast plus Iron—or Pay Nothing

Gains 8 Lbs., Strong Nerves

"For years I was nervous and run-down and nothing seemed to help me any. Finally I tried Ironized Yeast and found it wonderful. I gained 8 lbs. and my complexion cleared beautifully."—Mrs. B. Pohl, Ellenton, Fla.

Gets Lovely Complexion, New Pep

"I had taken several medicines to get pep and weight but nothing helped until I took Ironized Yeast. I gained 2½ lbs. the first week. I had blackheads, pimples and sallow complexion, but now my skin is clear. I feel better, have more pep and have put on weight."—Miss Shirley Hall, Monon, Ind.

Doctors Report Gains

"I have frequently seen patients gain from 3 to 10 lbs. a month when given Ironized Yeast."—Dr. R., Columbus, Ohio.

"I have taken Ironized Yeast myself and increased my weight 11 lbs. and feel better in every way."—Dr. D., Poland, Ohio.

Soldier Says 8 lbs., Health Gained

"I was run-down from exposure and irregular meals, couldn't sleep nights, had pains in chest from gas, headaches, dizzy spells so bad I almost gave up. Took Ironized Yeast for 23 days and feel like new man. Everything has gone and have gained 8 lbs."—Pvt. H. V. Alden, Fort Jay, N. Y.

Don't Envy the Graceful, Well-Rounded Form Learn the Secret of How to Have One

WOMEN and men are amazed at the wonderful benefits of new Ironized Yeast. They write that thin, weak bodies were built up in weight and strength, gained good firm flesh in few weeks. They say nervousness and tired feeling changed to new strength and pep. Constipation and indigestion vanished, skin cleared to lovely smoothness with the rosy glow of girlhood. How was this done?

Why New Ironized Yeast Builds Weight and Strength So Quick

This amazing new Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building, dried brewer's Yeast, and blood-enriching, strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. This special treatment makes it richer than plain yeast in those wonderful vitamins which revitalize the sluggish body cells, drive out dangerous body poisons, tonic the nerves, stimulate the appetite, increase energy and endurance, and build up weight and strength. Double-tested for strength, purity and potency. Used by physicians and big hospitals.

To this concentrated dried brewer's Yeast is added three kinds of easily assimilated Iron, to quickly make rich, red blood and tone up nerves and muscles. By this special process, Ironized Yeast is made more effective than yeast, or iron taken separately. No starches or gas-forming fillers.

Gain Pounds of Weight, New Healthy Looks

So it is natural that after taking Ironized Yeast you should notice an amazing improvement in your health, appearance and spirits. The skin should quickly lose its sallow, blotchy look, pounds of good flesh be gained.

So don't have a "skinny," weak body that looks as though it had never been fed enough. Go to your druggist today and get a generous test treatment of Ironized Yeast. Pleasant easy-to-take little tablets—no nasty taste, never upset stomach or cause gas or bloating. Never spoil, safe for all.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Go to any drug store today, get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast and take the little tablets as directed. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with weight and health benefits gained, your money refunded by manufacturer.

Food Talk.

When you buy prunes which size do you consider the best value, the small or the large? The largest prunes found in most stores are sizes 30 to 40 or 40 to 50. Still larger ones run from 20 to 30, which means that there are 20 to 30 or 30 to 40 prunes to the pound.

There are many housewives who insist upon these large prunes, which are the most expensive. They believe that they obtain a small amount of pits and a large amount of prune meat for their money. But they pay dearly for their prunes. The reason that large prunes are expensive is that only a small proportion of the entire crop consists of the large fruit. The largest part of the prune crop consists of average size prunes running from 70 to 80 the pound. Because this size is abundant it sells for less money.

It is interesting to find that the difference in the prune meat obtained from a pound of prunes running 70 to 80 to the pound is only an ounce or so less than the prune meat obtained from prunes running 30 to 40 to the pound. The precise figures are as follows:

One pound prunes—	Pits.	Prune meat.
No. 30 to 40's contain	2½ oz. and	13½ oz.
No. 40 to 50's contain	2½ oz. and	13½ oz.
No. 50 to 60's contain	2½ oz. and	13½ oz.
No. 60 to 70's contain	2¾ oz. and	13¼ oz.
No. 70 to 80's contain	3¼ oz. and	12¾ oz.
No. 80 to 90's contain	3⅜ oz. and	12⅝ oz.
No. 90 to 100's contain	3¾ oz. and	12¼ oz.
No. 100 to 120's contain	3⅞ oz. and	12⅛ oz.
No. 120 and up contain	4⅜ oz. and	11⅝ oz.

I went into a loop grocery store the other day and asked the price of the different sized prunes in bulk and these are the prices I obtained: 30 to 40's were 15 cents a pound; 40 to 50's were 11 cents a pound; 50 to 60's were 10 cents a pound, and 70 to 80's were 7 cents a pound.

The 70 to 80's are the "small" size; 50 to 60's and 60 to 70's are the "medium"; 30 to 40's and 40 to 50's are the "large" prunes.

One can readily see that medium prunes costing 10 cents a pound have almost as much food value as large ones that cost 4 cents more a pound. The medium prunes are no more trouble to cook, they taste just as good, and are as nutritious as the larger ones. One may conclude, then, that for general cooking purposes the medium prunes are by far the most economical purchase. Where appearance is of prime importance, as in the making of salads or for special breakfast fruit service, large prunes are highly desired.

There is practically no difference between buying bulk prunes and carton prunes except that at the present time carton prunes are put in small, medium and large sizes, all of which vary considerably more than the ten points [for example there are ten points between 40 and 50's] in the bulk prunes.

CHICKEN PIE.

1 carrot.
1 stalk celery.
1-3 cup potatoes, cut in small pi[illegible]
4 peppercorns.
4 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
4 cups stock.
1 cup cream.
1 teaspoon salt.
Plain pastry.

Clean and disjoint the chicken and cook it slowly in water to cover with the carrot, celery and potato dices. When the chicken and vegetables are tender, put into a buttered baking dish or a deep pie plate. Melt the butter, rub in the flour until it is smooth, add the chicken stock, salt and pepper corns. Then add the cream and let this cook until it has begun to thicken. Pour the gravy over the chicken and cover with the pie dough. Prick the dough with a fork to allow the steam to escape and bake for 15 to 20 minutes.

The only Tire Fact you need to know

When you read a tire advertisement that almost sweeps aside your judgment with its enthusiasm: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When you face a sales argument that sounds good but you have no means of testing: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When the high-pressure dealer works on you with hypnotic eye and coercive logic: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When you are tempted to fall for bargain claims, a long trade-in, trick size comparisons, or anything else but intrinsic tire goodness: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Then, just for variety, ask yourself "WHY?" Why is it true that

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

The answer lies in the fact that Goodyear has, year after year, given the public built-in quality and value which far out-weighs trick comparisons and clamorous claims.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Washington's Senators, making their first appearance of the year hereabouts, provided ample evidence yesterday of the whys and wherefores of their lofty position in the percentage column. They enjoyed masterful pitching by foxy old Sam Jones, and they fielded just sensationally enough to keep Sam from flirting with trouble. The upshot was that they defeated the White Sox, 2 to 0, despite the three hit pitching of [illegible] Pat Caraway.

[illegible] CARAWAY.

Caraway was so brilliant that only two Senators went beyond second base, but both of them scored. The first was Roy Spencer, who hoisted a ball into the left field seats for a home run in the second inning. There had been one hit before this, a double by Cronin in the first, and there was another when Manush singled in the third. Then Cecil Pat turned out six hitless innings, but it so happened that in one of these innings, the eighth, Carl Reynolds muffed a fly and it was converted into a run by the process of bunting.

Jones Allows Six Hits.

Jones held the Sox to six hits, two of which did not appear until the ninth. The others were in separate innings. However, his record wouldn't have been quite so good if two sparkling bits of infielding hadn't been pa[illegible] in the fourth and sixth when the Chicagoans were threatening to [illegible] some runs. A good catch by an outfielder also helped Jones in the [illegible].

There was some reason to doubt the authenticity of Spencer's homer, which put the Senators out in front, 1 to 0, in the second. A fan with the souvenir mania reached out for the ball as it came down and by his catch apparently kept it from bouncing back onto the field. Umpire Geisel was of the opinion that even if the spectator hadn't horned into the play the ball would have gone into the seats, so Spencer was ordered to make the circuit. Manager Bush spoke to Geisel about this later and Jolley spoke a few choice words to the offending fan, but that didn't erase the run from the board.

Jeffries Gets First Hit.

The Sox got around to the third inning before helping themselves to a hit. It was a single to left by Jeffries. He got to third on a couple of outs but no farther. In the next inning Jolley provided an excellent chance for a score. He slashed one to the far right center field corner, but, being slow afoot, went only as far as second. Eichrodt hit a fly to deep center field that Jolley was able to run to third after the catch. Tate then poked a grounder toward [illegible] and it looked like a legitimate hit, but Hayes stabbed it with his gloved hand and shot it to first.

At the start of the sixth Blue singled to left and Cissell sacrificed. Reynolds hit to short and a lightning stop and throw by Cronin beat Carl to the bag. Jones, a confident old [illegible], started to pitch to Jolley, but after making a couple of throws was ordered to walk him. Then Eichrodt popped in front of the plate and Jones [illegible] him out.

Another hit came in the seventh. [illegible] Jeffries singled with two out. [illegible] any help from Caraway.

Reynolds Misses Fly.

The series of hitless incidents which [illegible] on the Senators' second run [illegible] eighth opened with Kuhel's [illegible] to right. Reynolds, who ap-

VOIGT, WETHERED AND TOLLEY LOSE IN BRITISH MEET

Sydney Roper Eliminates American Player.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DEVON, England, May 20. — No golfer who is rated any more than a local celebrity remained in the running for the British amateur title at the end of today's sixth round matches at Westward Ho.

George Voigt, last American in the field, was beaten by Sidney Roper, the stolid midlander from Nottinghamshire, 1 up. Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley, former title holders, also were eliminated.

Voigt, who faced the strongest of the remainders, appeared to have his match in hand until he shot for the sixteenth. He was one up and played par until he dropped his tee shot into the bunker after a 137 yard drive. His third shot passed the hole and froze against Roper's ball. The referee picked up Voigt's ball and the Briton was down in three.

Voigt Loses Control.

All level they went to the eighteenth where Voigt, shaken, could not control his game as he did earlier in the day. He dropped his second shot in the brook. He played his fouth past the green. Roger won the hole and the match.

Both were wide of the green with their second shots at the first hole. Voigt dropped his recovery two feet from the pin while Roper took a five. They halved the second with par fours, and the match was leveled at the third. Voight's second was short and the next overran the cup by 15 feet. He two putted for a five while Roper was taking four. He regained the lead at the fourth hole when Roper was trapped, and went two up at the sixth where Roper's third was too long.

Voigt Drives Into Rushes.

They played even to the turn, where Roper missed a chance to gain a hole. His second was only two feet from the cup, but his putt wobbled and they halved.

Voigt drove into the rushes at the tenth and played a provisional second from the tee. He found the ball playable and chipped to the fairway. He was forced into a five, while Roper, clear of difficulties, gained a four and reduced Voigt's lead to one hole.

Voigt's drive at the eleventh rolled under a clump of bushes, leaving an almost impossible lie for anybody but a left hander. Voigt played the shot on his tiptoes. He fell short of the green and took another five to even the match.

He regained the lead at the next hole. Roper duffed his second. Voigt was also short, but laid his approach two yards from the pin. He sank the putt while Roper was taking a five. Thereafter started an airtight series at the next three holes. The unmoved Briton, conceding nothing, forcing Voight to putt four inches and arguing over distance from the green on the fairways, set a pace of strict par, and Voigt played the same game. The thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth they halved with four, three and four.

Match Is Squared.

Then the match was squared at the sixteenth on Voigt's trapped drive and his shot into the brook on the 18th gave victory to the Englishman.

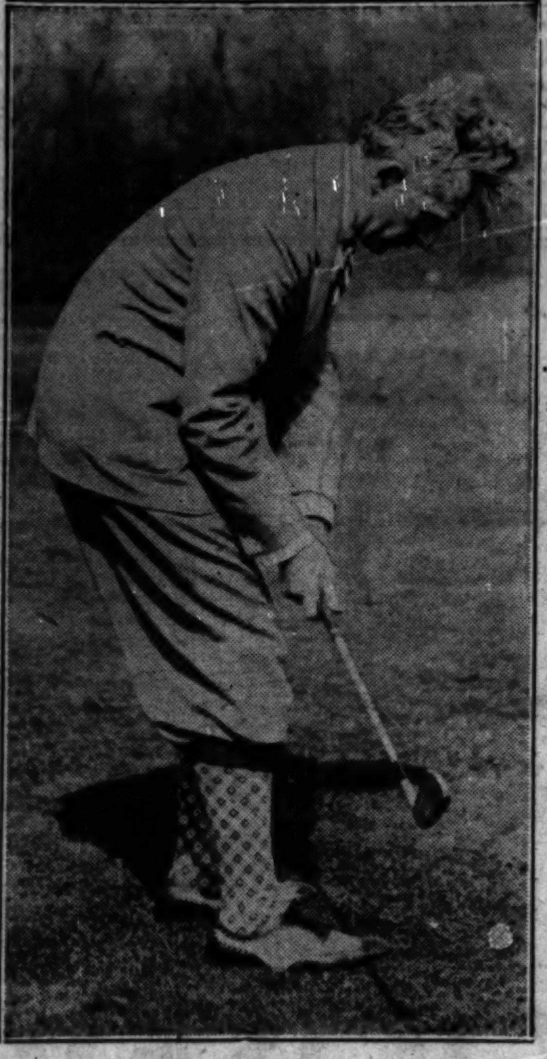
Voigt had moved into the sixth round by defeating Bernard Darwin, a former British Walker cup player, 3 and 2. In the morning round Roger Wethered defeated Allan Macbeth, 7 and 6, then lost in the afternoon to William Tulloch, 1 up.

Tolley, a former title holder, whom Jones supplanted at St. Andrews last year, won his morning round at the nineteenth and played erratically this afternoon against H. C. Tippet, finally losing, 3 and 2.

Besides Roper, Tulloch and Tippet, the other semi-finalist is John Morrison of Sunningdale.

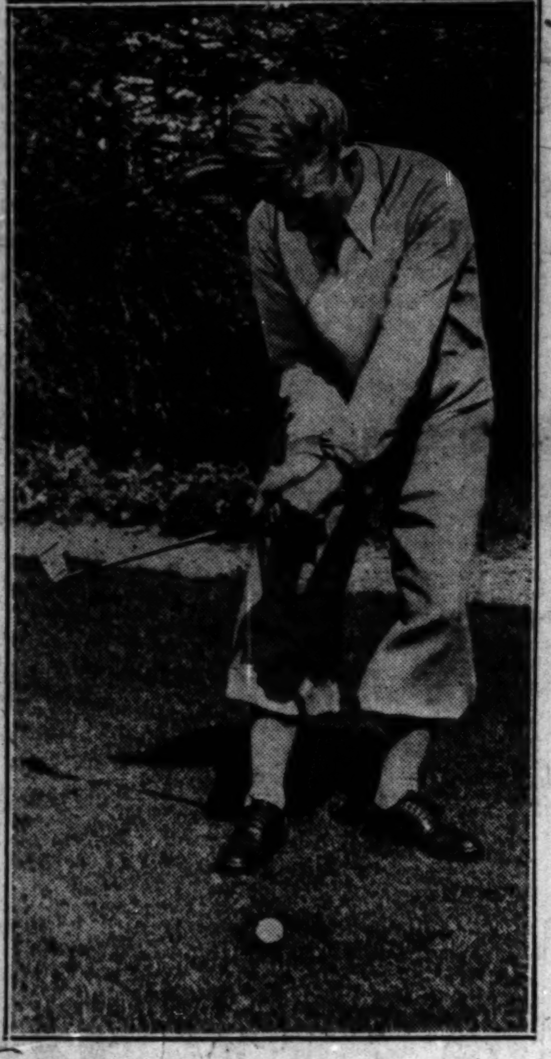
GOLF STROKES • RIGHT & WRONG

by Jock Hutchison



RIGHT.

To make the chip shot, take your stance with the ball slightly nearer the right foot than the left. Stoop over in an easy position and allow the weight to rest more on the left foot, leaning the body just a little toward the hole. The hands move straight back and the wrists break a little.



WRONG.

The beginner is breaking his wrists too much and has moved his hands scarcely at all. In making a short chip there should be little or no pivot and no footwork, but just a shade of knee relaxation. For a longer chip shot, however, a certain amount of pivot will be found necessary.

Shields to Open Davis Cup Play Against Wright

MONTREAL, Que., May 20.—[Special.]—Fancis X. Shields of New York, No. 1 of the American team, will meet Dr. Jack Wright, Canadian ace, in the opening games tomorrow of the annual Davis cup matches between the United States and Canada, preliminary to the world championship meetings.

Marcel Rainville, French-Canadian, will meet Sidney Wood, the No. 2 member of the United States team. Drawing for the singles play was made today. Angus Cassils, former Canadian Davis cup team captain, will be referee.

Doubles games will be played Friday, and the finals on Saturday. There was a heat wave here today, with the mercury 90 in the shade in the downtown sections, but the weather forecast cooler weather by tomorrow afternoon.

IRISH FOOTBALL CHAMPIONS WILL ARRIVE TODAY

Twenty-five members of the all Ireland Gaelic football championship team will arrive at the Union station at noon today for their international football game at Soldiers' field Sunday. The team will be welcomed at the station by representatives of Irish organizations of Chicago.

The Chicago Association of Commerce and other loop organizations have asked loop business men to keep up their Jubilee decorations and to add the Irish flag to designate the occasion.

The championship team scored its first victory at New York before 60,000 while en route to Chicago and after leaving here will play games at Boston, Philadelphia and San Francisco.

Big Ten Track Athletes Start Trials at Evanston Tomorrow

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Preliminaries in eleven of the sixteen championship events of the thirty-first annual track and field meet of the Western conference will be held tomorrow afternoon at Dyche stadium. The trials in the first event will start at 2 o'clock. The finals of these events and the high jump, pole vault, mile, and two mile runs and the mile relay, will be held Saturday afternoon.

Team competition is especially keen with Michigan given the edge over Illinois for the title. Ohio State has the best opportunity of the other universities to slip into second position or perhaps, if all the breaks come its way, to win.

These May Win Titles.

Naming winners in any sport is difficult, but, if for no other reason than to offer opportunity for argument, we have attempted to name the victors in the sixteen championships. The effort is handicapped in several instances, for it is not known definitely which events the middle distance runners may enter. For instance, Dale Letts of Chicago may run only in the half mile if the weather is suitable for his attempt to break the fifteen year old record of 1 minute 53.2 seconds.

School Children to See Meet.

All grade school children will be admitted free to Dyche stadium for the finals on Saturday.

Following are the events and probable winners:

100 YARD DASH—Eddie Tolan, Michigan. John Haas, Minnesota, and Charley Smyth, Michigan, probably will finish second and third. Allen East, Chicago, and Paul Conway, Iowa, rated among the best of the Big Ten sprinters, cannot run because of injuries.

ONE MILE RUN—Dale Letts, Chicago, if he enters. Rupert Beetham, Ohio State, probably second, with Kirk, Wisconsin, a possibility.

QUARTER MILE—Letts has the best time, but isn't likely to compete. Edwin Russell, Michigan, second last year, should win. Ed McAuliffe, Northwestern, and Homer Davidson, Wisconsin, finished fourth and fifth respectively last year and are possibilities. Bill Henke of Wisconsin may surprise the field.

120 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Jack Keller, Ohio State, with Lee Sentman, Illinois, second and James Hatfield, Indiana, third.

HALF MILE—Dale Letts, Chicago, with Beetham, Ohio State, second if he runs. Beetham was third last year.

220 YARD DASH—Eddie Tolan, Michigan, the winner.

TWO MILE RUN—Henry Brocksmith, Indiana, with Perry Austin, Michigan, a close second. Leas and Kemp, Indiana, who finished fourth and fifth last year, should get two more places for the Hoosiers.

220 YARD LOW HURDLES—Lee Sentman, Illinois, with the provision that his knee, injured at the Drake relays, does not handicap too much.

POLE VAULT—Verne McDermont, Illinois; Tom Warne, Northwestern, and John Pottle, Michigan, to finish in that order.

SHOT PUT—Sam Behr, Wisconsin, should finish at least a few inches in front of Clarence Munn, Minnesota, with Kabat and Knabah of the Badger squad likely to get two of the remaining scoring positions.

DISCUS THROW — Purma, Illinois, first, with Kabot or Behr second. Behr finished second last year when Booker Brooks, Michigan, won the event.

HIGH JUMP—Ralston Russell, Ohio State, who tied for fifth place in 1930, is the choice to win or tie for the title. Ted Shaw, Wisconsin, should finish second. Hackle, Minnesota, with favorable conditions might win and should get at least a third. Ed Gordon, Iowa, will place.

BROAD JUMP—Ed Gordon, Iowa, is the class of the field. His best jump this year, that at the Kansas relays, surpassed the Big Ten record of 25 feet 8½ inches set by DeHart Hubbard of Michigan in 1925.

HAMMER THROW—Arthur Frisch, Wisconsin, should win with Biddinger, Indiana sophomore, next in line.

ONE MILE RELAY—Michigan has the best time but Ohio State and Northwestern threaten. Passing of the baton may decide which of these universities will win.

Eddie Tolan, Michigan, should be high point scorer of the meet. Sentman or Keller can tie if either musters victories in both hurdle events.

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP'S WHAT COUNTRY NEEDS

Maybe Stribling Will Be Man of the Hour.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 20.—Well, after all, if Max Schmeling and Willie Stribling really want to bust one another around, there is no good reason why they shouldn't be allowed to advertise their bout in Cleveland as a fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

This is an imaginary title anyway, of no value beyond the price which the customers wish to set upon it. A few years ago the best minds of the profession held that a gate of one million dollars was necessary to confirm the pretensions of a heavyweight championship bout, but prices have been receding in all lines since the time of Dempsey, and just now a gross business of $500,000 should be sufficient to establish the claim.

Moreover, things seem slightly out of order without an acknowledged heavyweight champion bouncing around from town to town issuing statements in Detroit and denying them in Toledo, signing mock articles with mock promoters in Omaha, and signing other articles next week with the Garden firm in New York.

Fans Ready to Compromise.

A heavyweight champion has come to be an essential fixture of the American scene and the customers have felt the lack so keenly that they probably will be willing to compromise on the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling business. Perhaps all this country needs is a heavyweight champion.

Business was good under Dempsey, and while it may be argued that he had nothing to do with this, I would point out that during his reign he actually bought scores of white gold watches, each engraved "To My Old Pal" and gave them away to nodding acquaintances, having the name engraved in the blank space locally, a single item that must have figured appreciably in the prosperity of the jewelry business even at the wholesale price of $30 a watch.

Schmeling might not be very helpful as a champion in this respect, for it is his eccentric custom to honor his friends with dachshunds imported from his dachsund ranch in Germany. I believe there is a good tariff on dogs [hot] but none on dogs [dachsunds] so Schmeling doesn't seem a good candidate for the office. The Striblings, on the other hand, have established a custom of sending crates of Georgia peaches to their friends and if Willie should win the title, his gifts to his loving pals along the route of his travels should account for the peach crop of three or four Georgia counties.

Willie's Buddies— Every One.

In this I am counting on an increase of 3,000 per cent in the number of Willie Stribling's old buddies who always said he had it in him to win the title and strung along with him through thick and—what is the other word that ballplayers always use in their essays at world series time? Ah, yes, thick and thin.

It is an odd and, to him, a sensitive fact that Willie never has made a creditable prize fight in many opportunities in New York, but that fact needn't matter, because New York isn't entertaining this bout. It is more important that he performed four or five single handed massacres in Chicago, and that affection of the Chicago customers is equaled only by the indifference of the New York customers, which would make it practically boundless. He also bears a good reputation as a prize fighter in Paris and London, and the mystery is that he invariably fought less than his apparent best in New York, where the customers were more patient and liberal than any others.

The Boy Has Charm.

As an object of masculine charm and beauty and bright sophistication the young man from Georgia should draw more lady trade than any other athlete who has performed in public

Cubs, Giants in Purse Race for Lucas?

Boston, Mass., May 20.—[Special.]—Red Lucas, right handed pitching star and pinch hitter of the Cincinnati club, was reported tonight to be the principal in one of the biggest playing auctions that ever caused major league ball clubs to pit bankrolls against each other.

According to information which gained wide credence in Boston today, William Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, and Charles Stoneham, owner of the New York Giants have taken the rubber bands off their wallets and are waiting for President Sidney Weil of the Cincinnati Reds, in the rôle of auctioneer to knock down his most valuable chattel to the highest bidder.

Mr. Weil, who is said to have become a bit seasick in his brief voyage as a big league magnate, has until June 15 to run up the price on the two gentlemen who are described as being so eager to fatten the flattened Cincy money poke. There can be no intra-league deals after that date.

According to information which reached the Cubs tonight, the Giants are confident of landing Lucas without opposition, a theory that would be strengthened by the fact that the Cincinnati club long has been a good pal to the Giant outfit, the most recent instance of importance being the shipping of Hughie Critz to New York. There have been many deals since Heinie Groh went to the Giants from the Reds.

The passing of Lucas naturally would cause a loud squawk from the Cincinnati fans, but Mr. Weil can stand that if he has Mr. Wrigley and Mr. Stoneham worked up to the fine lather reported. The fans will have to stay away from a lot of ball games to cancel the roll that Mr. Weil can get from either Mr. Wrigley or Mr. Stoneham, if today's advices are accurate.

It is pointed out that if either Mr. Wrigley or Mr. Stoneham does not care for Mr. Lucas their indifference at this time is most remarkable and certainly not commendable.

Lucas broke into the majors with the Giants in 1923 but soon was on his way to San Antonio. The next year he was with Boston. This is his sixth year with the Reds. In one year in Boston and his five years with Cincinnati previous to this season, Lucas won 73 while losing 57 games, which is a fine record for a pitcher with a weak ball club such as the Reds have been. His best years were 1926 and 1929 in which he won 18 and 19 games respectively.

"NOTHING TO IT"—VEECK.

William Veeck, president of the Cubs, last night said there was nothing to the report that the Chicago team was dealing for Lucas.

"Maybe the Giants are bidding for him, but we are not," Veeck said. "I don't know what may develop, but you can say positively that the Cubs are not negotiating for his services now."

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 20.—Our Cubs this afternoon became aroused when they found that Manager McKechnie of the Boston Braves had made good his promise to save his first string pitchers for the Giants by sending forward one Freddy Frankhouse. The insulted Cubs hopped on Mr. Freedy with great zeal and before the second put out of the game had been accomplished, the Cubs had made four runs off Frankhouse and his successor, Bill McAfee.

GABBY HARTNETT.

The final score was Cubs, 7; Braves, 5, and furnished the Cubs with their second victory on the eastern road trip, which ends tomorrow with the final against the Braves.

Second Win for Smith.

Bob Smith rang up his second win after a stretch of three defeats. Robert wasn't especially impressive, for he allowed 13 hits, nine of which came in the last four innings. The Braves made four hits and two runs in the ninth and had the winning run at bat when Worthington ended the contest with a fly to Cuyler. It should be said for Smith, however, that his control was good. He didn't pass or hit a batsman.

The Cubs looked like the sluggers of old. Their batting tabulation showed a record of one homer, a triple, five doubles, and seven singles.

Gabby Hartnett was the big shot of the offensive with his third homer of the year and also made a double and two singles.

The Braves couldn't get him out until the ninth, when he popped a fly to Sheely. The rejuvenation of Gabby lifted his batting mark to .292, the highest it's been since the first series of the season. Every man on the team except Bell, just returned to the lineup, made at least one hit and the seven runs were made by six players, Cuyler being the only one to run across the plate twice.

Face Siebold Today.

In the final tomorrow Mr. McKechnie will not seek to "high hat" the Chicagoans in the matter of the pitching assignment. He will employ Socks Siebold, one of his big three who have contributed materially to the third place status of the Bostonians. He will be opposed by Malone, Mr. Hornsby announced.

At the end of the first inning of today's refreshing spectacle, the Cubs were leading 4 to 2 and production of the half dozen runs by the two nines was accomplished through the media of a single and three doubles by the Cubs and two singles and a double in a row by the Braves.

Sheely Drives In Two.

Maranville and Dreesen were infield outs to start the Braves' offensive, but Berger singled and went to third on Worthington's single. Both runners scored on Sheely's double to right center. Schulmerich supplied the third out with a fly to Moore.

The Cubs' fifth run was Hartnett's home, knocked with one out in the third. Bell flied to Berger but Grimm

OLD BOB ROGERS BEATS STARS IN MUD AT AURORA

BY FRENCH LANE.

The best field that has paraded to the post since the Aurora racing season opened came together in the Army Air corps purse, a dash of 6 furlongs, yesterday.

And with stars from the east, the west, and the middle west represented, which one do you suppose galloped home in front an easy winner by 6 lengths?

Old Bob Rogers, of course. The track, deep in sticky mud, was just to old Bob's fancy and it was a popular victory, for every Chicago racegoer knows the 7 year old son of Under Fire well enough to call him by his first name and they knew he could run in the mud. They all wagered on him to win the muddy battle. He stepped past Maya, a fleet sprinter from the east; Ellice, a flier from Kentucky, and Schooner, a big shot 3 year old from California, at the head of the stretch.

Increases Lead Near Finish.

Bob marched straight home, increasing his lead as the gallop neared the finish, for Jockey A. Dickey took no chances and rode the old fellow for all he was worth, even though he had the race won nearly a furlong before it ended.

Old Bob, usually a fast beginner, was a bit dull as the run down the back stretch started. Maya, Ellice, Master Toney, and Schooner were all outfooting him. Then as Bob hit the wide turn into the stretch he must have heard the crowd pleading for him to show some speed. He began to run like Twenty Grand ran in the Derby. It carried him past the weak hearted sprinters in front of him. He drove into a lead of 2 lengths. The race was over. Jockey Dickey didn't know it, and he hustled Bob out to a six lengths lead. He held it until the finish. In the mutuels Bob Rogers paid $5.24. He ran his 6 furlongs in 1:18 1-5, slow for such stylish horses, but the track was slow.

Cash Play Proves Meanness.

The meanest old horse on the Aurora track is Cash Play. He delayed the start of the first race for 12 minutes. He ran away a half mile, tossed his jockey, E. Gross, into the mud, tore off his bridle, and did a lot of other things before the field was sent away.

Then, just to prove his mean traits, he galloped right to the front from an outside post position and held the lead all the way, causing the favorite players to groan and hoot as he led the favorite, Thunder Call, home by a length.

Cash Play had started here three times and each time he was the favorite, but he never had finished better than third. He wasn't the favorite in this race and those who had faith enough to buy another ticket on him collected $11 for each $2 invested.

After the race the stewards announced that Cash Play had been barred from further racing here. But Cash Play will not worry, for he soon will be on his way to a small track in Ohio.

Two Long Shots Pay Off.

Two long shots dropped from out of the skies. Snowman paid $34.24 for a $2 ticket when he beat the favorite, Sun Roman, in the mile and 70 yards third race. Mosque got up to beat Chehalis by half a length in the sixth race at the same distance. He paid $52.20 in the $2 market. After getting shut off on the turn into the stretch he came on the outside and wore down all those in front of him.

Mourning Dove as Foe of Weeds Is Farmer's Ally

BY BOB BECKER.

Irrespective of how crops turn out the farmer always has year after year a surplus of weeds and weed seeds. In a way there hardly seems to be much relationship between this surplus [which in the "market" has a minus zero value] and birds, but of recent years a close study of the habits of the mourning dove has shown that this bird does a great deal to reduce the weed crop by eating the seeds of such plants.

This bird, which is distributed quite generally through Chicagoland, is one of our most doleful songsters and efficient helpers on the farm or around the suburban home. Each spring we listen for the first mournful refrain of the "turtle" dove, as it is called, and then later we look for a nest.

We never cease to wonder how such indifferent housekeepers, as a pair of doves always prove, can raise a family without their young falling out of the nest and breaking their necks. The dove never was noted for its workmanship in nest building. Its summer home is a frail rickety affair which looks as if it would fall apart when the wind started to blow.

Now that the wild pigeon is extinct we should call this bird simply the dove. Carolina dove is incorrect and so is the name turtle dove, as we must go to Europe to find a true turtle dove.

As a friend of the farmer the dove cannot be ignored because the principal and constant diet of the bird is weed seeds. In fact this sad voiced singer is the champion seed eater of the country. In one dove's stomach the scientists have found as many as 7,500 seeds of the wood sorrel. In another the scientists found 6,400 seeds of the fox tail. A third bird had more than 9,200 weed seeds in its stomach.

Many of these seeds were so small that it seemed no bird would go after them unless driven by hunger. So here was a trio of doves doing away with more than 23,000 weeds at one meal, a demonstration which proved how valuable a helper the dove is on a farm.

If you find a nest with young this spring you'll very likely see an interesting trick executed by the old birds, because they have a habit of dropping to the ground and pretending that they are injured. The idea is, of course, to lure you away from the nest and the chicks.

JOE TURNESA'S 138 IS LOW IN LEEDS TRIALS

LEEDS, England, May 20.—[Special.]—By shooting another 69, Joe Turnesa, New York professional, won the qualifying medal in the Leeds $5,000 tournament with low score of 138 for 36 holes.

Horton Smith, another young American, failed to qualify, his 76—76—152 being one stroke beyond the pale. Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trick shot artist, who plays from New York, stood in second place for a time after scoring 69 today, but was later edged out by Jock Ballintine, British pro.

Ballintine equaled Turnesa's 69 today, and with 72 yesterday had 141. Kirkwood's total was 143, while Fred Robson was next with 144, and Ted Ray, 145. Matches begin tomorrow.

Risque Beats Her Grace at Belmont Park

New York, May 20.—[Special.]—Risque, the fast daughter of Stimulus-Risky, which races in the silks of Mrs. John Hertz of Chicago, won the Milk Maid handicap at Belmont Park here this afternoon, scoring brilliantly from the best band of mares that has gone to the post in the east this year.

Sent into the lead by Jockey Steffan as the barrier lifted, Risque made all the pace and wound up by beating the fast Maryland mare, Her Grace, by half a length. The Rancocas stable's Ladana, which was the favorite, was third. Risque ran the six and one-half furlongs in the good time of 1:18 and carried 116 pounds. She was at 5 to 2 in the betting.

Ben Benjamin Block's fleet colt, Morstone, which proved no stayer when being tried for the Kentucky Derby, set a new record for the Swift stakes, but he just staggered over the line to victory and was second a stride past the finish.

The son of Morvich and Morman was timed in 1:24 3-5 for seven furlongs, faster than any horse has run the Swift, but slower than the Belmont track record for the same distance, which was established by Roseben in 1906 at 1:22.

Walter M. Jefford's Ironclad was a head behind Morstone at the end of the race. He was the 20 to 1 outsider, while Morstone was held at 1 to 3. Half a length farther back was E. R. Bradley's Blind Bowboy, with Pennate and Rid Van Winkle finishing in order thereafter.

Morstone now has won three of the four starts of his career. He earned $4,175 by today's dash.

MILWAUKEE TO CHICAGO RACERS THREATEN MARK

Outboards to Make 90 Mile Dash May 30.

The first outboard motorboat to finish the Milwaukee to Chicago race last year was timed in 2 hours 54 minutes. That record is almost certain to be broken Memorial day, when the outboard racers of the central west commence the 90 mile trip down Lake Michigan to Navy pier.

The first group, class B boats, will leave Milwaukee at 8:30 on the morning of May 30. The other classes, the exact time to be set by the handicap committee, will leave afterward. It is expected that the first finisher will reach Navy pier at noon, Chicago time, or shortly thereafter.

Woodworth Beats Century.

Red Woodworth, who won the Albany to New York Hudson river race recently, averaged 41.8 miles per hour for the 132 mile race. He broke the previous record by 3.2 miles per hour. In that race Woodworth, who perhaps is better known to the public as a star football player at Northwestern university, beat the time of the Twentieth Century, covering the distance in 3 hours 10 minutes, compared to 3 hours 24 minutes for the train.

Woodworth is expecting to compete in The Tribune marathon on Decoration day.

Entries will be received for the marathon and the 14 speed races for runabouts and outboards at Navy pier on May 21 until May 28. Entries postmarked May 27 are acceptable if received in The Tribune office the day following.

Complete Race Plans.

At a meeting yesterday of the chairmen of committees and others interested in the power boat races, practically all plans were completed. The committee heads will meet, probably for a last time, next Thursday afternoon. Mrs. H. H. Raab of Milwaukee, chairman of the Milwaukee committee, reported that arrangements were completed for the start of the marathon.

Julius Petriak of Cary, Ill., was among the score of entries received yesterday. Petriak, who holds two world's records established in the national races last fall at Middletown, Conn., will enter his Century Cyclone in several of the speed events at Navy pier May 31.

The general committee yesterday voted to establish a free for all race for inboard motors. No restrictions will be made on horse power or size of the boat. The other events remain the same.

If you wish to enter the marathon on the inboard and outboard races at Navy pier mail the entry blank printed daily in The Tribune to the Motor Boat Editor. An official entry blank will be returned to you immediately.

KIECKHEFER WINS BLOCK IN MATCH AGAINST HOPPE

Augie Kieckhefer gained his first victory over Willie Hoppe in four games when he triumphed at the Kieckhefer Recreation last night, 51 to 50, in 47 innings. Hoppe won the third block yesterday afternoon, 50 to 45, in 60 innings. In the 600 point match Hoppe now leads by 200 to 177 in 218 innings.

Kieckhefer's victory also broke a losing streak against Hoppe which had extended to eleven games.

TRAMBLIE BEATS GUIDO COSTE IN 10 ROUND FIGHT

Ray Tramblie, Rockford, Ill., middleweight, last night won an easy decision victory over Guido Coste, New York, in the 10 round final bout at the Cicero stadium. Tramblie was credited with seven of the 10 rounds. He weighed 170 pounds to 165 for Coste. Other results:

Kid Irish beat Eddy Burl [6].
Jack Davis beat Al Ries [4].
Harry Lindsey beat Carl Schmalik [4].
Bobby Allen beat Patsy Flanagan [4].

"Give Porto Rican Products a Chance. Porto Rico, a part of the United States, with a population of 1,600,000 American citizens, produces much that is valuable and useful. Our sugar, our fruit, both canned and fresh, our coffee, our vegetables, our hand embroidery, our needlework, and our tobacco, are all in my opinion of exceptional quality, and, of course, as Porto Rico is part of United States, all Porto Rican goods come into the United States duty free. I wish our fellow Americans on the continent would give us a chance to prove the quality of these articles by trying them and seeing if they do not agree with me."

*Duty Free! That's why El Toro is the greatest 5 cent value!

An imported cigar—at a domestic price! If they came from neighboring Havana El Toros would have to pay heavy duty. But because Porto Rico is a United States possession you pay only for its wonderful tobacco!

El Toros are mild, mellow and fine-flavored. They give you the lip-comfort of a 25¢ Havana. They have a smoothness that soothes you into satisfaction. You don't have to cultivate a taste for them—from the first puff you know they're good.

El Toros are made with long filler from the best tobaccos that Porto Rico grows. And because they are 100% machine made they are 100% sanitary. Switch to El Toro.

TILDEN ENTERS SEMI-FINAL; BEATS LINDBLOM, 5 TO 2

Tilden Tech High school defeated Lindblom yesterday, 5 to 2, in a City league baseball game at Normal park. The victory, Tech's fourth in a row, clinched a place as semi-finalist in the central section for Tilden. Tilden now leads the section with four games won and one lost while Englewood and Lindblom trail, tied for second with three wins and one defeat.

Heavyweight Champ's What Country Needs

since the stag days when Jack London's heroine had to disguise herself in cap and trousers to attend a fight. The rights to William's profile would be worth money on a cigaret poster and his general dimensions in a swimming suit ad would set susceptible females to drawing hearts and arrows on the billboard.

Travel, wealth and experience have given him what might be called an air and he no longer distorts his features in that mail order scowl which he used to assume on entering the ring, probably for the mere reason that he was immature and all-of-a-jumble with excitement. Moreover, he flies his own ship, and people are not yet so air-minded that they can yawn that practice off as something like driving one's own car.

My last impression of Max Schmeling shows him bunting a large, blubbery employé into a comic squat in the ring in Chicago a couple of weeks ago in an exhibition bout produced as an added attraction at the Stadium when the French amateurs were soaking up ideas on American pugilism.

Hurray; A Knockout!

This employé's middle was large and soft, undulating gently as he shuffled around the ring and along toward the end of the performance Max shoved his left arm in there almost to the elbow. It was like reaching into a great pan of risen dough. The employé coughed and Max extracted his glove to deal him a pat on the cheek, whereupon the employé fell down unconscious and the customers emitted cries of jovial unbelief.

My last impression before that was no more inspiring. That was the time Max set out to break Jack Sharkey's knuckles and his spirit with his chin, and caught a full nine innings in less than three rounds. In the end his manager, Joe Jacobs, won the bout and what there is of the heavyweight championship for him by storming along the ropes screaming at the officials and the press row, with occasional cries back to his man in the corner, "Don't come out; don't get off that stool; you've been fouled and they're trying to kid us out of it."

Max Must Be O. K.

However, Max is a pleasant person, too, and the fact that the New York prize fight commission does not like him is fairly good proof that the fellow is all right.

I shouldn't have a choice. Schmeling has shown but little, and that little two years ago. I have seen Stribling in many bouts, but never saw him fight more than half as well as every one thought he ought to. But there is no law against guessing games, and, always an optimist, I still expect to see Stribling fight his best in Cleveland. In that case he will win such portion of the title as may happen to be at stake.

Miller Primes Left for Bout with Delmont

Ray Miller returned to Chicago yesterday determined to make good finally in his home town.

Miller will meet Danny Delmont, another feared lightweight puncher reared in the same neighborhood that gave Ray to the boxing game. Their fight will be one of the two featured bouts on the Chicago Stadium's show next Monday night. Bucky Lawless and Gorilla Jones, eastern middleweight contenders, meet in the other half of the double windup.

Beat Shea Here.

Miller has made only one exceptional fight here. That was against Eddie Shea some time ago, when Shea was at his best. They walked out of their corners at the Coliseum and staged the greatest first round ever seen in the old south side arena. Miller finally upset Shea for a nine count in that round and went on to win.

In Delmont Miller meets a man who can punch every bit as hard as himself, but who does it with a right hand straight from the shoulder. Miller has never been very potent with his right, but the left has never failed to bring quick victory when it lands.

Spars with Big Boys.

Miller's sparring partners at the Arcade are all big fellows. He took a short drill yesterday, boxing three rounds with Jimmy Lunli, a 147 pounder. Lunli is a rugged welterweight, who can take the hard left hooks Ray sponsors. Today, however, he will tackle two middleweights.

The Delmont-Miller fight is attracting more attention than the other featured number between Lawless and Jones and the Charley Retzlaff-Tiny D'ebolt and Hymie Wiseman-Midget Mike O'Dowd fights. Both Lawless and Jones are due here today, Lawless coming from his home in Auburn, N.Y., and Jones arriving from Akron, O.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

PERSPECTIVE.

When Age has led me gently by the hand
And placed me in a low swung rocking chair,
O, let me view a broad expanse of land
And watch the seasons stage their pageants there.

Then when resurgent Spring brings smiling skies,
And crystal rain awakes the sleeping earth,
I'll nod, sometimes, to wind-blown lullabies
While feathered choristers proclaim new birth.

And oft, as Nature's miracles unfold,
It shall be mine to think upon the bliss
Of dreaming on a hillside steeped in gold;
Of waking with a start to Love's first kiss.

Our Cubs.

Returning from a turf environment The Wake is disappointed to find our Cubs reposing in fourth position, which in racing is "outside the money." What has pained us most, however, is that in several recent games our favorites have been outfinished when by reputation they are supposed to pack the "punch." We'll give this subject our immediate attention.

"Wrong" Position.

For the enlightenment of those following Jock Hutchison's "Golf Strokes—Right and Wrong," we are forced to confess that we posed for those on the right hand side of the illustrations, assuming our customary stance.

How Did We Fare?

Helper B. G. inquires how did we fare at Louisville. Assuming that he means personal finance and not specifically our expense account, which is somewhat clouded, we may answer, "Very well, thank you." In the first place, we are a "piker." Secondly, we don't consider it wasted opportunity if we do not risk our customary two spot wager on every race. For the Derby we picked 'em Twenty Grand, Mate, Spanish Play, Equipoise. Twenty Grand won, Equipoise was withdrawn, and Mate and Spanish Play each finished one notch back of our rating. Any one losing under those circumstances should be confined. We are still at large.

doubled and came home with the Cubs' sixth run on Smith's single.

Cuyler led off the fifth with the Cubs' fifth double and scored on Hartnett's third successive hit, a single to center. Gabby got his fourth hit to start the seventh, but was so elated that he forgot all about the technique of base running and dashed to second on Bell's fly to Berger and was an easy double play victim. Grimm followed with a single, but was forced by Smith.

Braves Score in 9th.

The Braves made their third run in the seventh on a single by Maguire, a double by Maranville and Dreesen's fly, and wound up their day's activities with two runs made in the ninth on singles by Neun, Maguire, Maranville, and Berger.

Hack Wilson did not play today. It was said he was still bother by a finger injured in yesterday's game.

UTILITY ISSUES FIRM IN CHICAGO STOCK TRADING

But Cities Service Sinks to a New Low.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With the assistance of better market support the utility stocks were able to give a better account of themselves on the Chicago exchange yesterday. With one or two exceptions price positions were maintained and some improvement was recorded in a few cases.

The general steadiness of prices among the utilities brought the further fractional recession of Cities Service into sharp relief. The issue sank to another new low price of 12½.

After the close of the market, the company reported that April earnings, both gross and net, showed a decline from a like month a year ago. The gross earnings amounted to $3,436,088, compared with $5,497,022, and the net to common stock and reserves amounted to $1,617,460, against $3,986,962.

Vote Regular Dividends.

Directors ordered the regular monthy dividends of 2½ cents per share in cash and ½ of one per cent in stock on the common stock, 50 cents per share on the preferred stock and preference BB stock, and five cents per share on the preference B stock.

Insull Utility was off a fraction at the close, too, but the other Insull shares showed a steady tone. Middle West added a fraction on a turnover far less than its previous day's trade.

The trend in United States Gypsum took a turn for the better. According to La Salle street estimates the company will earn around $1.50 during the first six months of the year. In the first six months of 1930 the company earned $2.24 a share when prices for products were higher.

Grigsby Grunow stock was also taken at slightly higher prices. The company announces that refrigeration production has been stepped up to 1,000 sets daily, as compared with 750 formerly. Further expansion in production by the first of June was predicted by officials.

Perfect Circle Improves.

Perfect Circle stock brought a price of 28, up 1¾, on an odd lot transaction, apparently on the strength of the report that the company earned $210,530, or $1.29 a share, in the first four months of the year. In the corresponding period last year the firm earned $253,239, or $1.55 a share. April profits of the company were placed at 52 cents a share.

Directors of Mapes Consolidated Manufacturing company yesterday declared the usual extra dividend of 25 cents a share on the capital stock, in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 75 cents. The issue, which was not traded in yesterday, is currently quoted around 40.

List Bond Issue.

Governors of the exchange yesterday listed $1,000,000 6½ per cent bonds, series C, of the Metropolitan District Finance company. The bonds were offered several months ago by Halsey, Stuart & Co. In its listing application the company reported total assets of $4,906,293, giving effect to the issuance of the bonds listed.

U. S. Hoffman Machinery corporation has acquired the Vorclone corporation of Milwaukee. The operations of the Milwaukee firm will be transferred to the Hoffman plant in Syracuse, N. Y.

Price 95 and interest, yielding over 4.26%

In the opinion of counsel, these Bonds will be legal for investment by savings banks in New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

The Company owns and operates properties serving electric light and power to more than 103,000 customers in 420 communities in eastern Pennsylvania, in the midst of one of the greatest power using districts in the United States. Gas is supplied to over 13,000 customers in 5 communities. The estimated population served is in excess of 410,000. Gross earnings, including other income, for the 12 months ended March 31, 1931 were $12,170,136, and Net Earnings before Interest, Depreciation, Dividends, etc. were $7,096,878, as compared with annual interest requirements of $1,882,525 on the Company's total funded debt, including this issue. Over 94% of gross operating revenue for the period was derived solely from electric operations. The properties of Metropolitan Edison Company are an important part of The Metropolitan Edison Corporation group serving the Eastern Pennsylvania-Northwestern New Jersey territory of the Associated Gas & Electric System.

The above information is summarized briefly from a circular fully descriptive of the issue which may be had upon request.

LOWER RATES ON DEMAND AND TIME DEPOSITS

Chicago Interest at All-Time Low.

BY O. A. MATHER.

With the Chicago banks choked with money for which there is little demand, the lowest rates ever imposed on commercial deposits were voted yesterday by the governing committee of the Chicago Clearing House association. Hereafter the banks will allow interest of only ¼ of 1 per cent on demand deposits and 1 per cent on time deposits.

It should be emphasized, however, that no reduction has been made in the 3 per cent interest rate on savings deposits. But many of the banks are carefully scrutinizing such accounts and are accepting only bona fide savings funds. Large depositors seeking to take advantage of the higher rate by transferring commercial deposits to savings accounts are getting refusals.

Follow Easy Money Trend.

The present reduction in interest rates on commercial deposits is the second cut in recent weeks. Both reductions have been ½ of 1 per cent. They have followed the spread of easy money rates throughout the country, consequent to the piling up of funds and lack of demand for credit. The action of the Chicago banks yesterday followed similar reductions made by the New York banks on Monday.

The banks of St. Paul, Minn., also fell in line yesterday by announcing that interest rates on savings accounts and certificates of deposit will be reduced by from 4 to 3 per cent on July 1. Several of the larger banks already have established the lower rate, while many Minneapolis banks reduced their rates from 3½ to 3 per cent on April 1. Many banks throughout Minnesota also have made reductions, according to J. N. Peyton, state banking commissioner.

Following the lead of eight other federal reserve banks in reducing their rediscount rates in recent weeks, the Kansas City reserve institution yesterday lowered its rate from 3½ to 3 per cent.

STEEL OUTPUT LAGS

Little encouragement for the immediate future of the steel industry is held out in the midweek trade reviews. They recite some further decline in production and a slackening in new business, particularly from the automobile industry. The Iron Age estimated steel output at 45 per cent of capacity, compared with 47 per cent a week ago, while Steel placed current operations at 44 per cent, compared with [illegible] per cent last week.

"The iron and steel market is drifting," the Iron Age says. "Construction activity is the only steel outlet promising early expansion. Automobile production is being maintained at a rate that makes a May total of 370,000 cars virtually a certainty. However, a slackening of steel releases and uncertainty regarding the plans of a leading motor car manufacturer make the outlook for next month dubious. But it is still believed that June output may reach 325,000 units.

Prices Remain Weak.

"The tone of prices is still weak, though the diminishing size of orders is tending to relieve the pressure for concessions. Scrap prices show signs of approaching bottom. Apathy rules in the pig iron and coke markets."

Little change in the country's industrial operations is indicated in figures on electric power production. Although output last week showed a slight increase over the preceding week, the percentage of decline from the corresponding week last year rose to [illegible] per cent, compared with 2.4 per cent shown by the previous week. This was the poorest comparison in several weeks.

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SURPLUS IN APRIL $1,510,877

Chesapeake and Ohio reported for April surplus of $1,510,877 after charges and taxes, as against $2,011,[illegible] in April, 1930. For the first four months of this year surplus amounted to $[illegible], compared with $8,982,[illegible] for the like period a year ago. Net for the four month period is equal, after preferred dividends, to [illegible] a share, par $25, on 7,651,681 shares of common, against $1.17 a common share a year ago on the same basis.

New York, Chicago and St. Louis reported for April surplus after charges of $334,985, compared with $[illegible] in April of last year. Net operating income was $478,618 against $[illegible], gross $3,345,465, against $[illegible].

Claim Extra Fares Divert Business from Chicago

BY SCRUTATOR.

Prior to 1881 the fastest trains between Chicago and New York made their runs in about thirty hours. In the autumn of that year the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads inaugurated extra fare trains with a schedule of 26 hours and 45 minutes.

Extra fare charges are based on speed, the theory being that the passenger who wants to travel on a faster train should pay accordingly. These charges have varied in the past. In 1897 a board of arbitration set up 28 hours as the standard running time for trains between Chicago and New York. A charge of one dollar for every hour or fraction thereof less than 28 hours was imposed as extra fare. In 1920 that was raised to $1.20.

Extend Service.

Since the initial experiment on trains between these two cities the railroads have inaugurated similar services between other commercial centers. In 1909 extra fare trains were put on between St. Louis and New York. Although St. Louis is 144 miles further from New York, the same arbitrary standard of 28 hours was adopted.

There has arisen this situation. The passenger on a limited train between St. Louis and New York is carried faster and farther than a passenger on a similar train from Chicago to New York and he pays less money in extra fare.

Back in September, 1929, the interstate commerce commission, on its own motion, began an investigation of extra fare charges. Testimony of interested parties has been heard and the case is awaiting a decision.

Traffic experts representing Chicago have presented some interesting figures. They have shown that there are five limited trains between St. Louis and New York making an average speed of 45.75 miles per hour on which the extra fare amounts to $6.

Fifteen fast trains between Chicago and New York avgrage 45.41 miles per hour. Passengers are assessed $9.60 extra fare.

On 27 trains operating between St. Louis and Chicago the average speed is 39.24 miles per hour and the average extra fare is $2.70. There are 65 trains between Chicago and New York with an average speed of 38.27 miles per hour. The average extra fare is $5.41.

These figures include the Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central system, and the Pennsylvania.

It has also been pointed out that the New York Central system has two trains, the Southwestern and the Knickerbocker, running from St. Louis to Boston, averaging 47.94 and 47.02 miles per hour, respectively, on which no extra fares are assessed, whereas the same line's Twentieth Century from Chicago to Boston averages 45.53 miles per hour and charges an extra fare of $9.60.

Charges Discrimination.

To support their contention that these rates are discriminatory the Chicago Association of Commerce has submitted figures indicating that an increasing proportion of through passenger traffic between the southwest and the Atlantic seaboard is passing through the St. Louis gateway at the expense of Chicago's volume of passenger traffic.

B. M. Bukey, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fé, has testified that buyers from western cities, particularly in Kansas, who formerly traveled through Chicago are now going by way of St. Louis because of the lower extra fare charges.

EASTMAN ADVOCATES NEW FEDERAL BUREAU FOR TRANSPORTATION

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Joseph B. Eastman, member of the interstate commerce commission, declared in a speech before high railroad officials today he believed "it would be quite possible to evolve a plan of complete government responsibility for the transportation service which would retain most of the merits of private initiative."

His qualified indorsement of government control of railroads was delivered at a luncheon of the Traffic club, attended by 500 persons, many of them railroad officials.

Mr. Eastman advocated the creation of a new federal bureau for the purpose of studying transportation defects and proposing remedies. He particularly criticized the present rate structure, which, he said, is based not on particularized costs but on what the traffic will bear.

"Government in business is not an idea which I view with alarm," he said, "if the business is of such a nature that it cannot be carried on by private enterprise without the protection to all concerned which is afforded by an elaborate system of public regulation.

"I have an abiding convicion that the sound and sensible way to carry on such a business is for the government to assume complete responsibility for it, and that such a plan would be preferable to the present system of divided responsibility and dual control.

"It is my thought that if the same amount of ingenuity were devoted to the subject as has been devoted, for example, to the creation of intricate and largely vicious mazes of holding companies and interlaced subsidiaries, it would be quite possible to evolve a plan of complete government responsibility for the transportation service which would retain most of the merits of private initiative."

PEORIA TO GET BARGE FREIGHT ABOUT JUNE 15

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., May 20.—A. T. Griffith, Peoria harbormaster for twenty years, has been appointed traffic representative of the Inland Waterway corporation, according to W. J. Powers, St. Louis, who will be general agent for Peoria's new $4,000,000 river and rail terminal which will open within a few days.

The first 2,000 ton barges of freight will arrive here shortly after June 15, Mr. Powers stated today. Freight is now being received at New Orleans for delivery through the Peoria gateway. Freight will be received at St. Louis after June 11 for delivery here.

Officials of the corporation are hopeful that President Hoover and Secretary of War Hurley will accept invitations to attend the opening and dedication of the terminal now planned for the third week of June. It is known that the President plans to attend ceremonies at Lincoln's tomb at Springfield June 17, and his presence here will be in accord with plans for that date.

Public Service Electric to Issue New Preferred

Drexel & Co. and Bonbright & Co. are offering a new issue of 300,000 shares of Public Service Electric and Gas company $5 cumulative preferred stock, no par value, at $103.50 a share. Proceeds from the stock will provide a portion of the funds required for the retirement of the entire $36,508,000 par value 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, 1925 series, now outstanding which is being called for redemption on June 30, 1931, at $110 per share, the remainder of such series to be otherwise presently retired.

Seaboard Public Service Acquires Gas Properties

Seaboard Public Service company, a subsidiary of National Electric Power company, has acquired gas properties of the Carolina Gas and Electric company which consist of five manufactured gas plants serving Greenville, Washington, New Bern, Goldsboro, Kinston, and Fayetteville, N. C.

SINCLAIR THINKS OIL PRICES ARE NEAR BOTTOM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 20.—Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, confirmed reports today that negotiations had been reopened looking toward a merger of Prairie Oil and Gas, Prairie Pipe Line, Tide Water Associated Oil and possibly Rio Grande Oil with Sinclair.

He said, however, conversations had not passed the preliminary stage and he declined to predict the possible outcome.

Mr. Sinclair, in answer to a question regarding safety of the preferred dividend, told stockholders the company would continue to pay it.

Mr. Sinclair expressed the opinion that oil prices had about reached bottom and that gasoline consumption had increased slightly this year. The industry is not making money, he added. Regarding proration, he said:

"We have had proration for the last two years, and while the production has been prorated the price has also been prorated, so that I do not think we have accomplished very much by that system."

HUDSON MOTOR COMPANY PAYS 25C DIVIDEND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., May 20.—Hudson Motor Car company, following the annual stockholders' meeting and election of officers and directors, today declared a dividend of 25 cents per share, payable July 1 to stockholders of record at the close of business June 11. All officers were reëlected.

In his annual report to the stockholders, William J. McAneeny, president and general manager, referred to the recent introduction of selective free wheeling, now offered as optional equipment on both Hudson and Essex. He said this had met with immediate public acceptance.

"The economies of production, management, and distribution effected during 1930 are already beginning to show results in savings to the company," he said.

Great Western May Get St. Paul Terminal Railway

Announcement is expected shortly of the purchase or leasing by the Chicago Great Western railroad of the St. Paul Bridge and Terminal railway, which is owned by Swift & Co. and the Stock Yards Company of South St. Paul, also of the absorption of the Mason City and Fort Dodge railroad, all of the capital stock of which already is owned by the Great Western.

The St. Paul Bridge and Terminal railway is a switching line between the St. Paul Union stockyards and the railroads at St. Paul and South St. Paul, and operates 47.58 miles of track. Great Western operates the Mason City and Fort Dodge under lease.

Report Copper Sales at 8¾c; Lowest on Record

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Sales of copper at 8¾ cents a pound, the lowest price on record, were reported today. The price represents a concession of one-quarter of a cent from the previous quotation. In the spring of 1929 the metal sold as high as 24 cents. The reduction reflected a slackening in demand after the spurt that followed the cut in the export quotation early in the week. Export sales this morning totaled 1,000,000 pounds, contrasting with the 3,500,000 pounds taken in the foreign market on Tuesday.

RUSSIA CLASHES WITH U. S. OVER WHEAT CONTROL

Favors Quota Plan; McKelvie Objects.

LONDON, May 20.—(AP)—The Russian delegation to the world wheat conference today indicated that the soviet union would favor the "quota plan" of Poland and the Danube countries as a solution of the world wheat problem, rather than the proposal of Samuel R. McKelvie, of the American contingent, for restriction of acreage.

Exposition of the Russian position created a minor impasse in the conference which developed into an issue on which the meeting finds itself unable to agree. The Americans have repeatedly voiced opposition to any quota plan or international export restrictions, on the ground it would be against sound marketing policies. It is contended that regardless of its operations the quota plan means restriction of exports with a consequent reduction of acreage or flooding of the domestic market.

McKelvie is understood to have said that the Russian plan proposed to give their workers bread at a cheaper price than would be paid by workers in importing countries. The American view is that had other countries taken reduction measures 18 months ago, there would be no need for the London conference, inasmuch as the United States was out of the export market for four months and on reëntering it stated what amount of wheat would be exportable.

Reasons for Disapproval.

Among the reasons for Russia's disapproval of the restriction program was believed to be the country's annual increase of population, estimated at 3,500,000. It was understood the soviet delegation declined to enter any restrictions scheme calculated to endanger the population's foodstuffs. In addition to Russia's approval of the "quota plan," there was an indication she might expect some one to finance her grain held off the market, at present estimated at approximately 190,800,000 bushels.

Meanwhile the official Russian statement was withheld.

During the discussions the Russians mentioned the 1909-1914 average exports as a basis for any future plan to fix export quotas. This is expected to bring considerable opposition from Argentina, Canada, and Australia.

Opinion of Observers.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—(AP)—Statistical observers both in and out of government service were of the opinion tonight that no country represented at the international wheat conference could be reconciled to Russia's proposal that the 1909-1914 five year average export be used as a basis for distributing new world export quotas.

The effect of it would be to authorize Russia to increase her exports over those of a year ago by sixteen times, it was said, cut Canada's exports in half and lop 35,000,000 bushels off United States exports, 66,000,000 off Argentina's, and 13,000,000 off Australia's.

Postal Telegraph Shows Big Slump in Earnings

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 20.—The annual report of the Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation for 1930 shows that following approval by stockholders on March 20 of the increase in authorized capital stock to 600,000 shares of noncumulative preferred stock of $100 par value and 2,000,000 no par common shares, the directors authorized the issuance of 610,590 common shares at $40 a share, all of which was paid for in cash by the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation.

Proceeds were used to liquidate advances made in 1928 by International, for betterments and additions to plant.

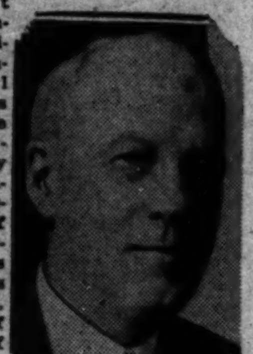
At the close of 1930, the directors approved a change to paid-in surplus of $2,442,592, representing the balance at that date of extraordinary expenditures included as a result of the intensive development and expansion program inaugurated in 1928. Consolidated gross earnings, as reported, were $37,923,357 for the year, a decline of 5.8 per cent from 1929, and consolidated net income was $96,769, against $2,972,671 in 1929.

Indict Cotton Belt Road; Charge Illegal Rebates

Memphis, Tenn., May 20.—(AP)—The St. Louis Southwestern railroad, known as the "Cotton Belt" railroad, was indicted by a federal grand jury here today on twenty counts charging illegal rebates to shippers through the subsidiary Southwestern Transportation company, the line's motor bus division. Ten counts charge illegal rebates to Memphis shippers totaling $2,600. Other counts allege unauthorized allowances and failure to observe published rates.

Barnes Submits Proposals to Help Restore Business

Washington, D. C., May 20.—(AP)—An eleven point program for the improvement of government, business and international relations and trade was submitted today to the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.



J. H. BARNES.

Briefly, his program suggested the following:

Legislation to lift restrictions which prevent insurance companies from proposing in private contracts security against unemployment.

Framers of tax laws should seek advice and take recommendations from those skilled on the subject, particularly the capital gains provision.

An end to senatorial disparagement of men nominated to government posts by the President.

On Joining World Court.

Congress should "follow the recommendation of President Hoover, organize business and other organizations in respect to joining the world court."

Restudy of railroad regulation to permit the carriers to meet competition of new transportation means.

Reconsideration of the anti-trust laws.

Resurvey of the banking laws.

Treatment of tariff as an economic and not a political issue.

Respect for recommendations for responsible administrative officials as to economy in public expenditure.

Disposal of Muscle Shoals.

Keep the government out of business in connection with private industry.

Barnes said he had every confidence "that the brains which built America are still alive and that they will find the answer to the situation."

Would Segregate Savings.

A demand that state legislatures and congress enact legislation to segregate savings from commercial bank deposits was made before the association by its president, Thomas F. Wallace of Minneapolis.

Noting that 6,000 commercial banks had failed in the last decade, compared with only two savings banks, Wallace said the invasion of the savings bank field by commercial banks and trust companies was "never justifiable from a sound economic standpoint, unless accompanied by legislation which would give to savings deposits in all such institutions the same protection that depositors in mutual savings banks now have."

Wallace opened the three day session of the eleventh annual conference with the statement that "this has been a period of deflation and depression for nearly every line of business with the exception of the bank business." He said the savings deposits had not been equaled since the post world war period.

New York, May 20.—Nothing happened to pry the average trader loose from his bankroll again today and the stock market spent still another weary session, bouncing around on its new and old bottoms. Two or three groups in which the liquidation has been long and heavy tried hard to start a rally, but they were unable to turn the trick. There was evidently still too much stock waiting in the old strong boxes for just such a spurt.

Some of the rails managed to vary the monotony of their past performances with net gains of a point or

PRICE OF WHEAT GAINS ON REPORT OF COOL WEATHER

Winnipeg Grain Stronger at Close than Here.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A slight change in the general character of the reports regarding the condition of winter wheat in parts of western Kansas and Nebraska, with frost in some sections of the two states and temperatures well below freezing over part of the spring wheat area, brought in sufficient buying of futures here and at Winnipeg yesterday to bring about a substantial rally after an early dip.

There was not sufficient outside buying to carry local wheat prices through the offers, however, and selling against the latter checked the bulge, with the finish of net gains of ⅜@⅝c. July closed at 60⅜ to 60⅝c; September, 60⅝@60⅝c and December, 64⅜c. Old May was ⅛c lower at 82¼c, while new May was ½c higher at 86c, the latter selling at the best figure since Jan. 15.

Southwestern Crop Damage.

According to private reports from southwestern Kansas and from parts of western Nebraska recent dry weather, with high winds, has resulted in some deterioration in the outlook for the new winter wheat crop. Confirmation of some loss in the prospective yield was obtained in the government weekly weather report which said heat and drying winds were detrimental in the western portions of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. In other sections of the belt, however, the crop was said to have made good to excellent progress.

Numerous reports of damage to spring wheat by high winds recently were received from both sides of the international line, and official reports from the three provinces indicated that recent rainfall was insufficient.

Winnipeg wheat showed more strength than Chicago, with futures there closing 1c higher, with July at 61⅝c, while Liverpool was unchanged at ⅝d higher, with July, 65⅝c. The Chicago-Winnipeg spread was about the widest of the season, and in a little over a month the latter has gone from a discount of 1⅝c under to a premium of 1c over the Chicago market.

May Corn Acts Tight.

Reports of a better shipping demand for cash corn, with sales of 102,000 bu and continued light country offerings, resulted in the May future acting a little tight, with the close at the top at 57⅝c, or ⅛c above Tuesday's finish. Deferred deliveries acted heavy and finished unchanged to ⅛c lower, with July, 57¼@57⅝c; September, 56¼@56⅜c, and December, 49⅜@49½c. Cold weather over the belt led to apprehension that replanting would be necessary in some sections of the belt, but in Illinois this work was said to be well along, and a bearish construction was placed on the government weekly weather report.

Oats market was firm, with cash interests taking the May and also selling September and buying December. An easier tone in corn was largely ignored, and the finish was at net gains of ⅛@⅜c, with May, 27⅜@27½c; July, 27⅜@27½c; September, 27¼@27⅜c, and December, 29⅜c.

Fears that the rye crop in the northwest would be damaged by the frost of Tuesday night and forecast for more led to buying of rye and the close was ⅝c higher, with July and September closing at 39c. R. O. Cromwell's report to Lamson Bros. from Mitchell, S. D. said rye was mostly near or in the boot.

Crop Reports Spotted; Planting Progressing

"Winter wheat condition was very good to excellent throughout the Ohio valley, with the crop heading in many sections and jointing in northern portions," says the government weekly weather crop report. "In the southwestern part of the main producing area heat and drying winds were detrimental, particularly in the western portions of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. In southeastern Kansas and throughout Oklahoma the crop is generally headed out. In the Pacific northwest high temperatures and drying winds further depleted the soil moisture with some local burning and wheat rapidly deteriorating and spotted in the dryer areas. The condition of the crop in general remains good despite unfavorable conditions.

"In the spring wheat belt rains are still urgently needed, especially in western part, where it is too dry for germination.

"Corn planting has made excellent progress and is about completed in many localities. There are some complaints of early seeded corn showing irregular germination because of recent coolness and complaints of cut worms and necessity of considerable replanting."

Orange Crop Is Larger; Say Prices Will Be Lower

E. G. Dezell, general manager of the California fruit growers exchange, announces that California orange growers will ship some 17,000,000 boxes of Valencia oranges this summer compared with 10,000,000 for the same period last year. He said orange prices will be considerably lower than last year due to the large crop.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

An unexpected change in the character of the winter wheat reports from northern Kansas and Nebraska, where freezing weather was reported, and a less favorable outlook in southern Kansas and parts of Oklahoma coming at a time when the trade had set its mind on conditions throughout the west being perfect, has given traders a jolt, and there is more disposition toward caution in following the short side and a greater inclination to buy wheat futures on all weak spots.

It was noticeable that on the advance in July to 60c and above offerings from holders increased and the short interest was reduced. Under existing conditions traders are using more caution in making commitment on both sides of the market.

First sale of a new crop wheat to arrive in Chicago in September were made yesterday. A Chicago cash wheat handler bought 50,000 bu No. 2 hard and No. 2 red, at a price said to be slightly under September.

Evidence of selling of corn by local holders against purchases of wheat was a factor in both grains for a time. There is a feeling, however, that corn is selling relatively too high as compared with other grains and feedstuff values and the disposition of most traders is toward conservative selling of futures on all bulges.

TOO DRY IN CANADA

"The weather seems to have cleared all over western Canada," says W. E. Reid in a message from Winnipeg. "Southeastern and northern Manitoba and southern and northern Alberta are the only places that had enough moisture to do any good. The big central wheat growing area of central Saskatchewan and central Alberta did not have more than enough rain to lay the dust."

BAPTISTS BUY PROPERTY FOR SOCIAL CENTER

Purchase South Chicago Building.

BY AL CHASE.

The Baptist executive council of Chicago yesterday purchased the two story brick store and flat building at the northwest corner of Mackinaw avenue and East 85th street, lot 50x124, from Ambrose Benko for a stated $32,250. The property is to be remodeled and will be used by the South Chicago Neighborhood house, now at 8504 Buffalo avenue.

Fischman & Son, operators of a chain of fruit and vegetable stores and food marts on the north side, have leased space from the North Town Markets in the mart to be operated at 810 Church street, Evanston. The building is now being remodeled and will open June 15 with eight food departments. The Fischman lease is for five years at $7,200 annually for three years and $7,500 yearly for the balance of the term. Jess S. Raban and Hoffman & Jaffee were attorneys.

The A. Nash Co., Inc., of Cincinnati, O., men's clothing, has leased the store at 9 South Dearborn street for ten years at a reported term rental of $140,000. Thomas Nash of the Real Estate corporation, W. A. Ryan of Robert A. Cline, Inc., and Ward Farnsworth were brokers.

Buys Nine Story Flats.

George Silverman purchased the nine story Gordon Terrace apartments, at the southeast corner of Clarendon avenue and Gordon terrace, lot 92x110, from the Gordon Terrace Building corporation yesterday for an undisclosed consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $485,000. Mr. Silverman then sold the property to Adolph Silver. The building contains more than a hundred furnished suites. Rosenberg, Corlett & Toomin were attorneys.

Walter T. Quigley, attorney, purchased the twelve room residence at 1022 Sheridan road from Sumner T. McCall, vice president of the American Manganese Steel company, giving in part payment the house at 6444 North Talman avenue. A. M. Landaker of John F. Hahn, Inc., was broker.

Will Appeal to Supreme Court.

Judge Martin M. Gridley's decision on Tuesday which declared that the $200,000,000 or more contracts for subdivision property were valid will be contested, it was announced yesterday by Attorney Joel C. Carlson, representing the Weissbrodt interests in the now famous case of Weissbrodt vs. H. W. Elmore & Co. Mr. Carlson stated that he will appeal to the Supreme court.

The Weissbrodt vs. Elmore suit has been one of the most significant of its kind ever in the local courts. An adverse decision would have meant that $200,000,000 or more contracts for subdivision property were invalid and the realty firms would have had to refund payments made. The Gridley decision therefore was received with much enthusiasm by both bankers and realty men. The Elmore attorneys, Harry W. Lippincott of Deneen, Healy & Lee, and Charles F. Hough of Beckman, Olson, Hough & Woods, state that they have no fear of anything but a favorable decision by the Supreme court.

Report Continued Activity.

In keeping with trends established earlier in the year, 1931 continues to be one of the best brokerage years experienced by his firm, according to Frank J. O'Brien, vice president of McKey & Poague. During the first half of May, sales exceeded the same period in 1925, a top notch year, by 10 per cent. Among several deals closed recently were the following: The ten room residence at 1437 Sherwin avenue was sold by N. W. Blum to A. S. Park. F. W. McGuire was broker. The six flats at 6540 Woodlawn avenue were bought by Francis X. Carrier from John De Schaaf through Mrs. M. L. Ray.

Another transaction reported by this firm was the purchase by Dr. C. Salzberg of the sixty room furnished apartment at the northeast corner of 44th and Ellis, from Lois M. Smith. Dr. Salzberg gave in trade the vacant property at Bryn Mawr and Virginia. Ben Ettenson was broker.

SHARP COTTON RECOVERY

The action of the cotton market yesterday was the reverse of the last few days and had the appearance of being oversold. Higher Liverpool cables, combined with wet weather over a large part of the belt, brought a covering movement and a good rally. Pressure of offerings was not such as to have material effect and closing prices were around the best of the day, with futures in Chicago up 13@20 points and other markets 16@22 points up. Spots in New York gained 20 points and were 9.20c, with New Orleans up 25 points to 9.15c, Galveston 9.20c and Houston 9.05c.

The revised estimate by the department of agriculture gives ginnings from the 1930 crop as 13,931,000 bales of 500 lbs against 14,821,499 bales in 1929. There were 45,078,000 acres in cultivation July 1, 1930, and 45,091,000 acres picked in 1930, or 147.7 lbs of lint cotton per acre. Prices follow:

MR. CARLTON Gets Cash for his car

MR. C. A. CARLTON, 6307 Woodlawn Avenue, wanted cash in a hurry. He decided to sell his automobile. Here's the rest of the story in Mr. Carlton's own words:

"I had a Chrysler, model 77, 1930 sport coupe. I saw the selling of this car as the only means by which I could raise the amount needed, and it was of particular importance that I obtain the highest price possible. I placed a want ad in the Tribune for three days. It brought seven prospects, and I sold the car to one of them for $975."

Want to sell your automobile? More than likely you, too, can get a good price and sell quickly by advertising in the Tribune Want Ad Section. Call SUPerior 0100, and ask for an Adtaker!

so on the day, and a few specialties came in for plus signs on short covering, but this was about as much as the bull crowd could reckon to their account when the shades of evening fell in the gloomy old skyscraper cañon.

American Can registered still another sub-bottom, hitting 95⅝ this time, and closed showing a net loss of 2⅝ points on the day. U. S. Steel got within a fraction of its previous low of 97, but recovered about a point from its day's minimum on last hour covering. The rest of the "blue chip" leaders fared indifferently. General Electric, General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, and several others of like rating were off from a fraction to 2 points, while New York Central, Montgomery Ward, Radio Corporation, and some others of equal importance balanced the column by emerging on the upside.

The further heavy selling in American Can was accompanied by reports of a considerable shrinkage in the gross and net earnings of corporations in this industry, particularly Continental Can, during the first few months of the year. One estimate of 21 cents a share for the first quarter on Continental appeared in print. Doubtless the can companies will suffer along with about every other industry from the depression, but there are those who expect them to make a better showing, what with the canning season yet ahead, than some others.

Farm implement shares came in for another drubbing, Case Threshing Machine being conspicuous for its weakness in this group most of the time. The street is still counting on a dividend reduction at the meeting of the company's board tomorrow.

Coca Cola Slips.

Coca Cola was "dopey" and slid off nearly 9 points to a new low for the year. The directors recently voted an extra dividend and the weather is growing warmer, but the stock is one of those high priced issues which are viewed with skepticism in these days of general deflation. Another hot weather stock to melt a bit was American Ice, which lost nearly 3 points to a 15 per cent yield basis.

There were figures to remind the street that motor buying is beginning to weaken, suggesting that the peak of the selling season for automobiles has passed and the shares of most corporations of this group worked lower. General Motors closed at 38¼, off 1¼ points as against its February high of 48, and Chrysler, Nash, and Studebaker followed the leader into lower territory.

Unusual weakness in American Telephone and Telegraph, developing after the announcement of the declaration of the regular dividend, proved a disturbing influence on the market as a whole. Prior to the dividend news Telephone had been ruling at levels about 3 points above the previous closing price.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Cotton goods were quiet today, with prices holding steady on print cloths. Finished goods were selling moderately. Acetate cellulose has been sold freely of late for future delivery. Silk continued generally quiet in the raw material and merchandising divisions. Moderate purchases were reported on flannels and sports coatings for spot shipment and some additional duplicates were reported on suitings. Burlaps were unchanged to easier.

IF YOU HAVE IT, THAT '26 DOLLAR IS WORTH $1.36

Washington, D. C., May 20.—(AP)—The 1926 wholesale dollar was worth $1.364 last month. The labor department found today that the dollar's value during the year increased more in rubber purchasing power than any of the other 550 commodities covered by the calculations. The April, 1931, coin could have bought rubber that would have cost $7.519 in April, 1926.

Last month's dollar also was worth $2.264 in petroleum products, $2.212 in silk and rayon and $2.188 in automobile tires.

The department said the index number of the April, 1931, dollar based on 1926 as 100, was 73.3, or 1.2 less than March of this year. Among food price decreases last month were butter, cheese, fresh and cured meats, lard, rye flour and corn meal. The only incerases were in grains, other foods and automobiles.

SHEEP—Fed western lambs	$8.00@ 9.50
One month ago	8.50@ 9.90
One year ago	9.00@10.00

Top yesterday, *$8.85; average, $8.10.
Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 5,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 8,000.
*Shorn lambs; no wool lambs here.

Cattle and lambs ruled weak to lower yesterday, while the hog market forged ahead slowly to a mostly 10c higher price basis, but finished almost in a deadlock when packing interests refused to follow at the full strength. The extreme top and general average prices moved up 10c at $7.10 and $6.65, highest since last week's close.

Continued light supplies encouraged salesmen to hold more hogs off the market for later in the week in hopes of broader eastern outlet Thursday and Friday. About 5,000 were still in the pens at the close. Receipts at leading markets so far this week are running about 10 per cent smaller than a week ago and 20 per cent smaller than a year ago. The five western markets report 46,000 in sight for today, against 55,300 last Thursday.

Hog Futures Slow.

Trading in hog futures was slow yesterday, with bids and offers far apart in most months. June light were offered at $8.00, but $7.00 was the highest bid at the close. July contracts carried bids of $7.00, while lightweights for next September were offered at $8.00. Mediums for September were offered as low as $7.50 for the last half and at $8.00 for the first half, with bids of $7.40 on contracts for the first half. On the "to arrive" market lightweights for today's delivery were bid $7.00 and offered at $7.25.

After a firm start when some cattle brought the highest prices since early last week, the trade came almost to a standstill, and occasional bids were weak to lower at the finish. A fair showing went over unsold. Prime 1,200@1,363 lb steers reached the $9.00 line, the highest price paid for cattle since Tuesday of last week.

Best Lambs Steady.

Only best grades of shorn lambs were steady yesterday, others ruling steady to 25c lower, with springers sharing in the full loss. Lambs without fleece sold at $8.50@8.85, city butchers and shippers paying the top price, while plain quality wool lambs were sold at $8.75.

Strong weight native spring lambs sold at $10.50@11.00, while four carloads from California sold at $10.00@10.50, the culls going at $8.00. Sheep receipts at Chicago were smaller, while some other points reported increases. Supplies are among the smallest of the year lately, but still show an increase compared with a year ago.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE

Money in Chicago 5@6 per cent on collateral, 5@3½ per cent over the counter; commercial paper, 2¼@3 per cent. Chicago clearings yesterday were $85,000,000, compared with $75,300,000 a week ago and $115,700,000 a year ago.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Call money steady, 1½ per cent all day. Time loans steady; 60 days, 1@1¼; 3-4 months, 1⅛@2; 5-6 months, 1½@1¾ per cent. Prime commercial paper, 2@2¼ per cent. Bankers' acceptances unchanged. Bar silver, 27⅛c.

Western Dairy Products.

Would be pleased to hear from you as to Western Dairy Products company class B stock.—R. P. M.

Western Dairy Products company distributes dairy products in Washington and Oregon. It owns the entire common stock of Western Dairy Products, Inc., which operates in Los Angeles, San Diego, and vicinity.

Net income in 1930 totaled $1,124,388, which was 1.57 times dividend requirements on the $4 no par class A shares and equal to $1 per share on the outstanding class B shares. For 1929 net income was $1,401,036, which was 2.10 times class A dividend requirements and equal to $2.01 per class B share.

In 1928 net sales, including predecessor companies, were $20,790,071, and in 1927, $17,444,130. Net income was $766,900 and $708,918, respectively.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $2,618,238 and current liabilities were $1,115,637. Cash was $577,612, against $997,507 the year before. Working capital was $1,502,601, against $1,592,941 on Dec. 31, 1929.

Net income for the first quarter of 1931, before subsidiary dividends, was $205,432, which just covered class A dividends, against $65,112 for the first quarter of 1930.

No dividend has been declared on the class A stock since the $1 distribution paid March 2, 1931.

It appears that this omission was due to the desire to conserve cash resources. Earnings showed a 215 per cent increase in the first quarter of 1931 over the first quarter of 1930. Interest charges in the first quarter of 1931 were $2,595 more than interest charges in the first quarter of 1930, despite the fact that $219,000 of funded debt had been retired. This would indicate an increase in bank loans. Elimination of the dividend on the class A stock retains about $525,000 cash annually.

The class A is speculative and the class B more so.

Union Stock Yards Co. of Omaha.

I would appreciate very much your opinion on Union Stock Yards Company of Omaha (Ltd.) bonds.—Mrs. R. M.

Union Stock Yards Company of Omaha (Ltd.) net earnings for 1930, after all charges, including interest, were $1,011,464, against $939,583 for 1929. The $700,000 issue of first 4½ per cent bonds, due 1946, are secured by a first mortgage on substantially all fixed property of the company. They are sound.

BURNS BROS. BOARD VOTES DIVIDEND OF $1.75 ON PREFERRED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 20.—The board of Burns Brothers announced a dividend today of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock, representing the payment which should have been made last April. The regular quarterly of $1.75 a share was also declared on the senior issue. The first is payable June 15 to owners of record May 29, and the second July 1 to holders of record June 15.

The quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share, due at this time on the common stock of the Pet Milk company, was omitted, but the board voted the usual quarterly of $1.75 a share on the preferred.

An extra dividend of 30 cents and the regular quarterly of the same amount were declared on the stock of Lake Shore Mines, Ltd.

Two quarterly dividends of 75 cents each were voted on the common stock of Dominion Bridge company, Ltd., compared with the previous rate of 90 cents quarterly.

Directors of the Port Alfred Pulp and Paper corporation, a subsidiary of Canada Power and Paper company, voted to omit the dividend on the preferred stock. John Morrel & Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis, against $4.40 a year previously.

Directors of American Telephone and Telegraph company declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share, payable July 15 to stockholders of record June 20.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: The Man Pays
FACTS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW
1. A STRANGE MAN HAD BEEN TRYING TO SEE AD LIBB FOR SOME TIME
2. AD HAD SENSED TROUBLE, AND SO—
3. WINNIE SUCCESSFULLY KEPT THE TWO FROM MEETING EACH OTHER UNTIL—
4. DICK DARLING FINALLY TRAPPED AD INTO MEETING HIM.
5. THE STRANGE MAN WAS A LAWYER—
6. WHO INFORMED AD THAT HE WAS THE HEIR TO $25000. LEFT BY AN UNCLE.
I'LL SEE THAT YOU GET YOUR CHECK TOMORROW, MR. LIBB! BUT IF IT WASN'T FOR THIS MR. DARLING HERE, GOODNESS KNOWS WHEN I WOULD HAVE LOCATED YOU!
OH, IT'S ALL RIGHT, NOW, BUT I HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN THAT HE HAD TO DOUBLE-CROSS ME IN ORDER TO COLLECT THAT $50. REWARD!
BUT MY SATISFACTION IS THAT I'LL COLLECT $25000. WHILE HE'LL COLLECT ONLY $50. ISN'T THAT RIGHT, MR. CORPUS?
WELL—ER—YOU WILL ONLY COLLECT $24,950. NOW, MR. LIBB—
THE $50. REWARD MR. DARLING RECEIVES WILL HAVE TO COME OUT OF YOUR INHERITANCE!

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The nationally advertised Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Loans above $100 and up to $300 are made at a rate approximately one-third less than the rate permitted by the Small Loan Law.
